Government Claims Big Victories In Argentina

Lost Areas Re-Captured, Peronists Say

Rebels Report President Is Asked To Resign

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 17 — UP — The government claimed sweeping victories Saturday over army and navy forces revolting against President Juan D. Peron.

But precautionary blackout were imposed Saturday night on parts of Buenos Aires and nearby Ensenada, the port for the City of Eva Peron. The rebels had blockaded Buenos Aires and reported a fleet was sailing on the city.

(The rebel radio at Puerto Belgrano, still in rebel hands, Saturday night reported that Peron's resignation had been demanded. The broadcast was heard in Montevideo, Uruguay, across the river plate from Buenos Aires.)

Government announcements said forces loyal to Peron had recaptured all but one of the major areas seized by the rebels at the start of the revolt Friday. The latest claimed by the government was Cordoba, Argentina's third largest city and the rebel headquarters. The government said it also had retaken military posts at Arroyo Cle and Curuzu Cuatia in the north and Rio Santiago in the south.

The rebels still controlled the southern port of Bahia Blanca and nearby Puerto Belgrano.

The government's biggest claim was that Cordoba had been "liberated" and "all rebel resistance ceased."

Buenos Aires Blacked Out Under Threat

Loyalist Forces Claim Major Cordoba Victory

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 17 (AP)—Buenos Aires blacked out under threat of a rebel naval bombardment tonight as President Peron's loyalist forces claimed a major victory at Cardoba.

Government forces also said they have a combat group nearing the Bahia Blanca-Puerto Belgrano revolt area.

"With the exception of those focal spots of rebellion," said a government broadcast, "the most absolute tranquility reigns."

But the announcement of these provincial developments was parallelled by an order from Maj. Gen. Franklin Lucero, supreme commander of the loyalists blacking out the Plaza de Mayo area of downtown Buenos Aires.

The blackout order—unexplained—came after repeated warnings from rebel radio stations that the insurgents would bombard Buenos Aires from the air and from the sea in their battle to drive Juan Domingo Peron from the presidential office he has held since 1946. The rebels proclaimed a blockade of Argentina's coast.

Though the government has contended the navy is loyal, Adm. Juan F. Rojas said in a rebel declaration:

"All the fleet heads toward Buenos Aires. Triumph is near for the good of the fatherland and its institutions."

Across the broad River Plate—Rio de la Plata—in Montevideo, Uruguay, an authoritative source said early Saturday night that the rebel warships were preparing to bombard Buenos Aires within a few hours.

Nine small ships and a submarine of Rojas' river fleet waited all day near Montevideo, the informant said, to join forces with the more powerful and heavily gunned Atlantic fleet.

Military Fear Hilda May Hit South Texas

By UNITED PRESS

The Air Force and Navy, afraid that Hurricane Hilda may turn to the northwest and tear through South Texas, started flying planes from three bases near the exposed coast to fields deep in the interior of the state Saturday.

Planes were evacuated from the Navy's Corpus Christi, Tex., base and from Moore and Harlingen Air Force bases in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. The Navy flew 23 PBM - Mariner flying boats from Corpus Christi to Lake Texoma, along the Texas - Oklahoma border.

Hilda, a huge tempest with winds of 100 miles an hour near its center, was expected to hit the Mexican coast a little north of Tampico, Mex., late Sunday, according to an advisory from the New Orleans Weather Bureau at 4 p.m.

The advisory, No. 22 on Hilda, said the center of the hurricane would hit land at that time. Since hurricane force winds that is winds of 75 miles an hour and above — extended out 50 miles from the center and gales extended out 180 miles to the north and east and 90 miles to the southwest, the Mexican coast will begin feeling the first blows of the storm earlier Sunday.

"It is moving west - northwest at 12 miles an hour," Advisory No. 2 said. "It is expected to increase slightly in size and intensity, and continue west - northwest movement at about the same rate.

"Tides will rise along the Texas coast, reaching two to five feet above normal by late Sunday. Small craft along the Texas and Louisiana coast should remain in port Sunday. Ships in the path of this severe hurricane should exercise caution."

Forecaster Ted Lang of the Amon Carter Field Weather Bureau said Hilda is developing as expected, and that if she maintains her present course she will wind up knocking herself out against the mountains of northern Mexico.

He said it would take a turn to the northwest to put South Texas in danger. At the same time, he pointed out, the Air Force is charged with the national defense and has to move its planes if there is the slighest danger of their being damaged by a storm.

If Hilda goes inland where forecasters expect, it will be a sore blow at Tampico and towns in eight other coastal states of Mexico.

They were flooded by deluges set off by tropical storm Gladys. Some of these points, particularly Tampico, have not dried out yet and thousands of refugees are without homes.

Turncoat Collapses At Press Meet

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17 (AP)—An Army turncoat sobbed and collapsed today in front of newsreel cameras at his first general news conference since returning from Red China.

"Can't anybody understand in this country that I love my wife and kids, too." Pfc. Otho G. Bell shouted just before his knees went limp. He had been asked why he changed his mind after staying with the Communists for two years.

All three men were Chinese prisoners from the Korean War. They at first refused repatriation then changed their minds and returned to the United States. The Army charges they helped their Chinese captors. Seventeen other former U.S. soldiers, who refused repatriation, still are in Red China.

The conference had been called by attorneys George T. Davis and Harold C. Brown, representing the three in answering the charges.

Bell, before his collapse, said the Chinese told him he would be shot as a traitor if he returned to his country and also warned him that the Communist party "would reach out to" his wife and child.

He also said the Chinese warned him that if he entered the repatria-

Healthful U. S. Airman, Delirious Italian Bishop Released By Red China

HONG KONG, Sept. 17—UP—Lawrence Robert Buol, an American civilian pilot, joyously held his wife in his arms Saturday and told of five harrowing years that ended with his release from a Red Chinese prison.

Buol, of Stockton, Calif., crossed the border with Italian Roman Catholic Bishop Alfonse Ferroni. Buol, chewing gum and wearing slacks, a sport shirt and faded tennis shoes, looked in good condition. The 63-year-old Ferroni had to be carried across the border. Dressed in a brown cape and with slippers tied to his sockless feet, the emaciated bishop was delirious and was rushed to St. Theresa Hospital.

Ferroni was the second cleric released in the past two days. The Rev. Harold W. Rigney of Chicago, rector of Catholic University in Peiping until his arrest in 1951 as a spy, was released earlier with Walter A. Rickett of

Howler Within 400 Miles Of Vero Beach

MIAMI, Sept. 17 —UP— Hurricane Ione grew into a 125-mile-an-hour giant Saturday night and headed toward the storm battered lower Atlantic Seaboard where military ships and planes already began evacuating seashore bases.

At 3 p.m. CST the Miami Weather Bureau located the rapidly growing howler about 400 miles east of Vero Beach, Fla., a position which also was about 550 miles southeast of Charleston, S. C.

It was moving toward the north west at 12 miles per hour and the weather bureau said this same movement was indicated for the next 12 to 18 hours.

Forecasters said Ione has shown marked intensification during the past 18 hours and they predicted a "further gradual increase in the area covered by the storm."

Meanwhile, Ione's elder sister, Hilda, whirled out over open waters again in the Gulf of Mexico and was expected to reach the coast of Mexico a little north of

41 Years Ahead

Bulganin Offers To Return Naval Base To Finland

MOSCOW, Sept. 17 —UP— Premier N. A. Bulganin, apparently recovered from his cold, Saturday offered to return the Soviet-held naval base at Porkkala to its Finnish owners more than 41 years ahead of time.

A foreign office spokesman said Bulganin told Finnish Premier U. K. Kekkonen Russia "finds it possible...to eliminate the naval base and withdraw its troops from this territory."

The Russians also offered to renew their 1948 friendship treaty with Finland, which i sdue to expire "soon," the spokesman said.

The spokesman told a hastily-assembled news conference that Kekkonen assured Bulganin the Soviet offer "has filled our hearts and those of the Finnish people with joy."

"There could be no better proof of the good-neighborly relations between the Soviet Union and Finland than the fact that the Soviet Union considers it possible to give up its lease on the Porkkala naval base ahead of time," the Finnish premier said.

A 50-year lease on the base at Porkkala, which lies on the Gulf of Finland some 30 miles southwest of the Finnish capital at Helsinki, was one of the terms of the Russo-Finnish peace treaty concluded in February, 1947. The lease has more than 41 years to run.

The spokesman said the exchange occurred at Bulganin's first meeting with a visting Finnish delegation. A cold which confined the Russian premier to his quarters earlier this week had made it impossible for him to confer earlier with the Finns or with a delegation from Soviet Germany.

The spokesman said Bulganin told the Finns that the recent "relaxation of international tension" made it possible to consider evacuation of the base at Porkkala.

Snake Handler Will Give Blood To Bitten Youth

MIAMI, Sept. 17—UP—A veteran snake handler who has been bitten 49 times by deadly reptiles Saturday gave blood to a 17-year-old victim of a poisonous snake bite who was flown to Miami in hope of saving his life.

William Haast, who claims to be immune from cobra venom, gave the blood in serum form to Sonny Leonard, of Star Route, Melbourne. Leonard was bitten by a water moccasin last weekend, and was sent on a mercy airlift here after his condition became critical Friday.

It was the fourth time in the past two years that Haast, operator of the Miami serpentarium — a live snake museum, had given transfusions to snake victims. The three previous transfusions all proved successful.

Mercy hospital, where the boy's sister, Sister Mary Daniels, is in charge of the laboratory, reported the moccasin bite had poisoned the boy's bloodstream.

A hospital spokesman said it would take "quite a few hours" before they would be able to say whether Haast's blood donation aided the teenager.

However, one of the attending physicians expressed doubt that Haast's serum-blood would help because the youth received his bite a week ago.

Haast, who only four weeks ago miraculously fought off the effects of his 49th bite—from a six-foot diamond back rattler—has taken cobra venom to immunize himself against the king reptile.

The 40-year-old Haast says his blood can act as a serum for anyone bitten by a cobra or other snakes whose venom attacks their victim's nerves.

West To Huddle On Unification Of Germany

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—High ranking diplomats of the United States, Britain, France and West Germany are gathering here this weekend to decide what pressures and inducements the West can use in an effort to get Russia to agree to German unification on Western terms.

American officials see no chance of any quick progress in getting Russia to change its position. They are convinced more than ever, on the basis of reports from the Soviet-German talks at Moscow a week ago, that the Russian government is determined to block a unified Germany allied with the West.

The Western Powers, however, are determined to make the strongest possible campaign for German unification at the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Geneva beginning Oct. 27.

Secretary of State Dulles, who returned to his desk today after a two-week vacation, spent several hours in conferences with his chief advisers on plans for the pre-Geneva negotiations and a number of other high policy issues he faces in the immediate future.

The Allied consultations will open Monday in the deepest secrecy which the State Department can arrange. Officials said today that since the strategy of future negotiations with Russia would be involved no information on the talks would be given out.

A few hours after those negotiations get under way, Dulles will fly to New York where, on Tuesday and for several days thereafter, he will attend opening meetings of the United Nations General Assembly. He will speak at one of the early sessions.

Also in New York, during the second week of the Assembly meeting, Dulles will confer with British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillian, French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay and West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano on the coordination of Western policies for the foreign ministers meeting. Further sessions to that end will be held in Paris in late October.

Returning from vacation, Dulles found issues pressing him for decision on all sides, ranging from the Greek-Turkish-British row over Cyprus and the French crisis in Morocco to questions of membership for almost a score of nations not yet admitted to the United Nations.

Red Cross Sets Up Kitchens On Hurricane Fronts

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—UP—The Red Cross prepared shelters and emergency kitchens on two hurricane fronts Saturday night as Hilda crossed the Gulf of Mexico and Ione moved toward the Atlantic Seaboard.

Red Cross headquarters said chapters in southeast Texas from Brownsville north to Victoria, along the Gulf of Mexico, warned that the Texas Coast might have flood tides when Hilda hits the Mexican coast. It said these chapters were ready to help in an evacuation of low-lying areas.

Eleven trained disaster workers from the St. Louis area office were en route to Gulf Coast points.

Meanwhile 60 other disaster workers were sent to areas along the East Coast which are threatened by Hurricane Ione.

Southeastern area Red Cross headquarters in Atlanta sent the 60 disaster workers to nine strategic locations along the East Coast from Jacksonville, Fla., to Elizabeth City, N.C.

Triple Murder

Army Writes Off Gory Ax Slaying Case As Unsolved

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—UP—The Army has written off as an unsolved crime the bloody ax slaying of three Army officers nearly 10 years ago in a villa on the Danube in Passau, Germany, it was learned Saturday.

The gory case has some similarity to the bizarre, cloak-and-dagger murder of Maj. William V. Holohan in Italy during World War II. An Italian court has found former OSS Lt. Aldo Icardi, Pittsburgh, Pa., and former Sgt. Carl Lodolce, Rochester, N.Y., guilty of slaying Holohan after they parachuted behind enemy lines in Italy on a daring underground mission.

But Icardi and Lodolce could not be extradited to Italy to stand trial and, because of legal technicalities, could not be tried in this country. They were convicted in absentia by the Italian court. However, Icardi has been indicted here on charges of perjury stemming from the case and is scheduled for trial Feb. 1.

The Army, in reply to inquiries, said Saturday it has no jurisdiction in the Passau slaying and considers the case closed. The Justice Department said it's out of its hands, also.

Maj. Everett Cofran, Washington, D.C., Capt. Adrian Wessler, New Rochelle, N.Y., and Lt. Stanley Rosewater, Omaha, Neb., were hacked to death as they slept in Cofran's quarters in a villa Jan. 7, 1946. The killer then threw gasoline about the scene and burned the villa.

Charges were once filed against former Capt. James M. Leech, Lima, Ohio, but he was never extradited or tried. The U.S. military government in Germany which would have handled the case no longer is in existence.

French, Morocco Still Unable To Settle Last Issue

PARIS, Sunday, Sept. 18 (AP) — Top-level goverment talks broke up early this morning with French officials and Moroccan nationalists still unable to settle the one issue holding up settlement of the Moroccan crisis—the composition of a regency council.

Further talks were scheduled later today. And hope was expressed that the one more day of discussions would bring agreement. The full French Cabinet also may be called into session.

Other parts of the French plan for semi-independence for the protectorate are ready to roll as soon as all sides agree on the three-man panel which is to take over the throne from the aged Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa, who is unpopular among Moroccans.

The French and the nationalists have selected two members for the council but have not been able to agree on the third, who, in effect, would hold a balance of power on the body

Don't Mistake Russian Smiles, Khrushchev Says

MOSCOW, Sept. 17 —UP— Soviet Communist party Chief Nikita S. Khrushchev warned Saturday night that anyone who thinks the smiles of Russian leaders means the abandonment of Communist policy "is deceiving himself cruelly."

Khrushchev made the remark at a three and one-half hour reception in honor of the visiting East German delegation following the start of talks here Saturday. It was the longest diplomatic reception at the Kremlin in recent years.

Khrushchev declared, "It is said that the Soviet leaders smile. This is a real smile. It is not false.

"We want to live in peace, in tranquility," he added.

"But if anyone thinks that our smiles mean the abandonment of the teachings of Marx, Engels and Lenin he is deceiving himself cruelly," Khrushchev said.

Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin, East German Premier Otto Grotewohl and his deputy, Walter Ulbricht, all spoke at considerable length and in a confident mood.

They all made it clear that Russia does not intend to abandon its East German allies following the talks here with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Search Continues For Two Miners

GEORGETOWN, Colo., Sept. 17 (AP)—Rescue workers, overcoming bad air and seeping water, advanced slowly down an abandoned mine tunnel deep inside a mountain today seeking two Kansans lost since Thursday while prospecting for uranium.

They have little hope of finding the pair—Glean Dew, 33, and Melvin LeBlow, 45—alive because of the lack of oxygen in the mine, which was given up as worthless two decades ago. Dew and LeBlow both live at Ulysses, Kan.

The hunt was spurred when the rescue crew found, 2,400 feet from the mine mouth, a rubber raft which the Kansans took with them to use in crossing a body of water caused by a partial cave-in of the tunnel. There was no other sign of the men at the spot.

The 10 professional mine rescue workers carried an air hose to pump fresh air in front of them. They passed the halfway mark of the 6,000-foot tunnel about noon and maintained an advance of about 200 feet an hour.

Will Rattle The Quiet Of Small Mississippi Town

Trial For Slaying Negro Boy, 14 Opens Monday

SUMNER, Miss., Sept. 17 (AP)—A sensational trial rattles the quiet routine of this little farm town Monday when two white men face charges of murdering a Negro boy who whistled at a white woman.

Despite the state's taut race relations, Sheriff H. C. Strider said he expects no incident. He took off for a weekend trip to Atlanta and the Mississippi-Georgia football game.

There has been no repetition of the rumors of invading Chicago Negroes and threatening telephone calls which brought out the National Guard in Greenwood when the two accused men were in jail there two weeks ago.

The trial begins three weeks and two days after Till's body, a bullet hole in his head and a weight around his neck, was pulled from the muddy Tallahatchie River. The scene was one-fourth of a mile inside Tallahatchie County.

The boy, visiting a tenant farmer uncle reportedly whistled at the wife of a store keeper in Money, a tiny community in neighboring Leflore County and reports said he also made some "ugly remarks."

The climax of the explosive case begins with selection of an all-white jury at 9 a.m. (CST) in the little courtroom of an old, grey brick courthouse. No Negroes will serve on the jury. None was listed on the special 125-man jury panel drawn for the trial. That's customary in Tallahatchie County.

Women do not serve on Mississippi juries.

The state will try to convince the jury "beyond all reasonable doubt and to a moral certainty" that Roy Bryant, 24, and his half brother, 35-year-old J. W. Milam, killed the lad.

The accused men admitted taking Till from his uncle's home, officers said, but said they released him unharmed when Mrs. Bryant said he was not the boy who whistled at her.

The men pleaded innocent to the murder indictment. They also face a kidnaping indictment in Tallahatchie County and a kidnaping charge in adjoining Leflore County where Till was abducted.

District Attorney Gerald Chatham has refused to say whether

Military Fear Hilda May Hit South Texas

By UNITED PRESS

The Air Force and Navy, afraid that Hurricane Hilda may turn to the northwest and tear through South Texas, started flying planes from three bases near the exposed coast to fields deep in the interior of the state Saturday.

Planes were evacuated from the Navy's Corpus Christi, Tex., base and from Moore and Harlingen Air Force bases in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. The Navy flew 23 PBM - Mariner flying boats from Corpus Christi to Lake Texoma, along the Texas - Oklahoma border.

Hilda, a huge tempest with winds of 100 miles an hour near its center, was expected to hit the Mexican coast a little north of Tampico, Mex., late Sunday, according to an advisory from the New Orleans Weather Bureau at 4 p.m.

The advisory, No. 22 on Hilda, said the center of the hurricane would hit land at that time. Since hurricane force winds that is winds of 75 miles an hour and above — extended out 50 miles from the center and gales extended out 180 miles to the north and east and 90 miles to the southwest, the Mexican coast will begin feeling the first blows of the storm earlier Sunday.

"It is moving west - northwest at 12 miles an hour," Advisory No. 2 said. "It is expected to increase slightly in size and intensity, and continue west - northwest movement at about the same rate.

"Tides will rise along the Texas coast, reaching two to five feet above normal by late Sunday. Small craft along the Texas and Louisiana coast should remain in port Sunday. Ships in the path of this severe hurricane should exercise caution."

Forecaster Ted Lang of the Amon Carter Field Weather Bureau said Hilda is developing as expected, and that if she maintains her present course she will wind up knocking herself out against the mountains of northern Mexico.

He said it would take a turn to the northwest to put South Texas in danger. At the same time, he pointed out, the Air Force is charged with the national defense and has to move its planes if there is the slighest danger of their being damaged by a storm.

If Hilda goes inland where forecasters expect, it will be a sore blow at Tampico and towns in eight other coastal states of Mexico.

They were flooded by deluges set off by tropical storm Gladys. Some of these points, particularly Tampico, have not dried out yet and thousands of refugees are without homes.

Red Cross Sets Up Kitchens On Hurricane Fronts

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—UP—The Red Cross prepared shelters and emergency kitchens on two hurricane fronts Saturday night as Hilda crossed the Gulf of Mexico and Ione moved toward the Atlantic Seaboard.

Red Cross headquarters said chapters in southeast Texas from Brownsville north to Victoria, along the Gulf of Mexico, warned that the Texas Coast might have flood tides when Hilda hits the Mexican coast. It said these chapters were ready to help in an evacuation of low-lying areas.

Eleven trained disaster workers from the St. Louis area office were en route to Gulf Coast points.

Meanwhile 60 other disaster workers were sent to areas along the East Coast which are threatened by Hurricane Ione.

Southeastern area Red Cross headquarters in Atlanta sent the 60 disaster workers to nine strategic locations along the East Coast from Jacksonville, Fla., to Elizabeth City, N.C.

Turncoat Collapses At Press Meet

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17 (AP)—An Army turncoat sobbed and collapsed today in front of newsreel cameras at his first general news conference since returning from Red China.

"Can't anybody understand in this country that I love my wife and kids, too," Pfc. Otho G. Bell shouted just before his knees went limp. He had been asked why he changed his mind after staying with the Communists for two years.

All three men were Chinese prisoners from the Korean War. They at first refused repatriation then changed their minds and returned to the United States. The Army charges they helped their Chinese captors. Seventeen other former U.S. soldiers, who refused repatriation, still are in Red China.

The conference had been called by attorneys George T. Davis and Harold C. Brown, representing the three in answering the charges.

Bell, before his collapse, said the Chinese told him he would be shot as a traitor if he returned to his country and also warned him that the Communist party "would reach out to" his wife and child.

He also said the Chinese warned him that if he entered the repatria-

Triple Murder

Army Writes Off Gory Ax Slaying Case As Unsolved

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—UP—The Army has written off as an unsolved crime the bloody ax slaying of three Army officers nearly 10 years ago in a villa on the Danube in Passau, Germany, it was learned Saturday.

The gory case has some similarity to the bizarre, cloak-and-dagger murder of Maj. William V. Holohan in Italy during World War II. An Italian court has found former OSS Lt. Aldo Icardi, Pittsburgh, Pa., and former Sgt. Carl Lodolce, Rochester, N.Y., guilty of slaying Holohan after they parachuted behind enemy lines in Italy on a daring underground mission.

But Icardi and Lodolce could not be extradited to Italy to stand trial and, because of legal technicalities, could not be tried in this country. They were convicted in absentia by the Italian court. However, Icardi has been indicted here on charges of perjury stemming from the case and is scheduled for trial Feb. 1.

The Army, in reply to inquiries, said Saturday it has no jurisdiction in the Passau slaying and considers the case closed. The Justice Department said it's out of its hands, also.

Maj. Everett Cofran, Washington, D.C.; Capt. Adrian Wessler, New Rochelle, N.Y., and Lt. Stanley Rosewater, Omaha, Neb., were hacked to death as they slept in Cofran's quarters in a villa Jan. 7, 1946. The killer then threw gasoline about the scene and burned the villa.

Charges were once filed against former Capt. James M. Leech, Lima, Ohio, but he was never extradited or tried. The U.S. military government in Germany which would have handled the case no longer is in existence.

HONG KONG, Sept. 17—UP—Lawrence Robert Buol, an American civilian pilot, joyously held his wife in his arms Saturday and told of five harrowing years that ended with his release from a Red Chinese prison.

Buol, of Stockton, Calif., crossed the border with Italian Roman Catholic Bishop Alfonse Ferroni. Buol, chewing gum and wearing slacks, a sport shirt and faded tennis shoes, looked in good condition. The 63-year-old Ferroni had to be carried across the border. Dressed in a brown cape and with slippers tied to his sockless feet, the emaciated bishop was delirious and was rushed to St. Theresa Hospital.

Ferroni was the second cleric released in the past two days. The Rev. Harold W. Rigney of Chicago, rector of Catholic University in Peiping until his arrest in 1951 as a spy, was released earlier with Walter A. Rickett of

French, Morocco Still Unable To Settle Last Issue

PARIS, Sunday, Sept. 18 (AP) — Top-level goverment talks broke up early this morning with French officials and Moroccan nationalists still unable to settle the one issue holding up settlement of the Moroccan crisis—the composition of a regency council.

Further talks were scheduled later today. And hope was expressed that the one more day of discussions would bring agreement. The full French Cabinet also may be called into session.

Other parts of the French plan for semi-independence for the protectorate are ready to roll as soon as all sides agree on the three-man panel which is to take over the throne from the aged Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa, who is unpopular among Moroccans.

The French and the nationalists have selected two members for the council but have not been able to agree on the third, who, in effect, would hold a balance of power on the body.

Don't Mistake Russian Smiles, Khrushchev Says

MOSCOW, Sept. 17 —UP— Soviet Communist party Chief Nikita S. Khrushchev warned Saturday night that anyone who thinks the smiles of Russian leaders means the abandonment of Communist policy "is deceiving himself cruelly."

Khrushchev made the remark at a three and one-half hour reception in honor of the visiting East German delegation following the start of talks here Saturday. It was the longest diplomatic reception at the Kremlin in recent years.

Khrushchev declared, "it is said that the Soviet leaders smile. This is a real smile. It is not false.

"We want to live in peace, in tranquility," he added.

"But if anyone thinks that our smiles mean the abandonment of the teachings of Marx, Engels and Lenin he is deceiving himself cruelly," Khrushchev said.

Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin, East German Premier Otto Grotewohl and his deputy, Walter Ulbricht, all spoke at considerable length and in a confident mood.

They all made it clear that Russia does not intend to abandon its East German allies following the talks here with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Search Continues For Two Miners

GEORGETOWN, Colo., Sept. 17 (AP)—Rescue workers, overcoming bad air and seeping water, advanced slowly down an abandoned mine tunnel deep inside a mountain today seeking two Kansans lost since Thursday while prospecting for uranium.

They have little hope of finding the pair—Glenn Dew, 33, and Melvin LeBlow, 45—alive because of the lack of oxygen in the mine, which was given up as worthless two decades ago. Dew and LeBlow both live at Ulysses, Kan.

The hunt was spurred when the rescue crew found, 2,400 feet from the mine mouth, a rubber raft which the Kansans took with them to use in crossing a body of water caused by a partial cave-in of the tunnel. There was no other sign of the men at the spot.

The 10 professional mine rescue workers carried an air hose to pump fresh air in front of them. They passed the halfway mark of the 6,000-foot tunnel about noon and maintained an advance of about 200 feet an hour.

Howler Within 400 Miles Of Vero Beach

MIAMI, Sept. 17 —UP— Hurricane Ione grew into a 125-mile-an-hour giant Saturday night and headed toward the storm battered lower Atlantic Seaboard where military ships and planes already began evacuating seashore bases.

At 3 p.m. CST the Miami Weather Bureau located the rapidly growing howler about 400 miles east of Vero Beach, Fla., a position which also was about 550 miles southeast of Charleston, S. C.

It was moving toward the north west at 12 miles per hour and the weather bureau said this same movement was indicated for the next 12 to 18 hours.

Forecasters said Ione has shown marked intensification during the past 18 hours and they predicted a "further gradual increase in the area covered by the storm."

Meanwhile, Ione's elder sister, Hilda, whirled out over open waters again in the Gulf of Mexico and was expected to reach the coast of Mexico a little north of

41 Years Ahead

Bulganin Offers To Return Naval Base To Finland

MOSCOW, Sept. 17 —UP— Premier N. A. Bulganin, apparently recovered from his cold, Saturday offered to return the Soviet-held naval base at Porkkala to its Finnish owners more than 41 years ahead of time.

A foreign office spokesman said Bulganin told Finnish Premier U. K. Kekkonen Russia "finds it possible...to eliminate the naval base and withdraw its troops from this territory."

The Russians also offered to renew their 1948 friendship treaty with Finland, which i sdue to expire "soon," the spokesman said.

The spokesman told a hastily-assembled news conference that Kekkonen assured Bulganin the Soviet offer "has filled our hearts and those of the Finnish people with joy."

"There could be no better proof of the good-neighborly relations between the Soviet Union and Finland than the fact that the Soviet Union considers it possible to give up its lease on the Porkkala naval base ahead of time," the Finnish premier said.

A 50-year lease on the base at Porkkala, which lies on the Gulf of Finland some 30 miles southwest of the Finnish capital at Helsinki, was one of the terms of the Russo-Finnish peace treaty concluded in February, 1947. The lease has more than 41 years to run.

The spokesman said the exchange occurred at Bulganin's first meeting with a visting Finnish delegation. A cold which confined the Russian premier to his quarters earlier this week had made it impossible for him to confer earlier with the Finns or with a delegation from Soviet Germany.

The spokesman said Bulganin told the Finns that the recent "relaxation of international tension" made it possible to consider evacuation of the base at Porkkala.

Will Rattle The Quiet Of Small Mississippi Town

Trial For Slaying Negro Boy, 14 Opens Monday

SUMNER, Miss.,, Sept. 17 (AP)—A sensational trial rattles the quiet routine of this little farm town Monday when two white men face charges of murdering a Negro boy who whistled at a white woman.

Despite the state's taut race relations, Sheriff H. C. Strider said he expects no incident. He took off for a weekend trip to Atlanta and the Mississippi-Georgia football game.

There has been no repetition of the rumors of invading Chicago Negroes and threatening telephone calls which brought out the National Guard in Greenwood when the two accused men were in jail there two weeks ago.

The trial begins three weeks and two days after Till's body, a bullet hole in his head and a weight around his neck, was pulled from the muddy Tallahatchie River. The scene was one-fourth of a mile inside Tallahatchie County.

The boy, visiting a tenant farmer uncle reportedly whistled at the wife of a store keeper in Money, a tiny community in neighboring Leflore County and reports said he also made some "ugly remarks."

The climax of the explosive case begins with selection of an all-white jury at 9 a.m. (CST) in the little courtroom of an old, grey brick courthouse. No Negroes will serve on the jury. None was listed on the special 125-man jury panel drawn for the trial. That's customary in Tallahatchie County.

Women do not serve on Mississippi juries.

The state will try to convince the jury "beyond all reasonable doubt and to a moral certainty" that Roy Bryant, 24, and his half brother, 35-year-old J. W. Milam, killed the lad.

The accused men admitted taking Till from his uncle's home, officers said, but said they released him unharmed when Mrs. Bryant said he was not the boy who whistled at her.

The men pleaded innocent to the murder indictment. They also face a kidnaping indictment in Tallahatchie County and a kidnaping charge in adjoining Leflore County where Till was abducted.

District Attorney Gerald Chatham has refused to say whether

Tides, he predicted, will be "extremely" high and he said that heavy rain squalls may be expected in South Texas Sunday. Hagan said local flooding is likely along the Rio Grande next week as far upriver as Del Rio.

This was an old story in South Texas and the Rio Grande Valley. Tropical storm Gladys put 17 inches of rain on Corpus Christi and caused floods in both Falfurrias and Raymondville, Tex.

An indication that Hilda is considered more dangerous than Gladys was the fact that the Air Force and Navy didn't evacuate any planes before Gladys hit land.

Col. George T. Pryor, commander of Moore Air Force Base, ordered 140 to 150 small planes under his command to fly to Laughlin Air Force Base at Del Rio.

"Our problem is to get our planes out early before the bad weather starts," he said. "We could be entirely wrong, but it seems like a necessary precaucaution. The action is based on both the regular weather report and on reports from the Air Force weather service."

Col. James F. Olive Jr., commander of Harlingen AFB, said 51 planes from his field were order t to Sheppard AFB at Wichita Falls, Tex. About 300 airmen took the planes out of the two Air Force bases.

Healthful Airman

Rigney said Saturday he had confessed to the Chinese, but was not actually a spy. He also said he believes China does not want war.

Buol's pretty wife, Sue, was waiting for him at Sheungshui police station when he drove up in a police van. She ran down the five steps and into his arms.

He was speechless with emotion. "Gee, he looks just wonderful," she cried.

Buol in a statement thanked "each and everyone, large and small, who contributed to our amelioration of conditions and all those responsible for my release."

Buol, a pilot for Gen. Claire Chennault's Civil Air Transport and a wartime Flying Tiger under Chennault, said he was arrested on Jan. 16, 1950, at Mentzge in the interior. After two and a half months in house arrest he was jailed in Kunming, where the Flying Tigers had their headquarters during the war.

He said he begged his captors to tell him the charges against him, but got no reply. Two of his five years in prison were spent in solitary confinement in a 10-foot by 10-foot cell. He said he was constantly interrogated and "re-educated," although no physical force was used.

After a session of intense questioning, mostly about the CAT, last Sept. 10, he was finally brought to trial on the 11th and told the charges: "Intruding into China aboard an aircraft to conduct military espionage." Buol, his voice quivering, said he had to confess, as the only way to win his release.

Buol said he lost about 30 pounds during captivity on a diet of rice and vegetables but gained back 10 pounds last month with an improved diet.

Told that Rickett had praised his Communist captors and wanted to return to China as a guest, Buol said he was flabbergasted.

"I cannot believe it," he said. "How can any person in his right mind want to go back there?"

The bearded churchman now weighed only 70 pounds after losing 80 pounds in five years of captivity.

Father Manion, an Irish Franciscan who rode with Ferroni to the hospital, said he muttered, "You can't change my ideas," and spoke about lights and loudspeakers, apparently a referrence to Communist "re-education" techniques.

As other priests pieced together his story, Ferroni was arrested in February, 1951, and spent three years in solitary confinement. For three months he was handcuffed.

Manion said the bishop was a victim of brainwashing but "still is of sound mind though his wits are scattered."

He added emphatically: "Rest assured you'll not get the drivel from him you got from Rickett."

Father Rigney, who was arrested in July, 1951, was refreshed by an overnight rest at the Divine Word mission and a telephone call with his mother, Addie, in Chicago, when he told a news conference that he finally confessed to charges of "spying" to get it over with.

"But," said the 55-year-old priest, "I am not a spy."

Tampico late Sunday. Small craft along the Texas and Louisiana coast were warned to stay in port because of Hilda which also showed signs of growing in size and intensity.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau said in a 4 p.m. CST advisory that tides will rise along the Texas coast, reaching two to five feet above normal by late Sunday. Squalls from Hilda are expected as far north as Port O'Conner, Tex., Sunday, the forecasters reported.

Ione's highest winds had intensified from 115 miles an hour less than two hours earlier to 125 by 3 p.m. CST. The Miami Weather Bureau predicted an even greater intensification as the tempest hurtled up the Atlantic.

The weather bureau warned coastal interests from Jacksonville, Fla., to Cape Hatteras, N. C., to "remain on the alert for later advices."

"Continued northwest movement at about 12 miles per hour is indicated for the next 12 to 18 hours with a further gradual increase in the area covered by the storm," the weather advisory said. "Seas are becoming rough and tides will continue to gradually increase as compared to the normal tide."

Weathermen said if Ione doesn't change her course and veer northward, the mainland should feel the first of her fury by late Sunday night or Monday morning.

Air Force and Navy installations from Brunswick, Ga., to Elizabeth City, N. C., evacuated their planes and made ready to send ships to sea. The American Red Cross ordered 60 trained disaster workers into the Georgia-Carolina area.

Small boat owners hunted sheltered harbors or moved their vessels out of the water to higher ground.

Hilda was on the prowl in the Gulf of Mexico again after blasting across eastern Cuba and Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula earlier this week. This hurricane was expected to strike the coast of Mexico south of the Texas border Sunday night.

In the meantime, tides rolling in one to two feet above normal and winds up to 30 miles an hour convinced Georgia and Carolina residents that hurricane Ione was on the way.

The weather bureau warned jittery residents of the storm battered Carolina coasts to keep on the alert for frequent information on the hurricane, although the big blow was still two days away.

Gentry said a high pressure ridge north of the storm was keeping the hurricane on her mainland course but there is "some indication now that this ridge may start moving eastward Sunday."

"If this happens the hurricane could change its course more to the north and possibly miss the East Coast," Gentry said. "It is moving slowly now and still about 50 hours away from the nearest land in its path. A lot could happen in that time."

goateed Ulbricht, who is head of the Communist party in East Germany, and giving him a bear hug.

Before the reception began, East German Communist party secretary General Otto Nuschke set the theme for the talks by declaring, with Soviet backing, that West Germany would have to negotiate with East German if it wants the country reunited.

Khrushchev stole the show at the reception. He seemed to show by his whole manner and voice that he spoke as the most powerful man in the Soviet Union and the whole Communist world.

A government broadcast at 6:15 p.m. said there was "absolute tranquility" throughout the rest of the country.

Neither side issued casualty figures. But informed sources estimated at least 300 men were killed and 1,000 wounded in the first 24 hours of the uprising.

The ~~government~~ communique said "the position of the insurgents is weakened by the desertion of many men" to the loyal forces in the vicinity of Cordoba.

Cordoba is in central Argentina 400 miles northwest of Buenos Aires. It is Argentina's third largest city with a population of 352,000.

There were no official figures, but informed sources estimated 300 persons were killed and 1,000 wounded in the first 24 hours of the revolt.

Three small warships appeared off the waterfront shortly before noon, and a short time later naval sources in Montevideo said they had been notified by rebel Rear. Adm. Isaac Rojas that the Argentine capital and other ports in Buenos Aires province were being blockaded.

The blockade delayed the sailing of three merchant vessels—including the U.S. freighter Seafore—which had been preparing to leave Montevideo for Buenos Aires across the Plate Estuary.

Gen. Franklin Lucero's "repression command" announced, however, that rebel resistance in the provinces had been reduced to two key points, the big southern grain port of Bahia Blanca and the inland provincial capital of Cordoba, where the insurgents have set up a military junta government.

A communique issued by Lucero's headquarters said strong government columns are closing in on both the rebel-held cities.

The government also said that two rebel strongholds had surrendered. They were the naval base of Rio Santiago, 45 miles south of the Capitol, and the small army base of Curuzu Cuatia, more than 500 miles to the northeast.

Heavy fighting was known to be in progress around La Calera, a cement factory town about 12 miles east of Cordoba, and government sources said loyal troops were advancing on the city from the north and the west.

Government forces also were reported advancing on Bahia Blanca from Buenos Aires and Mar del Plata. Rebel planes from the Puerto Belgrano naval base, adjoining the rebel-held port, were trying to hold back the advance.

Bombers from Puerto Belgrano blasted a bridge and Mar del Plata converge 130 miles east of Bahia Blanca, and about an hour later attacked a government convoy in the same town, killing one man and wounding eight.

Government sources said the loyal 5th Infantry regiment, which failed Friday to prevent the rebel capture of Bahia Blanca, was battling the insurgent sailors who held the town. The rebel radio reported earlier that the 5th had deserted to the rebel side.

There were no other reports of notable air activity early Saturday, although some excitement was caused here when a British-made Avro-Lincoln bomber dropped a bomb in the Plate Estuary off the Buenos Aires waterfront at 11 a. m.

An official announcement later that the plane was a government bomber crippled by engine trouble, which jettisoned the bomb to avoid the danger of an explosion during an emergency landing, appeared to be confirmed by the fact that anti-aircraft guns in the port area did not fire on it.

Cordoba, itself, was quiet, with patrols of air cadets and armed civilian volunteers maintaining order while the main rebel forces deployed outside the city.

Brig. Gen. Dalmiro Videla Balaguer, rebel commander and chief of military junta, called on the people of the city in repeated broadcasts to keep calm, assuring them that "revolutionary troops control the entire country."

Civilian residents of the city replied enthusiastically to a rebel call for volunteers, swarming into Independence square to join up.

From Cordoba, United Press Correspondent Julio Banzas reported that the fight for the key city started at 4 a. m. Throughout the morning, firing could be heard from the direction of La Calera, where both infantry and artillery schools are located.

The battle started in a river gorge about 18 miles southwest of the city, he said.

Buenos Aires' waterfront, artillery batteries watched and waited. And on the Plaza de Mayo, on which Government House fronts, antiaircraft gun crews stood vigil beside weapons mounted soon after the rebellion flamed Friday. Police shooed out all civilians and clamped a tight cordon around the plaza, scene of the bloodiest bombardment of the June 16 naval-air revolt against Peron.

In a mass escape shortly after nightfall yesterday, seven teenagers fled from Louisiana Training Institute here. An area-wide alarm was broadcast over the police radio network for the youths, six of whom were reported to be 16 years of age, while the seventh was listed as 15 years old.

Late last night police throughout northeast Louisiana were still searching for the escapees.

Wing-Tip Shoes Become Hot News In Fashion Field

Time was when men wore wing-tip oxfords for business or semi-dress wear. They were a staple in every well-dressed man's shoe wardrobe.

Today, the wing-tip has suddenly become hot fashion news. Following the Continental trend, it has taken on the new silhouette, with swept-back lines which accentuate the longer, slimmer look which is the base of the new shoe fashions.

No longer just a town fashion, the wing-tip has given a new smartness to all types of shoes, including loafers, one and two-eyelet ties and the conventional five or six-eyelet oxfords.

Even in sports shoes, the wing-tip is contesting the field with the plain vamp shoes which have held the field for te last few seasons.

This was an old story in South Texas and the Rio Grande Valley. Tropical storm Gladys put 17 inches of rain on Corpus Christi and caused floods in both Falfurrias and Raymondville, Tex.

An indication that Hilda is considered more dangerous than Gladys was the fact that the Air Force and Navy didn't evacuate any planes before Gladys hit land.

Col. George T. Pryor, commander of Moore Air Force Base, ordered 140 to 150 small planes under his command to fly to Laughlin Air Force Base at Del Rio.

"Our problem is to get our planes out early before the bad weather starts," he said. "We could be entirely wrong, but it seems like a necessary precaucaution. The action is based on both the regular weather report and on reports from the Air Force weather service."

Col. James F. Olive Jr., commander of Harlingen AFB, said 51 planes from his field were ordered to Sheppard AFB at Wichita Falls, Tex. About 300 airmen took the planes out of the two Air Force bases.

Rigney said Saturday he had confessed to the Chinese, but was not actually a spy. He also said he believes China does not want war.

Buol's pretty wife, Sue, was waiting for him at Sheungshui police station when he drove up in a police van. She ran down the five steps and into his arms.

He was speechless with emotion. "Gee, he looks just wonderful," she cried.

Buol in a statement thanked "each and everyone, large and small, who contributed to our amelioration of conditions and all those responsible for my release."

Buol, a pilot for Gen. Claire Chennault's Civil Air Transport and a wartime Flying Tiger under Chennault, said he was arrested on Jan. 16, 1950, at Mentzge in the interior. After two and a half months in house arrest he was jailed in Kunming, where the Flying Tigers had their headquarters during the war.

He said he begged his captors to tell him the charges against him, but got no reply. Two of his five years in prison were spent in solitary confinement in a 10-foot by 10-foot cell. He said he was constantly interrogated and "re-educated," although no physical force was used.

After a session of intense questioning, mostly about the CAT, last Sept. 10, he was finally brought to trial on the 11th and told the charges: "Intruding into China aboard an aircraft to conduct military espionage." Buol, his voice quivering, said he had to confess, as the only way to win his release.

Buol said he lost about 30 pounds during captivity on a diet of rice and vegetables but gained back 10 pounds last month with an improved diet.

Told that Rickett had praised his Communist captors and wanted to return to China as a guest, Buol said he was flabbergasted.

"I cannot believe it," he said. "How can any person in his right mind want to go back there?"

The bearded churchman now weighed only 70 pounds after losing 80 pounds in five years of captivity.

Father Manion, an Irish Franciscan who rode with Ferroni to the hospital, said he muttered, "You can't change my ideas," and spoke about lights and loudspeakers, apparently a referrence to Communist "re-education" techniques.

As other priests pieced together his story, Ferroni was arrested in February, 1951, and spent three years in solitary confinement. For three months he was handcuffed.

Manion said the bishop was a victim of brainwashing but "still is of sound mind though his wits are scattered."

He added emphatically: "Rest assured you'll not get the drivel from him you got from Rickett."

Father Rigney, who was arrested in July, 1951, was refreshed by an overnight rest at the Divine Word mission and a telephone call with his mother, Addie, in Chicago, when he told a news conference that he finally confessed to charges of "spying" to get it over with.

"But," said the 55-year-old priest, "I am not a spy."

Ione

Tampico late Sunday. Small craft along the Texas and Louisiana coast were warned to stay in port because of Hilda which also showed signs of growing in size and intensity.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau said in a 4 p.m. CST advisory that tides will rise along the Texas coast, reaching two to five feet above normal by late Sunday. Squalls from Hilda are expected as far north as Port O'Conner, Tex., Sunday, the forecasters reported.

Ione's highest winds had intensified from 115 miles an hour less than two hours earlier to 125 by 3 p.m. CST. The Miami Weather Bureau predicted an even greater intensification as the tempest hurtled up the Atlantic.

The weather bureau warned coastal interests from Jacksonville, Fla., to Cape Hatteras, N. C., to "remain on the alert for later advices."

"Continued northwest movement at about 12 miles per hour is indicated for the next 12 to 18 hours with a further gradual increase in the area covered by the storm," the weather advisory said. "Seas are becoming rough and tides will continue to gradually increase as compared to the normal tide."

Weathermen said if Ione doesn't change her course and veer northward, the mainland should feel the first of her fury by late Sunday night or Monday morning.

Air Force and Navy installations from Brunswick, Ga., to Elizabeth City, N. C., evacuated their planes and made ready to send ships to sea. The American Red Cross ordered 60 trained disaster workers into the Georgia-Carolina area.

Small boat owners hunted sheltered harbors or moved their vessels out of the water to higher ground.

Hilda was on the prowl in the Gulf of Mexico again after blasting across eastern Cuba and Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula earlier this week. This hurricane was expected to strike the coast of Mexico south of the Texas border Sunday night.

In the meantime, tides rolling in one to two feet above normal and winds up to 30 miles an hour convinced Georgia and Carolina residents that hurricane Ione was on the way.

The weather bureau warned jittery residents of the storm battered Carolina coasts to keep on the alert for frequent information on the hurricane, although the big blow was still two days away.

Gentry said a high pressure ridge north of the storm was keeping the hurricane on her mainland course but there is "some indication now that this ridge may start moving eastward Sunday."

"If this happens the hurricane could change its course more to the north and possibly miss the East Coast," Gentry said. "It is moving slowly now and still about 50 hours away from the nearest land in its path. A lot could happen in that time."

Khrushchev stole the show at the reception. He seemed to show by his whole manner and voice that he spoke as the most powerful man in the Soviet Union and the whole Communist world.

A government broadcast at 6:15 p.m. said there was "absolute tranquility" throughout the rest of the country.

Neither side issued casualty figures. But informed sources estimated at least 300 men were killed and 1,000 wounded in the first 24 hours of the uprising.

The ~~government~~ communique said "the position of the insurgents is weakened by the desertion of many men" to the loyal forces in the vicinity of Cordoba.

Cordoba is in central Argentina 400 miles northwest of Buenos Aires. It is Argentina's third largest city with a population of 352-000.

There were no official figures, but informed sources estimated 300 persons were killed and 1,000 wounded in the first 24 hours of the revolt.

Three small warships appeared off the waterfront shortly before noon, and a short time later naval sources in Montevideo said they had been notified by rebel Rear. Adm. Isaac Rojas that the Argentine capital and other ports in Buenos Aires province were being blockaded.

The blockade delayed the sailing of three merchant vessels—including the U.S. freighter Seafore—which had been preparing to leave Montevideo for Buenos Aires across the Plate Estuary.

Gen. Franklin Lucero's "repression command" announced, however, that rebel resistance in the provinces had been reduced to two key points, the big southern grain port of Bahia Blanca and the inland provincial capital of Cordoba, where the insurgents have set up a military junta government.

A communique issued by Lucero's headquarters said strong government columns are closing in on both the rebel-held cities.

The government also said that two rebel strongholds had surrendered. They were the naval base of Rio Santiago, 45 miles south of the Capitol, and the small army base of Curuzu Cuatia, more than 500 miles to the northeast.

Heavy fighting was known to be in progress around La Calera, a cement factory town about 12 miles east of Cordoba, and government sources said loyal troops were advancing on the city from the north and the west.

Government forces also were reported advancing on Bahia Blanca from Buenos Aires and Mar del Plata. Rebel planes from the Puerto Belgrano naval base, adjoining the rebel-held port, were trying to hold back the advance.

Bombers from Puerto Belgrano blasted a bridge and Mar del Plata converge 130 miles east of Bahia Blanca, and about an hour later attacked a government convoy in the same town, killing one man and wounding eight.

Government sources said the loyal 5th Infantry regiment, which failed Friday to prevent the rebel capture of Bahia Blanca, was battling the insurgent sailors who held the town. The rebel radio reported earlier that the 5th had deserted to the rebel side.

There were no other reports of notable air activity early Saturday, although some excitement was caused here when a British-made Avro-Lincoln bomber dropped a bomb in the Plate Estuary off the Buenos Aires waterfront at 11 a. m.

An official announcement later that the plane was a government bomber crippled by engine trouble, which jettisoned the bomb to avoid the danger of an explosion during an emergency landing, appeared to be confirmed by the fact that anti-aircraft guns in the port area did not fire on it.

Cordoba, itself, was quiet, with patrols of air cadets and armed civilian volunteers maintaining order while the main rebel forces deployed outside the city.

Brig. Gen. Dalmiro Videla Balaguer, rebel commander and chief of military junta, called on the people of the city in repeated broadcasts to keep calm, assuring them that "revolutionary troops control the entire country."

Civilian residents of the city replied enthusiastically to a rebel call for volunteers, swarming into Independence square to join up.

From Cordoba, United Press Correspondent Julio Banzas reported that the fight for the key city started at 4 a. m. Throughout the morning, firing could be heard from the direction of La Calera, where both infantry and artillery schools are located.

The battle started in a river gorge about 18 miles southwest of the city, he said.

Buenos Aires

Buenos Aires' waterfront, artillery batteries watched and waited. And on the Plaza de Mayo, on which Government House fronts, antiaircraft gun crews stood vigil beside weapons mounted soon after the rebellion flamed Friday. Police shooed out all civilians and clamped a tight cordon around the plaza, scene of the bloodiest bombardment of the June 16 naval-air revolt against Peron.

Wing-Tip Shoes Become Hot News In Fashion Field

Time was when men wore wing-tip oxfords for business or semi-dress wear. They were a staple in every well-dressed man's shoe wardrobe.

Today, the wing-tip has suddenly become hot fashion news. Following the Continental trend, it has taken on the new silhouette, with swept-back lines which accentuate the longer, slimmer look which is the base of the new shoe fashions.

No longer just a town fashion, the wing-tip has given a new smartness to all types of shoes, including loafers, one and two-eyelet ties and the conventional five or six-eyelet oxfords.

Even in sports shoes, the wing-tip is contesting the field with the plain vamp shoes which have held the field for te last few seasons.

More Formal Look

In sports shoes the wing-tip appears as a dual fashion. It can be worn to town, or with kiltie tongue it assumes a more rugged, out-of-doors air.

Nixon Pledges Bold Action To Spike Farm Price Charges Of Democrats

WABASH, Ind., Sept. 17 —UP— Vice President Richard M. Nixon Saturday promised "bold imaginative" government action to halt sagging farm income and spike Democratic charges President Eisenhower has broken his pledges to the farmers.

Nixon swung hard in defense of the administration's embattled fa policies as the troubles of the farmer boiled up into the biggest issue of the 1956 general election campaign.

Even as he spoke, farmers in Iowa called non-partisan meetings to demand the resignation of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson. And the Democrats scheduled a huddle in Chicago Monday to map new stragegy on the issue.

He blamed Truman administration policies for the sag in prices, declared the administration's flexible price support program is "basically sound," and insisted Mr. Eisenhower still stands by his 1952 campaign statement that farmers are entitled to full, 100 per cent parity in the market place.

Parity is a standard calculated to give the farmer a fair return on his crops in relation to the things he must buy.

Nixon conceded the farmers are caught in a price-cost squeeze but declared firmly that "there is no farm depression" as some Democrats have charged.

He outlined this five-point administration program for dealing with the price-income crisis:

1. Continuation of the controversial flexible price support system. Many Democrats favor return of the old rigid, 90 per cent of parity support formula.
2. "A bold imaginative program" to develop new domestic and foreign markets.
3. Increased research to reduce farm costs and increased use of agricultural products.
4. Continuation of soil conservation and similar programs.
5. A program of rural development to aid marginal farmers.

Nixon also said the Agriculture Department is ready "to go into action promptly" if necessary to avoid a threatened drop in pork prices "which would bring real hardship." Hog raisers are facing a glutted market. Benson has been talking about a possible federal subsidy.

"I can assure the farmers of America that this administration will never stand idly by when disaster threatens our farmers or any other segment of American society," Nixon said.

The vice president said solemnly that Mr. Eisenhower and everybody else in the administration "are working unceasingly toward the goal of full parity in the market place."

Mr. Eisenhower told farmers at the National Plowing contest in Kasson, Minn., in 1952, that he would, if elected, back the 90 per cent parity program and work to give farmers 100 per cent of parity in the market place.

Democrats charged he reneged on this statement when the administration threw out rigid 90 per cent parity supports in favor of its flexible support program.

Nixon said Mr. Eisenhower has "never been known to break a solemnly given promise during his 40 years of distinguished service to his country, and farmers can be sure that he is not going to begin by breaking his word to them."

Nixon said the present sag in farm prices cannot "by any stretch of the imagination" be blamed on the administration's flexible program which didn't go into effect until this year.

He said about two-thirds of the drop actually occurred in the Truman administration. He said farm prices have been driven down by $8.5 billion worth of surplus commodities hanging over the market.

This government-owned surplus, he said, resulted from abnormal production to meet war demands and from the rigid parity support program of the Democrats. This surplus must be reduced if farm prices are to rise again, he added.

Independents See Success In Oil Imports Fight

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP) — Spokesmen for independent oil producers now see success for their long fight to reduce oil imports.

Their optimism stems from Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming's action this week in warning 18 importing companies that the government will take steps to curb imports unless they are reduced voluntarily. Flemming also is chairman of the President's Advisory Committee on Energy Supplies and Resources Policy.

He said in a letter to the importers:

"It appears inescapable that in the absence of individual voluntary action by the importing companies, over and above that already taken, the government will have to take action as provided in the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1955."

Under that act the President may order a cut in imports if he feels they are endangering a domestic industry vital to national security.

Russell Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America (IPAA), said that while there was some tendency to regard the Flemming letter as "more or less perfunctory," he personally interpreted it as meaning the govenment definitely would act unless the importing companies take voluntary steps.

W. M. Vaughey of Jackson, Miss., president of the IPAA, called Flemming's action "forthright and constructive." He said Flemming's letter left no doubt that if voluntary action is not taken to check oil imports, the government will move in.

He said Flemming's action would be "a source of great assurance and encouragement to domestic oil producers."

Flemming wrote the 18 companies that their schedules of future imports "make it clear that, unless policy changes take place, the imports for the next several months will continue to be substantially in excess of the advisory committee's standard."

He invited suggestions from the companies for reducing imports, saying he wanted to be certain that a voluntary solution was impossible before government action is taken.

Flemming asked that suggestions be submitted to him by Sept. 21.

Eisenhowers Fail To Register In Pennsylvania

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Sept. 17—UP—The deadline for registering to vote in the November elections passed Saturday without the registration of President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

John J. Basehore, Adams county Republican chairman, expressed disappointment over the President's failure to register to vote from his farm home here. The President has announced he was changing his voting residence to Pennsylvania.

"We have a tight race coming up and we had hoped up to the last minute that he'd register," Basehore said. The GOP leader said the President had given him reason to believe he would be voting here Nov. 8.

At a party rally held on Eisenhower farm last October, Basehore said the President gave him his autograph and added "to my county chairman — soon." Basehore said Mr. Eisenhower had put two exclamation marks after the word "soon."

Basehore said he and other county leaders had tried to get the President to register here several times. "I even arranged to have the chief clerk to be available for a Saturday afternoon, so when he came up to the farm it would be convenient," Basehore said.

"I feel certain, though, that he and Mrs. Eisenhower will surely register early next year," he added.

Jena Ice House Burns Early Sat.

JENA, Sept. 17 (Special) — The only ice house, serving four parishes, burned to the ground here early this morning.

T. A. Bradford, owner, estimated the loss at $75,000. It was further reported that $30,000 was covered by insurance.

The fire, origin of which was not known late today, was believed to have started in a new motor. The unit, which cost $1,600, was put into operation about a month ago.

Bill Bridges, manager of the plant, said that ice would be trucked in from Alexandria to serve the area.

"It appears inescapable that in the absence of individual voluntary action by the importing companies, over and above that already taken, the government will have to take action as provided in the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1955."

Under that act the President may order a cut in imports if he feels they are endangering a domestic industry vital to national security.

Russell Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America (IPAA), said that while there was some tendency to regard the Flemming letter as "more or less perfunctory," he personally interpreted it as meaning the govenment definitely would act unless the importing companies take voluntary steps.

W. M. Vaughey of Jackson, Miss., president of the IPAA, called Flemming's action "forthright and constructive." He said Flemming's letter left no doubt that if voluntary action is not taken to check oil imports, the government will move in.

He said Flemming's action would be "a source of great assurance and encouragement to domestic oil producers."

Flemming wrote the 18 companies that their schedules of future imports "make it clear that, unless policy changes take place, the imports for the next several months will continue to be substantially in excess of the advisory committee's standard."

He invited suggestions from the companies for reducing imports, saying he wanted to be certain that a voluntary solution was impossible before government action is taken.

Flemming asked that suggestions be submitted to him by Sept. 21.

Eisenhowers Fail To Register In Pennsylvania

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Sept. 17—UP—The deadline for registering to vote in the November elections passed Saturday without the registration of President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

John J. Basehore, Adams county Republican chairman, expressed disappointment over the President's failure to register to vote from his farm home here. The President has announced he was changing his voting residence to Pennsylvania.

"We have a tight race coming up and we had hoped up to the last minute that he'd register," Basehore said. The GOP leader said the President had given him reason to believe he would be voting here Nov. 8.

At a party rally held on Eisenhower farm last October, Basehore said the President gave him his autograph and added "to my county chairman — soon." Basehore said Mr. Eisenhower had put two exclamation marks after the word "soon."

Basehore said he and other county leaders had tried to get the President to register here several times. "I even arranged to have the chief clerk to be available for a Saturday afternoon, so when he came up to the farm it would be convenient," Basehore said.

"I feel certain, though, that he and Mrs. Eisenhower will surely register early next year," he added.

Jena Ice House Burns Early Sat.

JENA, Sept. 17 (Special) — The only ice house, serving four parishes, burned to the ground here early this morning.

T. A. Bradford, owner, estimated the loss at $75,000. It was further reported that $30,000 was covered by insurance.

The fire, origin of which was not known late today, was believed to have started in a new motor. The unit, which cost $1,600, was put into operation about a month ago.

Bill Bridges, manager of the plant, said that ice would be trucked in from Alexandria to serve the area.

'In God We Trust'

Free-thinkers and atheists have objected strenuously to the inclusion of the motto "In God We Trust" on postage stamps issued by the United States government.

The objection of the anti-religionists is on Constitutional grounds—that the American Constitution guarantees complete freedom in religious matters: To worship God as we choose, or to deny God.

Now, the Constitution guarantees just that; but it was framed in prayer, and its members, for the most part, were devout God-fearing men.

The motto "In God We Trust" really should not offend any atheist, nor should it offend a Marxist, since each and every one of them trusts in a god with a small capital letter.

The atheists, a dwindling tribe, trust in a mechanistic god that a century ago seemed to some philosophers to be plausible; brute matter ruling a blind universe, a self-impelled creation in which the part dominated the whole; beauty and design and purpose accidentally achieved, through trial and error, with nature a monstrous tyrant, and life a chemically-induced accident.

The Marxists trust in the hollow doctrine of economic determinism, that man is a creature and slave of his environment, in a savage world geared to the survival of the politically fittest. They seek to interpret all human behavior in terms of a class or economic struggle. They deify the state as man's only god, and worship of the state as the supreme goal. They deny the identity of the individual, and would negate the human feelings of mankind, in blind subservient worship of the state; and some of the so-called false "liberals" and phony "intellectuals" of America are blind worshipers of these doctrines.

The other day, the writer of this editorial, reading a great history book, came across a reproduction of an ancient woodcut dated 1778, in the course of the Revolutionary War.

It showed all the postures of the Manual of Arms of that period, which were fascinating in view of the Manual of Arms in World Wars I and II. It called upon young men of patriotism and good will to join the Revolutionary Army, led by Gen. Geo. Washington, in a desperate struggle for freedom and liberty.

This feeling inspired Paul Revere on his famous ride, immortalized in Longfellow's poem. It inspired the patriots at Lexington and Concord; the sufferers at Valley Forge; the victorious army that crushed Lord Cornwallis at Yorktown on Oct. 19, 1781, and ended a bitter conflict involving kith and kin.

Let us in America live up to the sublime motto "In God We Trust," and in our increasing strength and power be humble and give thanks to God, and pray meekly for guidance and for wisdom, to deal rightly with all nations and peoples, throughout the world.

Let us remember the great poet Kipling's prophetic verse dealing with his beloved British Empire, and its haunting lines:

"Lord God of Hosts, Be with us yet,
Lest we forget, lest we forget."

Good Reports On Salk Vaccine

This is the turn of the season when polio's grip loosens and the incidence of the disease falls off rapidly.

Confusion and controversy surrounding the new Salk polio vaccine last spring have died down, with stricter standards of purity in effect.

A full evaluation of this year's massive inoculations extending to teen-agers throughout America perhaps cannot be made until some time next winter.

The program was crippled by withdrawal of the vaccine from the market temporarily, and many children received only one "shot," and others were given their second "shot" many weeks after the first.

Yet initial and localized reports indicate that the vaccine is effective in a high percentage of cases.

In Massachusetts, polio reached epidemic proportions recently. A breakdown shows that 15 cases of paralytic or nonparalytic polio occurred among each 10,000 unvaccinated children; but less than one case per 10,000 occurred among children who had received two shots of the vaccine.

Fragmentary reports from individual communities in 23 states and two foreign nations, Canada and Denmark, indicate that the vaccine prevented polio in various age groups.

Admittedly, the Salk vaccine is not 100 per cent effective. It is being improved, and no doubt will be tremendously improved as time goes on. There is ground for optimism that the confidence expressed in this discovery following last year's limited tests will prove soundly based after the 1955 experiments are evaluated; and that polio, the crippler and killer, is on its way out, like many other dread diseases of the past that have been conquered by medical science.

Food From Tubes

"Tooth-paste-tube" food may be in the offing for pilots flying jet planes. This innovation is the latest experiment of Mrs. [illegible] Robertson, chief of the Air Force Feeding Service Section.

Mrs. Robertson gained fame during World War II by feeding 60,000 men a day for eight weeks on the Southampton docks before D-Day. She also is responsible for the pre-cooked dinner which civilians know as the frozen "TV" dinner.

This tube feeding is advocated by Mrs. Robertson for pilots who fly so high they must wear oxygen masks and are too busy to bother with food when they are low enough to take off the mask. Concentrated solid food is used in the "toothpaste-tube" container which fits into a small aperture in the oxygen mask. A squeeze of the tube brings forth a full-course meal.

Tube feeding is being tested at Wright Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio. It is the latest attempt to iron out dietary bugs that have developed in supersonic aircraft.

Alcoholic Legislation

Someday somebody will dare to write a column about the boozing that goes on around Washington, D. C. and it will curl the hair of the church - goers who have their missionaries to the wrong places first.

It will have to be somebody who is neither a prude nor personally vulnerable. Someone who thinks the need for ventilation of this situation justifies the alienation of any friends he may have among the tipplers on the hill.

There is a gentleman's agreement among the solons not to mention this subject. It is so binding that one United States Senator (who has repeatedly been helped from the floor by colleagues or page boys escaped any mention of this "weakness" even during a bitterly contested election recount in his home state.

The lawmakers who do not deny this indictment seek to justify it instead. "Look at Davy Crockett!"

But a healthy government, like a healthy human being, survives in spite of, not because of, its excesses, for a while.

The customary office liquor closet in the senate and house office buildings is the desk drawer, though some are fancier. The "bar" is the wash basin discreetly concealed behind a screen in the corner of the room.

When the bell rings for a roll call vote, even one lawmaker not in full possession of his senses might jeopardize a proper decision. There will be more than one.

For those who would not think of drinking "on duty" there is the ever - present temptation of the cocktail hour afterward. Or the social gathering which lasts until all hours.

International fraternizing has led us to imitate the social customs of our most emaciated and degenerate old world neighbors.

For a while, in Washington, it was "standard operating procedure" to test a job applicant "over a few drinks."

Our wartime cloak - and - dagger outfit, the OSS, is said to have employed this system. If a man can drink and drink and still keep his "balance," he has stood the test.

This may be necessary for spies, but it is hardly a good way for a lawmaker to keep in training.

At this point I am supposed to pay tribute to the hard-working and sincere senators and congressmen and explain that the ones who would flunk a sobriety test during working hours are few indeed.

Only that's not so. They are many.

"They must know what they're doing," you'll hear the constituents say.

And they don't always.

As a matter of personal discipline, I make it a point never to scratch the scab off a sore spot unless I have some medication to recommend. In this case, I would not know what remedial measures would be both effective and acceptable.

So I shall join the rest of the press gallery and look the other way.

But someday somebody is going to call a drunk a drunk and you're going to demand that there be some changes made.

Cotton Acreages Go Down; Salaries In Congress Go Up

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Now that Congress has adjourned, they really did accomplish one thing. The one thing was a 50 per cent raise in their own salaries, from $15,000 a year to $22,500 a year, which is a 50 per cent raise plus another $15,000 to $17,000 for office hire, etc., when the poor farmer had to take a cut in his cotton acreage which automatically cut his salary, or his earnings, and in turn this automatically cut down the little merchant and little businessman who depend on farmers and other small businesses for their business. So Congress did help someone. That someone turned out to be themselves.

Yes, just before they adjourned, they tried to get more money for travel expense, etc. so they could run back and forth every week as they desired, at the people's expense. As one good Senator stated, "Congress thought that maybe there were a few scrapings left at the bottom of the barrel and, if so, they wanted to clean it out for themselves."

Most Congressmen own businesses or have law practices on the side and spend about half of their time away from their congressional duties but they never refuse to draw their congressional salaries that we poor tax payers have to pay. We could all be big, fat hogs if we had our heads in such a well-filled feed trough.

Ah, well, cotton seed are selling for about $42.00 to $44.00 per ton and maybe the farmer will have enough left out of his seed, after paying the ginner, to buy a few crickets and go fishing. So why should I worry for I sell crickets and maybe I can make a few pennies out of him and he can have a little fun fishing and maybe get a few fish to eat. So guess we will just keep on hoping 'til someone has time to speak up in Washington and let them know we are still here and are just as important as Europe and Asia.

So the little farmer and the little merchant will just keep on suffering it out as we always have but it just seems to get a little worse.

Yes, the Democrats (of which I am one) blame Eisenhower yet they vote two-thirds of the time with him, so let's lay the blame where it belongs. Yes, if Congress would spend more time with the people's business instead of their own or instead of running around spending the people's money, the people would be better off financially. There has been only three or four member increase in Congress itself in the last ten years but the cost of running Congress, with their increases in salaries and allowances, has more than doubled. They believe in economy — yes, they preach it — but don't practice it with themselves. So you people be the judge — I can't.

City's Power Problems

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Much has been said about our city's power problems. However, no one has tried to explain the situation so that everyday folks can understand.

The words, surge and reactors are vague to many people's minds. Webster states surge "To let go suddenly."

Now, let's compare a reactor, wiring or cable, with a pipe, a boiler or a hot water heater. The three latter carry pressure, so does a reactor, wiring or cable, and each are designed to "carry" so much pressure. When you tax a boiler, pipe, or say hot water heater above it's factor of safety to perform they burst or blow up.

Take a toy balloon, blow it up and when the pressure gets too great "pow." Take your auto tire, inflate it to too great a pressure and "pow."

Housewife, put your tea kettle on the stove, plug the spout, and when the steam pressure gets too great, out comes the plug or off comes the lid.

A surge, or reactor is no more or less than the above, what is needed is to control the excess pressure or power that is fed into them.

People of Monroe, we have a great city, a great power plant. Our trouble is that we are growing too fast, and now I ask you is that bad?

The Small Farmers Of Madison Parish

Tallulah, La.

Editor, Morning World:

A few months ago this question was asked "Why and how some farmers rated so many more acres of cotton than others?" One answer is they (the committee) sets the basis as they see fit. The small farmers are still fighting. They succeeded in improving the committee, thanks to Mr. Jim Frazier.

If the committee would base the acreage distribution as the income tax is based, all would be well. Let the small farmer have enough acreage to support his family. As it is some are cut so low that the man or wife or both have to hunt some outside work in order to survive.

Just as the income tax is handled the larger the income or acreage (these being synonymous) the more the cut. As an illustration: One farmer, no dependents except wife, is allotted 500 acres and is expecting to make 800 bales of cotton. The other farmer, a G. I. with wife and three children is allotted less than 10 acres. When he goes to the office to ask about a few more acres is told in no uncertain terms that to give him more would mean taking it away from some one else. He and his wife are both working at jobs trying to make ends meet.

On the records there are quite a number of cases similar to these. Here is hoping that the small farmers of Madison parish will get some relief.

Air Force 'Torture' School

Winnsboro, La.

Editor, Morning World:

After reading news about an air force colonel in Nevada acting as a Red Communist would act, I am ashamed that we have such men in our U. S. air force.

I have a son that served in the air force as a pilot in World War II and I have another son who is now a cadet, and if the Pentagon permits officers to use such treatment with our boys I think it is time there were some changes made. There is just as much sense in you or any other person committing murder just because somebody else commits murder.

Dear editor will you please say something to make the public sit up and take notice. I hate to think the officers in our U. S. Air Force have a heart like the Communists and are not to be trusted. They force our boys to go in the service — then give them such treatment. What are they training for or fighting for?

I am not very good at expressing myself, but I can't remember when I ever read or heard anything that made my blood boil so. Who can we appeal to have such treatment stopped, for I am a mother who believes in justice for all.

GOP To Lose With Ike

Bastrop, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I noticed in the papers, and heard over the radio, that President Eisenhower held a conference with top level Republican leaders last week, and that Mr. Eisenhower denies that he is the indispensable man. I agree with Mr. Eisenhower; he is the surest chance for the Republican party to lose the election next year.

Senator William F. Knowland is the only man who can carry the Republican banner to the White House in the next election. His opposition to the United Nations will carry him over.

Ike Wants Landslide In 1956

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The military mind of President Eisenhower has begun to function along lines of campaign strategy, giving his congressional cohorts more encouragement than they have had in either of the previous campaigns in which he has figured, the presidential election of 1952 and the congressional contests of 1954.

The president has indicated that he is fed up with hair line margins in congress, first for the Republicans, then for the Democrats. He wants decisive Republican control if he is to succeed himself. And he has dropped a hint that his decision whether to run might hinge to some degree upon the prospect of such a GOP majority, which will not be too easily obtained, from the present outlook.

This development does not add any new uncertainty to his candidacy, as his advisors are now so enthusiastic they are bound to convince him that he will have a Republican congress, but it does add some new spice to the campaign. It's something like a football coach saying, "I don't want just to beat that Siwash team, I want to mow 'em down." Or in political terms, he wants a landslide in 1956.

That is the interpretation placed upon his appeal for an increase of 15 per cent in the number of people voting Republican in 1956, made to the Republican state chairmen in Denver. Democrats were not much perturbed by it, but they agreed that the challenge did not sound much like a man in grave doubt about running himself.

The Eisenhower dream is "make this party a perpetual agency for carrying out the kind of doctrine that Lincoln taught us" which means after he has left office, as he must in 1961 at the latest, by the new two term amendment to the constitution, he wants the Republican party to continue to elect presidents.

Republicans are set today to sell the Eisenhower record in a herculean drive, which cynics don't believe will materialize as the president envisions. Eisenhower won in 1952 by 6,600,000 votes, a margin exceeded by Warren G. Harding in 1920 — 7,000,000 votes — by Calvin Coolidge in 1924 — 7,300,000— twice by Franklin D. Roosevelt— 7,000,000 in 1932 and 10,800,000 in 1936. Herbert Hoover in 1928 ran 6,200,000 votes ahead of Alfred E. Smith.

In each of those instances, the victorious president was given overwhelming party control of both branches of congress. The Coolidge margin, the smallest, was 17 votes in the senate and 64 in the house. What the military mind of the president has difficulty in comprehending is why his commanding majority did not give his party comparable edge in congress.

It seemed from his remarks that he blamed the Republicans for not having worked hard enough. He has made the same intimation before, and there is a strong belief here that he would stick to his idea of retiring if he could known in advance that he would lose congress or carry it by another hairline majority.

Next year will mark the 100th anniversary of the first presidential campaign of the Republican party, with John C. Fremont as its candidate in 1856. Ike's advisors have told him again that he has the best record to run on in the party's history. His own ambition is to substitute his "progressive moderate" philosophy for the party's conservative policy of the past.

That would attract independents and a large bloc of Democrats to his cause, he thinks. This would be especially true he is convinced if Adlai E. Stevenson or Gov. Averell Harriman were the Democratic party nominee, with the possibility of a greater division in the Democratic party than split it in the last presidential election.

'In God We Trust'

Free-thinkers and atheists have objected strenuously to the inclusion of the motto "In God We Trust" on postage stamps issued by the United States government.

The objection of the anti-religionists is on Constitutional grounds—that the American Constitution guarantees complete freedom in religious matters: To worship God as we choose, or to deny God.

Now, the Constitution guarantees just that; but it was framed in prayer, and its members, for the most part, were devout God-fearing men.

The motto "In God We Trust" really should not offend any atheist, nor should it offend a Marxist, since each and every one of them trusts in a god with a small capital letter.

The atheists, a dwindling tribe, trust in a mechanistic god that a century ago seemed to some philosophers to be plausible; brute matter ruling a blind universe, a self-impelled creation in which the part dominated the whole; beauty and design and purpose accidentally achieved, through trial and error, with nature a monstrous tyrant, and life a chemically-induced accident.

The Marxists trust in the hollow doctrine of economic determinism, that man is a creature and slave of his environment, in a savage world geared to the survival of the politically fittest. They seek to interpret all human behavior in terms of a class or economic struggle. They deify the state as man's only god, and worship of the state as the supreme goal. They deny the identity of the individual, and would negate the human feelings of mankind, in blind subservient worship of the state; and some of the so-called false "liberals" and phony "intellectuals" of America are blind worshipers of these doctrines.

The other day, the writer of this editorial, reading a great history book, came across a reproduction of an ancient woodcut dated 1778, in the course of the Revolutionary War.

It showed all the postures of the Manual of Arms of that period, which were fascinating in view of the Manual of Arms in World Wars I and II. It called upon young men of patriotism and good will to join the Revolutionary Army, led by Gen. Geo. Washington, in a desperate struggle for freedom and liberty.

This feeling inspired Paul Revere on his famous ride, immortalized in Longfellow's poem. It inspired the patriots at Lexington and Concord; the sufferers at Valley Forge; the victorious army that crushed Lord Cornwallis at Yorktown on Oct. 19, 1781, and ended a bitter conflict involving kith and kin.

Let us in America live up to the sublime motto "In God We Trust," and in our increasing strength and power be humble and give thanks to God, and pray meekly for guidance and for wisdom, to deal rightly with all nations and peoples, throughout the world.

Let us remember the great poet Kipling's prophetic verse dealing with his beloved British Empire, and its haunting lines:

"Lord God of Hosts, Be with us yet,
Lest we forget, lest we forget."

Good Reports On Salk Vaccine

This is the turn of the season when polio's grip loosens and the incidence of the disease falls off rapidly.

Confusion and controversy surrounding the new Salk polio vaccine last spring have died down, with stricter standards of purity in effect.

A full evaluation of this year's massive inoculations extending to teen-agers throughout America perhaps cannot be made until some time next winter.

The program was crippled by withdrawal of the vaccine from the market temporarily, and many children received only one "shot," and others were given their second "shot" many weeks after the first.

Yet initial and localized reports indicate that the vaccine is effective in a high percentage of cases.

In Massachusetts, polio reached epidemic proportions recently. A breakdown shows that 15 cases of paralytic or nonparalytic polio occurred among each 10,000 unvaccinated children; but less than one case per 10,000 occurred among children who had received two shots of the vaccine.

Fragmentary reports, from individual communities in 23 states and two foreign nations, Canada and Denmark, indicate that the vaccine prevented polio in various age groups.

Admittedly, the Salk vaccine is not 100 per cent effective. It is being improved, and no doubt will be tremendously improved as time goes on. There is ground for optimism that the confidence expressed in this discovery following last year's limited tests will prove soundly based after the 1955 experiments are evaluated; and that polio, the crippler and killer, is on its way out, like many other dread diseases of the past that have been conquered by medical science.

Food From Tubes

"Toothpaste-tube" food may be in the offing for pilots flying jet planes. This innovation is the latest experiment of Mrs. Edythe Robertson, chief of the Air Force Feeding Service Section.

Mrs. Robertson gained fame during World War II by feeding 60,000 men a day for eight weeks on the Southhampton docks before D-Day. She also is responsible for the pre-cooked dinner which civilians know as the frozen "TV" dinner.

This tube feeding is advocated by Mrs. Robertson for pilots who fly so high they must wear oxygen masks and are too busy to bother with food when they are low enough to take off the mask. Concentrated solid food is used in the "toothpaste-tube" container which fits into a small aperture in the oxygen mask. A squeeze of the tube brings forth a full-course meal.

Tube feeding is being tested at Wright Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio. It is the latest attempt to iron out dietary bugs that have developed in supersonic aircraft.

Alcoholic Legislation

Someday somebody will dare to write a column about the boozing that goes on around Washington, D. C. and it will curl the hair of the church - goers who have their missionaries to the wrong places first.

It will have to be somebody who is neither a prude nor personally vulnerable. Someone who thinks the need for ventilation of this situation justifies the alienation of any friends he may have among the tipplers on the hill.

There is a gentleman's agreement among the solons not to mention this subject. It is so binding that one United States Senator (who has repeatedly been helped from the floor by colleagues or page boys escaped any mention of this "weakness" even during a bitterly contested election recount in his home state.

The lawmakers who do not deny this indictment seek to justify it instead. "Look at Davy Crockett!"

But a healthy government, like a healthy human being, survives in spite of, not because of, its excesses, for a while.

The customary office liquor closet in the senate and house office buildings is the desk drawer, though some are fancier. The "bar" is the wash basin discreetly concealed behind a screen in the corner of the room.

When the bell rings for a roll call vote, even one lawmaker not in full possession of his senses might jeopardize a proper decision. There will be more than one.

For those who would not think of drinking "on duty" there is the ever - present temptation of the cocktail hour afterward. Or the social gathering which lasts until all hours.

International fraternizing has led us to imitate the social customs of our most emaciated and degenerate old world neighbors.

For a while, in Washington, it was "standard operating procedure" to test a job applicant "over a few drinks."

Our wartime cloak - and - dagger outfit, the OSS, is said to have employed this system. If a man can drink and drink and still keep his "balance," he has stood the test.

This may be necessary for spies, but it is hardly a good way for a lawmaker to keep in training.

At this point I am supposed to pay tribute to the hard-working and sincere senators and congressmen and explain that the ones who would flunk a sobriety test during working hours are few indeed.

Only that's not so. They are many.

"They must know what they're doing," you'll hear the constituents say.

And they don't always.

As a matter of personal discipline, I make it a point never to scratch the scab off a sore spot unless I have some medication to recommend. In this case, I would not know what remedial measures would be both effective and acceptable.

So I shall join the rest of the press gallery and look the other way.

But someday somebody is going to call a drunk a drunk and you're going to demand that there be some changes made.

Cotton Acreages Go Down; Salaries In Congress Go Up

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Now that Congress has adjourned, they really did accomplish one thing. The one thing was a 50 per cent raise in their own salaries, from $15,000 a year to $22,500 a year, which is a 50 per cent raise plus another $15,000 to $17,000 for office hire, etc., when the poor farmer had to take a cut in his cotton acreage which automatically cut his salary, or his earnings, and in turn this automatically cut down the little merchant and little businessman who depend on farmers and other small businesses for their business. So Congress did help someone. That someone turned out to be themselves.

Yes, just before they adjourned, they tried to get more money for travel expense, etc. so they could run back and forth every week as they desired, at the people's expense. As one good Senator stated, "Congress thought that maybe there were a few scrapings left at the bottom of the barrel and, if so, they wanted to clean it out for themselves."

Most Congressmen own businesses or have law practices on the side and spend about half of their time away from their congressional duties but they never refuse to draw their congressional salaries that we poor tax payers have to pay. We could all be big, fat hogs if we had our heads in such a well-filled feed trough.

Ah, well, cotton seed are selling for about $42.00 to $44.00 per ton and maybe the farmer will have enough left out of his seed, after paying the ginner, to buy a few crickets and go fishing. So why should I worry for I sell crickets and maybe I can make a few pennies out of him and he can have a little fun fishing and maybe get a few fish to eat. So guess we will just keep on hoping 'til someone has time to speak up in Washington and let them know we are still here and are just as important as Europe and Asia.

So the little farmer and the little merchant will just keep on suffering it out as we always have but it just seems to get a little worse.

Yes, the Democrats (of which I am one) blame Eisenhower yet they vote two-thirds of the time with him, so let's lay the blame where it belongs. Yes, if Congress would spend more time with the people's business instead of their own or instead of running around spending the people's money, the people would be better off financially. There has been only three or four member increase in Congress itself in the last ten years but the cost of running Congress, with their increases in salaries and allowances, has more than doubled. They believe in economy — yes, they preach it — but don't practice it with themselves. So you people be the judge — I can't.

City's Power Problems

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Much has been said about our city's power problems. However, no one has tried to explain the situation so that everyday folks can understand.

The words, surge and reactors are vague to many people's minds. Webster states surge "To let go suddenly."

Now, let's compare a reactor, wiring or cable, with a pipe, a boiler or a hot water heater. The three latter carry pressure, so does a reactor, wiring or cable, and each are designed to "carry" so much pressure. When you tax a boiler, pipe, or say hot water heater above it's factor of safety to perform they burst or blow up.

Take a toy balloon, blow it up and when the pressure gets too great "pow." Take your auto tire, inflate it to too great a pressure and "pow."

Housewife, put your tea kettle on the stove, plug the spout, and when the steam pressure gets too great, out comes the plug or off comes the lid.

A surge, or reactor is no more or less than the above, what is needed is to control the excess pressure or power that is fed into them.

People of Monroe, we have a great city, a great power plant. Our trouble is that we are growing too fast, and now I ask you is that bad?

The Small Farmers Of Madison Parish

Tallulah, La.

Editor, Morning World:

A few months ago this question was asked "Why and how some farmers rated so many more acres of cotton than others?" One answer is they (the committee) sets the basis as they see fit. The small farmers are still fighting. They succeeded in improving the committee, thanks to Mr. Jim Frazier.

If the committee would base the acreage distribution as the income tax is based, all would be well. Let the small farmer have enough acreage to support his family. As it is some are cut so low that the man or wife or both have to hunt some outside work in order to survive.

Just as the income tax is handled the larger the income or acreage (these being synonymous) the more the cut. As an illustration: One farmer, no dependents except wife, is allotted 500 acres and is expecting to make 800 bales of cotton. The other farmer, a G. I. with wife and three children is allotted less than 10 acres. When he goes to the office to ask about a few more acres is told in no uncertain terms that to give him more would mean taking it away from some one else. He and his wife are both working at jobs trying to make ends meet.

On the records there are quite a number of cases similar to these. Here is hoping that the small farmers of Madison parish will get some relief.

Bastrop, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I love you because you are my home city, and also my favorite newspaper, but I feel a loathing disgust and a wave of righteous indignation when I read such things as the following: "Bodyguards Stood Watch Over the Dying Kingfish."

There are plenty of us who didn't approve of Huey, but he did some good too. That is never mentioned. He is dead — why not let him rest and let us hold the respect for our newspaper that we would like to hold, and, I'll add we do not vote for the Longs.

Air Force 'Torture' School

Winnsboro, La.

Editor, Morning World:

After reading news about an air force colonel in Nevada acting as a Red Communist would act, I am ashamed that we have such men in our U. S. air force.

I have a son that served in the air force as a pilot in World War II and I have another son who is now a cadet, and if the Pentagon permits officers to use such treatment with our boys I think it is time there were some changes made. There is just as much sense in you or any other person committing murder just because somebody else commits murder.

Dear editor will you please say something to make the public sit up and take notice. I hate to think the officers in our U. S. Air Force have a heart like the Communists and are not to be trusted. They force our boys to go in the service — then give them such treatment. What are they training for or fighting for?

I am not very good at expressing myself, but I can't remember when I ever read or heard anything that made my blood boil so. Who can we appeal to have such treatment stopped, for I am a mother who believes in justice for all.

VERGIE PRESTRIDGE.

GOP To Lose With Ike

Bastrop, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I noticed in the papers, and heard over the radio, that President Eisenhower held a conference with top level Republican leaders last week, and that Mr. Eisenhower denies that he is the indispensable man. I agree with Mr. Eisenhower: he is the surest chance for the Republican party to lose the election next year.

Senator William F. Knowland is the only man who can carry the Republican banner to the White House in the next election. His opposition to the United Nations will carry him over.

Ike Wants Landslide In 1956

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The military mind of President Eisenhower has begun to function along lines of campaign strategy, giving his congressional cohorts more encouragement than they have had in either of the previous campaigns in which he has figured, the presidential election of 1952 and the congressional contests of 1954.

The president has indicated that he is fed up with hair line margins in congress, first for the Republicans, then for the Democrats. He wants decisive Republican control if he is to succeed himself. And he has dropped a hint that his decision whether to run might hinge to some degree upon the prospect of such a GOP majority, which will not be too easily obtained, from the present outlook.

This development does not add any new uncertainty to his candidacy, as his advisors are now so enthusiastic they are bound to convince him that he will have a Republican congress, but it does add some new spice to the campaign. It's something like a football coach saying, "I don't want just to beat that Siwash team, I want to mow 'em down." Or in political terms, he wants a landslide in 1956.

That is the interpretation placed upon his appeal for an increase of 15 per cent in the number of people voting Republican in 1956, made to the Republican state chairmen in Denver. Democrats were not much perturbed by it, but they agreed that the challenge did not sound much like a man in grave doubt about running himself.

The Eisenhower dream is "make this party a perpetual agency for carrying out the kind of doctrine that Lincoln taught us" which means after he has left office, as he must in 1961 at the latest, by the new two term amendment to the constitution, he wants the Republican party to continue to elect presidents.

Republicans are set today to sell the Eisenhower record in a herculean drive, which cynics don't believe will materialize as the president envisions. Eisenhower won in 1952 by 6,600,000 votes, a margin exceeded by Warren G. Harding in 1920 — 7,000,000 votes — by Calvin Coolidge in 1924 — 7,300,000—twice by Franklin D. Roosevelt—7,000,000 in 1932 and 10,800,000 in 1936. Herbert Hoover in 1928 ran 6,200,000 votes ahead of Alfred E. Smith.

In each of those instances, the victorious president was given overwhelming party control of both branches of congress. The Coolidge margin, the smallest, was 17 votes in the senate and 64 in the house. What the military mind of the president has difficulty in comprehending is why his commanding majority did not give his party comparable edge in congress.

It seemed from his remarks that he blamed the Republicans for not having worked hard enough. He has made the same intimation before, and there is a strong belief here that he would stick to his idea of retiring if he could known in advance that he would lose congress or carry it by another hairline majority.

Next year will mark the 100th anniversary of the first presidential campaign of the Republican party, with John C. Fremont as its candidate in 1856. Ike's advisors have told him again that he has the best record to run on in the party's history. His own ambition is to substitute his "progressive moderate" philosophy for the party's conservative policy of the past.

That would attract independents and a large bloc of Democrats to his cause, he thinks. This would be especially true he is convinced if Adlai E. Stevenson or Gov. Averell Harriman were the Democratic party nominee, with the possibility of a greater division in the Democratic party than split it in the last presidential election.

Old Wood Nickel Adage Nightmare To Gamblers

RENO, Nev., Sept. 17 (AP) — The old adage about not taking any wooden nickels is a nightmare today to Nevada's gamblers.

A commercial stunt by the neighboring city of Sparks in issuing 10,000 wooden nickels can turn into a gambler's nightmare. The "nickels" are the exact dimensions of a silver dollar.

Somebody has made the horrifying discovery—from a gambling operator's standpoint — that the wooden nickels work very nicely in the big dollar slot machines used in many of the state's casinos.

"My, my," commented one operator when informed of the discovery, "now I'll get ulcers for sure."

Some machines will take the wooden nickels just like they take the silver cartwheels. Others require a little gimmick easily discovered by the player with a chiseling soul. Still others, in the minority, won't permit a pull of the handle, jamming instead.

Only a few gambling houses report finding the phoney pieces of pine in their slots so far, but word of the wooden nickel's dual role is spreading fast.

"We may have to put on extra girls to keep an eye on the dollar machines alone," said a slot operator.

This was backed up by an official of the Sparks Chamber of Commerce which issued the 10,000 souvenir pieces to commemorate the city's 50th anniversary.

"There's n o t h i n g we can do now," he said. "I guess they'll just have to put a doll on every dollar machine."

"That will make a bigger payroll for Reno as well as for Sparks," he added.

The nickels are manufactured by a novelty house in Texas where slot machines are illegal. In Nevada, gambling is legalized.

They are being distributed by Sparks merchants and are redeemable for a nickel's worth of merchandise or for cash with the Chamber of Commerce.

The only thing which possibly may keep the 10,000 nickels—actually worth $500—from reaching their full potential value of $10,000 is this paragraph inserted into the law by the 1955 Legislature:

"It shall be unlawful to use anything but a coin minted by the United States government in a slot machine. Violators may be punished by up to six months in jail and or a $500 fine."

Law or no law, Nevada gamblers are stocking up on asprin.

First Dispatch From Argentine Rebs Describes Battle Action At Cordoba

Editors Note: Here is the first dispatch out of the headquarters of the provisional government of the Argentine rebels. The writer regularly is assigned to coverage of the war ministry in Buenos Aires, but he succeeded in making his way inside the lines of the revolutionary army.

By JULIO BANZAS

CORDOBA, Argentina, Sept. 17 —(9:10 a.m.)—A battle is being fought for this city in a river gorge about 18 miles southwest of the city. Intense cannonading and machinegun fire were heard all through the early morning. Later it died out.

Troops loyal to President Juan D. Peron are moving on Cordoba from the southern part of the province. Other loyalist troops are converging on the headquarters of the rebel commander, Gen. Dalmiro Videla Balaguer, who has established himself in the aviation school, outside the city. The 14th infantry regiment is among the Peron troops attempting to capture this city.

The battle for Cordoba began around 4 a.m. Saturday. Through the morning firing was heard from the direction of the small town of La Calera, where a cement factory is located. There are both infantry and artillery schools in La Calera.

As of now the Peron forces have not reached Cordoba, itself, although there were erroneous reports that they had taken the Sarmiento park on a hill overlooking the western part of the city.

Gen. Balaguer has decided to call up civilian volunteers for the defense of Cordoba. Many of them came forward Friday as soon as the rebel troops entered the city. The commander continues to issue repeated radio calls for mobilization.

The city was calm through the early hours of Saturday. Rebel troops limited their activities to scouting the outer edges of Cordoba after reports were received of the approach of Peron troops.

The rebel radio broadcasts continually urge the population to remain calm.

"evolutionary troops control the entire country," one broadcast said.

Residents of Cordoba are asked to resume work, to keep the streets clean and to see that markets, stores and public transports are kept going.

The rebel command is housed here in an ancient colonial-type building. There has been feverish activity all through the morning as the leaders prepared for an expected big battle for Cordoba.

Several prisoners are kept in an inside room at headquarters, and they sat on the floor throughout the night.

The rebel radio station issued calls for blood donors, but so far there is no indication how many casualties the revolutionary forces have suffered.

The provincial governor of Cordoba, Raul Lucini, has escaped, and apparently has joined the Peron forces.

Air force cadets and volunteer civilians are patrolling the streets. Guards are in front of the telegraph office, the telephone office and the postoffice. All vehicles belonging to those offices have been requisitioned and are being driven by civilian volunteers. The rebel radio has ordered all gasoline stations to provide them with fuel without restrictions. It also said that any person spreading false rumors would be shot.

Planes fly over Cordoba from time to time, but apparently they belong to rebel forces because no attempt has been made so far to bomb the city.

Man Carrying $11,255 Is Released To Daughter But Officers Hold Cash

AMARILLO, Sept. 17 —UP— An elderly Los Angeles man with a desire to see the White House in Washington was released to his daughter Saturday, but Amarillo authorities said they would hold the $11,255 he was carrying until after a court hearing.

Pietro Calderaro, 73, once a successful real estate man and tailor in New York, was picked up in the Amarillo bus station Wednesday after a complaint that he had caused a disturbance on a bus between Albuquerque, N. M., and Amarillo.

Police were puzzled when they found the large amount of money on Calderaro, who refused to talk about it. At first, Calderaro, who speaks Italian and broken English, refused even to identify himself.

Then officers learned a daughter, Mrs. Lucia Corcoran, and a son, Alfred Calderaro, live in Los Angeles. They arrived in Amarillo to pick up their father and offer this explanation.

"My father was always talking about politics and wanted to see the White House," Mrs. Corcoran said. "He's getting old and thought this might be his last chance."

Mrs. Corcoran said the money belonged to her and her brother and was intended for purchase of a home where they and their father could live.

"He (the father) had only an inkling the money was intended for a house and thought of it only as something needed to make the trip," she said.

When picked up, Calderaro had a bus ticket to Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Corcoran described her father as a "poor sick man" who at one time was a successful real estate man and tailor in New York. However, he had not worked since moving to Los Angeles to make his home with his children 10 years ago.

Senators Depart For Check On U. S. Foreign Spending

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP) —Four senators sailed today to check up on how American military and economic aid funds are being spent.

The senators, Dennis Chavez (D-NM), Harley M. G. Kilgore (D-WVa), John L. McClellan (D-Ark) and John C. Stennis (D-Miss), left aboard the transport Upshur to visit England, France, Germany, Turkey, Spain and North Africa. They will be away five weeks.

Movieland Has Another Cinderella Story; Her Name Is Victoria Shaw

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 17 (UP) Movieland has come up with another Cinderella story.

This time Cinderella's name is Victoria Shaw, an Australian model who arrived in filmville broke and friendless and wound up 10 days later with a starring role opposite Tyrone Power in a new movie.

"I wasn't exactly friendless," Victoria said. "I met Bob Hope when he toured Australia and he told me if I came to Hollywood to look him up. So I did."

Actually, it was Hope's publicity man, Mack Millar, who took 20-year-old Victoria to Columbia Pictures for a screen test. In true Cinderella fashion, it happened that the studio was looking for a girl to play Power's wife in "The Eddie Duchin Story."

The moguls liked what they saw and the little gal from down-under was signed to a seven-year contract.

After eight weeks in cinema city, Victoria has settled down in an apartment, decided to make movies her career, and formed some very definite opinions about Americans.

"The greatest difference between our countries is the way the women are treated," says Victoria in an Australian accent you could cut with a boomerang. "Women are terribly spoiled over here and I think it's sinful.

"Everyone's been so kind to me I don't like to be critical, but American females seem to have worn the family pants for so long they've become masculine. They forget what all Australian women know—Adam was here first, and Eve was created to keep him company, not to dominate him."

Victoria theorizes that distaff Yankees are more wretched than other women because they have too much to say about everything.

"It's my belief that women like to be dominated," she explained. "That doesn't mean they have to be servants. But the man must be boss.

"Australian women never have two careers like Americans. They either have jobs or they marry. We don't mix the two — and because of that our divorce rate is much lower than America's."

"Males like to be depended upon in Australia," she said. "It's different here. The men are too weak to assert themselves. They do women's work, like shopping and housework while the wife takes care of the bills and finances.

"We Australians may not have as much freedom as Americans but we're much happier. We're totally dependent on our men — and that's the way it should be."

13 New Wells Completed In Monroe District Area; 53 Drilling Rigs Running

Completion of three wildcat producers and ten other new wells brightened the northeast Louisiana oil and gas picture during the past week with official reports on the completion of the F. R. Jackson Louisiana Delta Hardwood Lumber Co. No. 1 wildcat oiler in LaSalle parish; the finaling of the Hudson Gas and Oil Corp. Macon Ridge Land Co. No. 1 wildcat gasser in Franklin parish; and completion of the Chicago Mill and Lumber Co. CM and L Co. Fee No. 1 wildcat oiler in Tensas.

The LaSalle parish wildcat well is located west of the Cypress Bayou field. There is no current production in the Cypress Bayou field but the new well is close enough to the old field to be considered a part of it. It pumped 25 barrels of 43.1-gravity oil daily on a 22-64-inch chake through perforations at 4458-59 on official tests. Location is in Sec. 10-6-4E. Another Jackson venture, the Louisiana Delta Hardwood Lumber Co. No. 2, in the same section, has been plugged and abandoned at 5,000 feet.

The Franklin parish gasser, producing 49,000 MCF of gas daily through perforations at 5008½ to 5017½ feet, is located approximately two miles south and slightly west of the nearest production in the Lamar field. It is in Sec. 30-16-10E.

The new Tensas wildcat oiler is the Chicago Mill and Lumber Co. C.M. and L. Co. Fee No. 1, Sec. 9-13-10E, producing 66 barrels of 39-.8-gravity oil on an 8-64-inch choke through perforations at 9136.5-9150.5 feet.

New Expansions Charted By Nation's Businesses

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—Business charted new expansion moves this week. In practically all instances the objectives were the same:

The timing was considered significant in view of recent government-imposed restraints on credit. The credit curbs might put a damper on home building and auto sales, but spending by business on new factories, shopping centers, locomotives and the like could be counted on to keep the economy rolling.

Industry, going into the busy fall season, stepped on the gas.

Steel output for the week was scheduled at 95.1 per cent of capacity, highest since mid-June.

Auto production picked up as Ford and three Chrysler Corp. divisions started pushing out their 1956 models in high volume. U. S. factories turned out 53 per cent more cars than in the previous week, 112 per cent more than in the like week last year.

Detroit experts, scotching rumors of a production slump, said output in the last three months of 1955 would total two million cars, a record.

Retail trade was sharply higher than a year ago; department store sales alone rang up a gain of 11 per cent over the comparable week of 1954. Freight carloadings were up 17½ per cent, soft coal production up 27 per cent. Bank loans to business resumed their upward climb; the stock market pushed to new high levels.

All this was on top of the busiest summer the economy had ever seen.

The Federal Reserve Board published new figures which showed industrial production in August at an all-time high for that month. Employment and retail trade, the board said, were also at "advanced levels."

Of even greater significance was a brand new government estimate of the amount of cash business firms are planning to spend on new plant and equipment.

According to the latest official forecast, U. S. commercial and industrial companies will lay out 7½ billion dollars for expansion in the last three months this year. Total business spending for 1955 should approximate 28 billions. That's 3 per cent more than the companies had figured on when they were planning 1955 expansion programs last March.

Here's a quick rundown of expansion projects that came to light this week:

International Paper Co. — new machinery that will double the originally planned capacity of its not-yet-completed paper mill at Mobile, Ala., making it the world's largest.

General Motors — an 11-million-dollar enlargement of its Dayton, Ohio, brake and bearing plant.

Copperweld Steel Co — a 12-million-dollar expansion of steel-making facilities, mostly at Warren, Ohio.

Plans for expansion in the atomic energy field were reported by Babcock & Wilcox Co., Cook Electric Co. and Sylvania Electric Products Inc. Jones & Laughlin Steel Co. said it is considering an expansion of its Cleveland works that would lift capacity 30 per cent. General Electric Co. said its expansion program this year will involve a record outlay of 165 million dollars.

CSC Withholds Decision On Firing Of State Employe

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 17—UP—The Civil Service Commission has withheld a decision on the dismissal of a former state employe who allegedly married a bigamist and continued living with him even after discovering he had another wife.

The charge was made Friday by the department of institutions against Mrs. Luelva E. Broussard, formerly employed at the State Industrial School for Colored Youth at Baker.

She was fired originally for allegedly aiding two inmates to escape. She claimed the inmates kidnapped and raped her.

However, the institutions department made its charge of living with a bigamist against Mrs. Broussard before the commission hearing yesterday instead of the aiding to escape charge.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By MARION KIRK FISHER

The membership drive for the Monroe Little Theatre, for the twenty fourth season opened on September 1st. With a little over half the allotted time for the drive behind us, it is gratifying to report that the memberships, turned in to date, indicate an increase that is very gratifying. Two weeks of the scheduled drive remain, but it is only fair to remind every one to be prompt about turning in, or making your applications at the earliest possible date. The membership chairman is Mrs. L. H. Carter - phone 3-8509. Again we remind you that the Little Theatre has a limit of a thousand members. When that number is reached, it will necessarily limit attendance at the plays to membership card holders. However, that quota is not yet filled. With the outstanding plays already scheduled for production this season, there is very good reason to urge every one to secure his seat at each of the shows by joining at the earliest possible date. The membership committee is considerately holding open a number of reservations for those old members who have so far neglected to send in their renewals. Please accept this reminder to take care of this piece of business promptly.

As reported previously, the opening curtain time has been advanced to 8:15 p.m. and an early closing curtain has been promised, so that those who attend the shows on week day nights will no longer be inconvenienced by late hours. The board of directors feel confident that our theatre audiences can anticipate a full season of excellent theatre, and every effort has been made to insure that end.

There have been a number of inquiries from newcomers, as to how to become a participant in the Monroe Little Theatre activities. The answer is to make your wishes known by phoning the theatre, 3-4263, your reporter, 7750, or any member of the Little Theatre. If transportation is your problem, it will be easily arranged for you. This is a community theatre, and it belongs to every one in Monroe who is interested, regardless of whether one is a member or not. If you are interested in being a member of the cast, or helping out as a part of the back stage crew, in the lighting, the props, wardrobe, or make-up departments, all one needs to do is to make his interest known. You have here, cordial invitation, and the assurance of a hearty welcome so come out and enter into the fun.

Memo to all membership workers— Please turn in all applications sold to date, to Mr. L. H. Carter, phone 3-8509, or to your team captain. This becomes increasingly urgent as the membership drive advances.

Personal notes .... A right royal "welcome home" to treasurer of the board, "Miss Lilly" Harrington, who arrived in Monroe Friday morning, from her summer travels thru the Scandinavian countries ...... We are happy to report that Russ Kettenring is making satisfactory progress, recovering from very serious burns which he suffered a couple weeks ago. Velma, how come you allowed him to fool with that hot grease? .... (Who said that the best cooks are men?) .... Best wishes, and success to Mary Wilton McHenry, who is a student at S. M. U. this year .... Louis Guerriero has just completed a successful season in summer stock at Lakewood Maine. He uses the stage name of Lou Girard. One of the most interesting roles he played this summer was "Christopher Joyce" in "Mother was a Bachelor," with Billie Burke in the cast.

Air Force Tests New Ways To Get Information From War Prisoners

STEAD AIR FORCE BASE, Nev. Sept. 17—UP— Air Force experts here are testing new methods which the United States may some day use to extract information from prisoners captured in war.

This base has received a lot of publicity recently as a center for training American combat fliers to withstand enemy brainwashing techniques if captured.

But Maj. John Oliphant, an ex-POW himself, told this reporter that Stead also is a center for setting practices the U. S. military enemy captives.

The U. S. military does not, of course, torture prisoners of war. But like any other, this nation does in wartime interrogate POWs with a view to getting all possible information out of them.

Information thus obtained may have a vital bearing on the ultimate verdict: victory or defeat. Methods of getting prisoners to talk have ranged in the long history of war from the physically brutal to the psychologically subtle.

Visiting newsmen were briefed here this week on practices which have actually been used by others, including the Chinese Reds. The Reds employed both physical and mental torture to break their captives.

A few of the 29,000 combat air-crewmen who have been pushed through the 17-day survival training school here have been subjected to Chinese interrogation tricks.

The idea is to prepare them to stand up under such treatment by letting them know what to expect if war comes again and they wind up in Communist POW camps.

But Oliphant confirmed that Stead has a research as well as training function. He said interrogation ideas thought up by Air Force research specialists are tested and evaluated by trained technicians and experienced veterans from time to time.

Presumably, however, they are more civilized than the tortures—such as shoulder-deep immersion in narrow water-filled holes — which were inflicted upon Americans captured in Korea by the Red Chinese.

They are believed to rely more on psychological suggestion. As one Stead officer said, the mere flourishing of a cat-o'-nine tails can be effective—if the prisoner doesn't know he will not be lashed with it.

Weird masks, eerie costumes and strange and fearsome rites in a darkened room sometimes can induce a flesh-crawling horror of the unknown that will loosen a prisoner's tongue.

You can make a delicious coating for chicken you are frying in shallow fat by mixing a quarter cup of flour with a quarter cup of grated Parmesan cheese plus salt, pepper and paprika to taste.

Dream Of Passport To Mars

Oklahomans File Monday For Science Foundation

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 17—UP—Some Oklahoman may seek the first passport to Mars.

Another may pioneer in a laboratory by laying bare the sublime secret of life itself—the chemistry of the living cell.

These are dreams, the dreams of a group of civic leaders who on Monday will file papers at the state capitol to set up the Frontiers of Science Foundation of Oklahoma Inc.

Educators, businessmen and others who believe that Oklahoma's brightest future lies in the development of a scientific climate have united as trustees for the non-profit foundation. It will have statewide backing, they say.

Dean A. McGee, chairman of the civic group which has sponsored the project so far, said Saturday the first objective is "the expansion of science teaching in Oklahoma's high schools."

Other goals will be the expansion of research programs in Oklahoma educational institutions, the training of more scientists at college levels and founding of new scientific laboratories to the state.

A byproduct, not yet fully outlined, will be an international science exposition under local Chamber of Commerce and State Fair Board sponsorship in 1957 — Oklahoma's 50th anniversary.

McGee said the foundation will serve as a coordinating agency, with a small staff at the start. It later may become the vital base for a multi-million-dollar research laboratory in the field of atomic energy.

Civic leaders here have studied the project for nearly two years. It has developed, oddly enough, out of the appointment of McGee as chairman of Oklahoma City's 1957 anniversary planning group.

McGee, scholarly president of Kerr-McGee, Inc., the fast-growing oil company of which U. S. Sen. Robert S. Kerr is board chairman, has led civic leaders here on a series of tours to educational and scientific centers in the East. They have talked to the nation's foremost scientists on a confidential basis. They also visited research labs at the Norman and Stillwater college campuses in Oklahoma.

"Because of the imaginative approach of making our 1957 anniversary the start of a new pioneering era, we have been welcomed by the very top flight research centers and the scientists in charge," McGee said.

McGee said at least $250,000 is available from private foundations for the immediate job of improving high school science training in Oklahoma. Several methods for getting teachers more interested in the field, and of attracting youngsters to take the courses, are being worked out.

Definite plans along this line await the hiring of a foundation director, McGee said. This may occur in a few days. A leading Oklahoma educator may get the job.

Ike Urges More Physical Fitness Work For Youth

DENVER, Sept. 17 —UP—President Eisenhower said Saturday that "we can and should do more than we are now doing to help our young people become physically fit and therefore better qualifed, in all respects, to face the requirements of modern life."

The President's statement, made public by the Summer White House, was addressed to the 139 leaders in a dozen fields of endeavor who have been invited to the chief executive's two-day conference on physical fitness of American youth here Sept. 27-28. The greeting will be printed in the program for the conference, at which Vice President Richard M. Nixon will preside.

The President said in his greeting that "your conference deliberations will help guide the efforts of all of us who are interested in all our children and youth."

The White House announced the list of delegates earlier Saturday. Mr. Eisenhower will be host to a windup dinner and receive the group's tentative recommendations.

Meantime, Mr. Eisenhower broke his own record for showing up early during his current Colorado stay and almost caught the staff at Lowry Air Force Base, his summer headquarters, off guard. He arrived at 7:13 a.m. MST and left at 8:35 a.m. mst. for the golf course.

ITALIAN-STYLE BEANS

As an appetizer, we are partial to cooked dried white beans or chick peas marinated with vinegar, olive oil and a clove of garlic. (The chick peas come in cans and are an excellent product.) Just before serving the beans we add salt and freshly - ground pepper to taste and top them with lots of minced parsley and flat anchovies. If you want to serve these beans on an appetizer tray, we suggest accompanying them with sliced ripe tomatoes, black olives, canned pimiento and romaine.

Copperweld Steel Co — a 12-million-dollar expansion of steel-making facilities, mostly at Warren, Ohio.

Plans for expansion in the atomic energy field were reported by Babcock & Wilcox Co., Cook Electric Co. and Sylvania Electric Products Inc. Jones & Laughlin Steel Co. said it is considering an expansion of its Cleveland works that would lift capacity 30 per cent. General Electric Co. said its expansion program this year will involve a record outlay of 165 million dollars.

CSC Withholds Decision On Firing Of State Employe

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 17—UP—The Civil Service Commission has withheld a decision on the dismissal of a former state employe who allegedly married a bigamist and continued living with him even after discovering he had another wife.

The charge was made Friday by the department of institutions against Mrs. Luelva E. Broussard, formerly employed at the State Industrial School for Colored Youth at Baker.

She was fired originally for allegedly aiding two inmates to escape. She claimed the inmates kidnapped and raped her.

However, the institutions department made its charge of living with a bigamist against Mrs. Broussard before the commission hearing yesterday instead of the aiding to escape charge.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By MARION KIRK FISHER

The membership drive for the Monroe Little Theatre, for the twenty fourth season opened on September 1st. With a little over half the allotted time for the drive behind us, it is gratifying to report that the memberships, turned in to date, indicate an increase that is very gratifying. Two weeks of the scheduled drive remain, but it is only fair to remind every one to be prompt about turning in, or making your applications at the earliest possible date. The membership chairman is Mrs. L. H. Carter - phone 3-8509. Again we remind you that the Little Theatre has a limit of a thousand members. When that number is reached, it will necessarily limit attendance at the plays to membership card holders. However, that quota is not yet filled. With the outstanding plays already scheduled for production this season, there is very good reason to urge every one to secure his seat at each of the shows by joining at the earliest possible date. The membership committee is considerately holding open a number of reservations for those old members who have so far neglected to send in their renewals. Please accept this reminder to take care of this piece of business promptly.

As reported previously, the opening curtain time has been advanced to 8:15 p.m. and an early closing curtain has been promised, so that those who attend the shows on week day nights will no longer be inconvenienced by late hours. The board of directors feel confident that our theatre audiences can anticipate a full season of excellent theatre, and every effort has been made to insure that end.

There have been a number of inquiries from newcomers, as to how to become a participant in the Monroe Little Theatre activities. The answer is to make your wishes known by phoning the theatre, 3-4263, your reporter, 7750, or any member of the Little Theatre. If transportation is your problem, it will be easily arranged for you. This is a community theatre, and it belongs to every one in Monroe who is interested, regardless of whether one is a member or not. If you are interested in being a member of the cast, or helping out as a part of the back stage crew, in the lighting, the props, wardrobe, or make-up departments, all one needs to do is to make his interest known. You have here, cordial invitation, and the assurance of a hearty welcome so come out and enter into the fun.

Memo to all membership workers— Please turn in all applications sold to date, to Mr. L. H. Carter, phone 3-8509, or to your team captain. This becomes increasingly urgent as the membership drive advances.

Personal notes .... A right royal "welcome home" to treasurer of the board, "Miss Lilly" Harrington, who arrived in Monroe Friday morning, from her summer travels thru the Scandinavian countries ...... We are happy to report that Russ Kettenring is making satisfactory progress, recovering from very serious burns which he suffered a couple weeks ago. Velma, how come you allowed him to fool with that hot grease? .... (Who said that the best cooks are men?) .... Best wishes, and success to Mary Wilton McHenry, who is a student at S. M. U. this year .... Louis Guerriero has just completed a successful season in summer stock at Lakewood Maine. He uses the stage name of Lou Girard. One of the most interesting roles he played this summer was "Christopher Joyce" in "Mother was a Bachelor," with Billie Burke in the cast.

Air Force Tests New Ways To Get Information From War Prisoners

STEAD AIR FORCE BASE, Nev. Sept. 17—UP— Air Force experts here are testing new methods which the United States may some day use to extract information from prisoners captured in war.

This base has received a lot of publicity recently as a center for training American combat fliers to withstand enemy brainwashing techniques if captured.

But Maj. John Oliphant, an ex-POW himself, told this reporter that Stead also is a center for setting practices the U. S. military enemy captives.

The U. S. military does not, of course, torture prisoners of war. But like any other, this nation does in wartime interrogate POWs with a view to getting all possible information out of them.

Information thus obtained may have a vital bearing on the ultimate verdict: victory or defeat. Methods of getting prisoners to talk have ranged in the long history of war from the physically brutal to the psychologically subtle.

Visiting newsmen were briefed here this week on practices which have actually been used by others, including the Chinese Reds. The Reds employed both physical and mental torture to break their captives.

A few of the 29,000 combat aircrewmen who have been pushed through the 17-day survival training school here have been subjected to Chinese interrogation tricks.

The idea is to prepare them to stand up under such treatment by letting them know what to expect if war comes again and they wind up in Communist POW camps.

But Oliphant confirmed that Stead has a research as well as training function. He said interrogation ideas thought up by Air Force research specialists are tested and evaluated by trained technicians and experienced veterans from time to time.

Presumably, however, they are more civilized than the tortures—such as shoulder-deep immersion in narrow water-filled holes — which were inflicted upon Americans captured in Korea by the Red Chinese.

They are believed to rely more on psychological suggestion. As one Stead officer said, the mere flourishing of a cat-o'-nine tails can be effective—if the prisoner doesn't know he will not be lashed with it.

Weird masks, eerie costumes and strange and fearsome rites in a darkened room sometimes can induce a flesh-crawling horror of the unknown that will loosen a prisoner's tongue.

You can make a delicious coating for chicken you are frying in shallow fat by mixing a quarter cup of flour with a quarter cup of grated Parmesan cheese plus salt, pepper and paprika to taste.

Dream Of Passport To Mars

Oklahomans File Monday For Science Foundation

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 17—UP—Some Oklahoman may seek the first passport to Mars.

Another may pioneer in a laboratory by laying bare the sublime secret of life itself—the chemistry of the living cell.

These are dreams, the dreams of a group of civic leaders who on Monday will file papers at the state capitol to set up the Frontiers of Science Foundation of Oklahoma Inc.

Educators, businessmen and others who believe that Oklahoma's brightest future lies in the development of a scientific climate have united as trustees for the non-profit foundation. It will have statewide backing, they say.

Dean A. McGee, chairman of the civic group which has sponsored the project so far, said Saturday the first objective is "the expansion of science teaching in Oklahoma's high schools."

Other goals will be the expansion of research programs in Oklahoma educational institutions, the training of more scientists at college levels and founding of new scientific laboratories to the state.

A byproduct, not yet fully outlined, will be an international science exposition under local Chamber of Commerce and State Fair Board sponsorship in 1957 — Oklahoma's 50th anniversary.

McGee said the foundation will serve as a coordinating agency, with a small staff at the start. It later may become the vital base for a multi-million-dollar research laboratory in the field of atomic energy.

Civic leaders here have studied the project for nearly two years. It has developed, oddly enough, out of the appointment of McGee as chairman of Oklahoma City's 1957 anniversary planning group.

McGee, scholarly president of Kerr-McGee, Inc., the fast-growing oil company of which U. S. Sen. Robert S. Kerr is board chairman, has led civic leaders here on a series of tours to educational and scientific centers in the East. They have talked to the nation's foremost scientists on a confidential basis. They also visited research labs at the Norman and Stillwater college campuses in Oklahoma.

"Because of the imaginative approach of making our 1957 anniversary the start of a new pioneering era, we have been welcomed by the very top flight research centers and the scientists in charge," McGee said.

McGee said at least $250,000 is available from private foundations for the immediate job of improving high school science training in Oklahoma. Several methods for getting teachers more interested in the field, and of attracting youngsters to take the courses, are being worked out.

Definite plans along this line await the hiring of a foundation director, McGee said. This may occur in a few days. A leading Oklahoma educator may get the job.

Ike Urges More Physical Fitness Work For Youth

DENVER, Sept. 17 —UP—President Eisenhower said Saturday that "we can and should do more than we are now doing to help our young people become physically fit and therefore better qualifed, in all respects, to face the requirements of modern life."

The President's statement, made public by the Summer White House, was addressed to the 139 leaders in a dozen fields of endeavor who have been invited to the chief executive's two-day conference on physical fitness of American youth here Sept. 27-28. The greeting will be printed in the program for the conference, at which Vice President Richard M. Nixon will preside.

The President said in his greeting that "your conference deliberations will help guide the efforts of all of us who are interested in all our children and youth."

The White House announced the list of delegates earlier Saturday. Mr. Eisenhower will be host to a windup dinner and receive the group's tentative recommendations.

Meantime, Mr. Eisenhower broke his own record for showing up early during his current Colorado stay and almost caught the staff at Lowry Air Force Base, his summer headquarters, off guard. He arrived at 7:13 a.m. MST and left at 8:35 a.m. mst. for the golf course.

ITALIAN-STYLE BEANS

As an appetizer, we are partial to cooked dried white beans or chick peas marinated with vinegar, olive oil and a clove of garlic. (The chick peas come in cans and are an excellent product.) Just before serving the beans we add salt and freshly - ground pepper to taste and top them with lots of minced parsley and flat anchovies. If you want to serve these beans on an appetizer tray, we suggest accompanying them with sliced ripe tomatoes, black olives, canned pimiento and romaine.

Peron Can't Win In The Long Run, Says Writer Expert On Argentina

EDITOR'S NOTE: Thomas R. Curran is an expert on Peron and Argentina. For the last 12 years he has lived in Buenos Aires where he made his headquarters as United Press vice president and general manager for South America. He knows Peron intimately and is widely acquainted among the men who surround him. Last week he reported to United Press world headquarters in New York as vice president and assistant general manager of the U.P.

Even if his troops crush the present rebellion, his power will continue to decline. Somehow and some way in the near future Peron will cease to be the dictator of Argentina.

Every revolt against him—and there have been a half dozen in the last four years—chips away some of the foundation of his power. Eventually the structure will collapse.

The underlying cause for the repeated uprisings against Peron is simple. The people are tired of being ruled by a dictator. They are tired of being spied on. They are tired of having their mail opened and their telephones tapped. They are tired of having friends and relatvies arrested without being able to find out where or why they were jailed.

Under Peron, Argentina has become a thorough police state. There is no free press. Most of the newspapers and all of the radio stations long ago were taken over by the government. There are no civil liberties. People are arrested on whim and held without trial and the penitentiaries are packed with political prisoners. Boy students as young as 14 years are jailed.

After the navy rebellion on June 16 Peron conceded in a public speech that he had abolished democratic liberties but justified the step by saying that it was for the good of the people.

Peron declared a "state of internal war" four years ago after a revolt against him failed. That measure was never repealed. It permitted the president to take any step against the person or property of any Argentine citizen without being responsible to the courts. Recent announcements of a "state of siege" therefore, mean nothing and are only window dressing. Under the "state of internal war" a pedestrian picking up a seditious pamphlet on the sidewalk could be jailed.

The present army movement was supposed to coincide with the revolt of the navy on June 16. The time table was knocked out, however, because bad weather delayed the navy bombing planes. While the navy bombers were wrecking the government house in Buenos Aires three months ago, reports were spread that the provinces involved in Friday's uprising were in rebel hands.

Peron was elected in 1946 on a platform calling for a 20 per cent wage increase to all workers. He won and the 20 per cent increase was made effective. As a result, however, production dropped off because the workers started looking to him for raises and advancement. Those workers formed the bulk of his supporters whom his late wife, Evita, called "descamisados," or shirtless ones.

Even their fervor has been ebbing a little in recent years. Formerly when Peron drove to his office from his home the route was lined with cheering crowds. Today he sleeps in different houses; maintains an irregular schedule to avoid ambush and his automobile is preceded by armed police cars.

Another factor in the widespread discontent is the corruption now rampant in Argentina. Most governmental business is done on the basis of bribes. Official permits are allocated not on merit but on the basis of the biggest pay-off. Peron's brother-in-law, Juan Duarte, who allegedly killed himself, was mentioned as one of the largest beneficiaries of corrupt practices. Duarte went from a lowly soap salesman to one of the richest men in South America.

General Dalmiro Videla Belaguer, who is leading the rebel forces in the conservative Catholic city of Cordoba, was formerly a staunch follower of Peron. He was first mentioned in the news last week when an announcement in Buenos Aires said he was wanted. Another rebel general, Oscar R. Silva, was director general of the military academy when Peron came into power. Later he was ambassador to Madrid.

Hall Says GOP Record Greatest In U. S. History

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich., Sept. 17—UP—Leonard Hall, Republican national chairman, told Michigan Republicans Saturday night the GOP will "present to the voters next year the greatest record of success ever achieved by any party in the history of the nation."

Hall, main speaker at the Republicans' 'Forward to 1956' planning conference, said "more Americans are working in more jobs, making more money with more take-home pay to enjoy more good things of life than ever before."
things of life than ever before."

He said the Eisenhower administration has contributed five major achievements: peace, a powerful defense force, a booming economy, a reversal of the trend toward socialism and major advances in the field of welfare.

More than 600 Republicans gathered at this island resort to plan Michigan's strategy and policies for the 1956 campaign.

Mississippi Man Critically Shot Near Vicksburg

VICKSBURG, Miss., Sept. 17 (AP) — A Claiborne County man was shot critically at a nightspot near here early today and a Vicksburg man was arrested in connection with the shooting.

Warren County Sheriff Owen Ring identified the wounded man as Billy Joe McFatter, 30, of Carlisle and said he was shot in the abdomen.

Ring said he arrested Larry Wixon, 22, and held him on an open charge pending the outcome of McFatter's condition.

Officers said Wixon and an unidentified woman danced near a table where McFatter sat with friends. Wixon pulled a pistol and shot McFatter once.

Then Wixon danced away, tossed his pistol down a hill and returned to await officers.

There was no explanation for the shooting.

HAVEN'T DECIDED

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 17 (UP) — Three Russian officials completing arrangements to ship 61 head of Texas cattle to the Soviet Union, said Saturday they still haven't decided how the cattle will be shipped to Russia.

There are 42 Santa Gertrudis heifers and 19 bulls. They were selected last month by Yonri Golubash, deputy minister for USSR state farms, on his first visit to Texas.

The Commerce Department has approved the sale totalling $61,000.

Stock Market Advances Fourth Straight Week

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—The stock market advanced this week for the fourth consecutive week.

It ended with a final burst of strength that put it into new record high ground.

Despite that glittering showing, the performance was compounded of about 75 per cent caution and 25 per cent selectivity.

On many days it was a case of a few little advances being able to outweigh a few little declines.

The market's sweeping advance now has continued just past the two-year mark, and prices on average again are near an area that in the past has proved to be vulnerable to quick reactions.

With booming business throughout the country, brokers contend, it is no wonder that the stock market has a firm foundation for its record high performance.

The timidity in trading circles appeared to be a short-term affair and largely a matter that affected the professional element in Wall Street.

There were repeated reports in brokerage circles during the week of long-term investment buying, and many of the blue chip stocks favored by such investors pushed up their prices substantially at times.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were Benguet Consolidated Mining up 3/8 at 1 1/2; Cuneo Press up 1 at 11 3/4; Sperry Rand up 1 3/8 at 25 1/8; Phillips Petroleum up 2 1/8 at 75 5/8, and U.S. Steel up 1/8 at 60.

Industrial and utility issues moved up in the bond market this week while foreign dollar liens eased. U. S. government bonds rallied mildly Friday after four days of slight but steady declines.

"Our motto," Adcock said, "is to get enough of the right people to contact enough of the right people, and we will get enough money. Preliminary reports on solicitations to date are most encouraging, and we prophecy that our campaign will go over the top in great style."

Americans Of All Walks Cite Abuses Of The Bill Of Rights, Ask Redress

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (UP) — Americans from all walks of life Saturday exercised their constitutional privilege, cited abuses of the Bill of Rights and asked a congressional subcommittee for redress.

On this 168th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution, the group told the subcommittee some rights guaranteed by the Constitution are being abused by Congress itself, by executive agencies of the government, and by local governments.

A Negro urged that constitutional rights are being "ruthlessly denied" to Negro citizens; a newspaperman said executive departments have withheld information of vital national concern, and a churchman said the House Un-American Activities committee has abused the rights of "many a citizen" before it.

Under the domed roof of the old Supreme Court chamber — which has housed the Senate as well as the high court — the citizens who included a lawyer, teacher, veteran, businessman, [illegible] and [illegible] gave their assessment of the current status of constitutional guarantees.

The group appeared before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee which chose this unusual way of observance of Constitutional Day as a prelude to a study whether constitutional rights are being abused.

J. R. Wiggins, executive editor of the Washington Post and Times Herald and chairman of the freedom of information committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, told how Congress and government agencies have infringed on freedom of the press.

"Transaction not at all touched with military security have been shrouded in secrecy," Wiggins said. "Those that have involved military security have been concealed beyond a time required by national safety."

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said "naked intimidation" has been used to deny many Negroes their constitutional rights.

He mentioned specifically the right of petition and said Negroes have tried to use it to get local school boards to implement the Supreme Court's integration decision. Their petitions, he said, have "touched off in numerous localities a calculated campaign of intimidation and terror, utterly un-American in character and without parallel in our history."

As a result, however, production dropped off because the workers started looking to him for raises and advancement. Those workers formed the bulk of his supporters whom his late wife, Evita, called "descamisados," or shirtless ones.

Even their fervor has been ebbing a little in recent years. Formerly when Peron drove to his office from his home the route was lined with cheering crowds. Today he sleeps in different houses; maintains an irregular schedule to avoid ambush and his automobile is preceded by armed police cars.

Another factor in the widespread discontent is the corruption now rampant in Argentina. Most governmental business is done on the basis of bribes. Official permits are allocated not on merit but on the basis of the biggest pay-off. Peron's brother-in-law, Juan Duarte, who allegedly killed himself, was mentioned as one of the largest beneficiaries of corrupt practices. Duarte went from a lowly soap salesman to one of the richest men in South America.

General Dalmiro Videla Belaguer, who is leading the rebel forces in the conservative Catholic city of Cordoba, was formerly a staunch follower of Peron. He was first mentioned in the news last week when an announcement in Buenos Aires said he was wanted. Another rebel general, Oscar R. Silva, was director general of the military academy when Peron came into power. Later he was ambassador to Madrid.

Hall Says GOP Record Greatest In U. S. History

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich., Sept. 17—UP—Leonard Hall, Republican national chairman, told Michigan Republicans Saturday night the GOP will "present to the voters next year the greatest record of success ever achieved by any party in the history of the nation."

Hall, main speaker at the Republicans' 'Forward to 1956' planning conference, said "more Americans are working in more jobs, making more money with more take-home pay to enjoy more good things of life than ever before."

He said the Eisenhower administration has contributed five major achievements: peace, a powerful defense force, a booming economy, a reversal of the trend toward socialism and major advances in the field of welfare.

More than 600 Republicans gathered at this island resort to plan Michigan's strategy and policies for the 1956 campaign.

Mississippi Man Critically Shot Near Vicksburg

VICKSBURG, Miss., Sept. 17 (AP)—A Claiborne County man was shot critically at a nightspot near here early today and a Vicksburg man was arrested in connection with the shooting.

Warren County Sheriff Owen Ring identified the wounded man as Billy Joe McFatter, 30, of Carlisle and said he was shot in the abdomen.

Ring said he arrested Larry Wixon, 22, and held him on an open charge pending the outcome of Mc Fatter's condition.

Officers said Wixon and an unidentified woman danced near a table where McFatter sat with friends. Wixon pulled a pistol and shot McFatter once.

Then Wixon danced away, tossed his pistol down a hill and returned to await officers.

There was no explanation for the shooting.

HAVEN'T DECIDED

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 17—UP—Three Russian officials completing arrangements to ship 61 head of Texas cattle to the Soviet Union, said Saturday they still haven't decided how the cattle will be shipped to Russia.

There are 42 Santa Gertrudis heifers and 19 bulls. They were selected last month by Youri Golubash, deputy minister for USSR state farms, in his first visit to Texas.

The Commerce Department has approved the sale totalling $64,000.

Stock Market Advances Fourth Straight Week

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—The stock market advanced this week for the fourth consecutive week.

It ended with a final burst of strength that put it into new record high ground.

Despite that glittering showing, the performance was compounded of about 75 per cent caution and 25 per cent selectivity.

On many days it was a case of a few little advances being able to outweigh a few little declines.

The market's sweeping advance now has continued just past the two-year mark, and prices on average again are near an area that in the past has proved to be vulnerable to quick reactions.

With booming business throughout the country, brokers contend, it is no wonder that the stock market has a firm foundation for its record high performance.

The timidity in trading circles appeared to be a short-term affair and largely a matter that affected the professional element in Wall Street.

There were repeated reports in brokerage circles during the week of long-term investment buying, and many of the blue chip stocks favored by such investors pushed up their prices substantially at times.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were Benguet Consolidated Mining up 3/8 at 1 1/2; Cuneo Press up 1 at 11 3/4; Sperry Rand up 1 3/8 at 25 1/8; Phillips Petroleum up 2 1/8 at 75 5/8, and U.S. Steel up 1/8 at 60.

Industrial and utility issues moved up in the bond market this week while foreign dollar liens eased. U. S. government bonds rallied mildly Friday after four days of slight but steady declines.

"Our motto," Adcock said, "is to get enough of the right people to contact enough of the right people, and we will get enough money. Preliminary reports on solicitations to date are most encouraging, and we prophecy that our campaign will go over the top in great style."

Americans Of All Walks Cite Abuses Of The Bill Of Rights, Ask Redress

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—UP—Americans from all walks of life Saturday exercised their constitutional privilege, cited abuses of the Bill of Rights, and asked a congressional subcommittee for redress.

On this 168th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution, the group told the subcommittee some rights guaranteed by the Constitution are being abused by Congress itself, by executive agencies of the government, and by local governments.

A Negro urged that constitutional rights are being "ruthlessly denied" to Negro citizens; a newspapermen said executive departments have withheld information of vital national concern, and a churchman said the House Un-American Activities committee has abused the rights of "many a citizen" before it.

Under the domed roof of the old Supreme Court chamber — which has housed the Senate as well as the high court—the citizens who included a lawyer, teacher, veteran, businessman, workingman, and farmer, gave their assessment of the current status of constitutional guarantees.

The group appeared before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee which chose this unusual way of observance of Constitutional Day as a prelude to a study whether constitutional rights are being abused.

J. R. Wiggins, executive editor of the Washington Post and Times Herald and chairman of the freedom of information committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, told how Congress and government agencies have infringed on freedom of the press.

"Transaction not at all touched with military security have been shrouded in secrecy," Wiggins said. "Those that have involved military security have been concealed beyond a time required by national safety."

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said "naked intimidation" has been used to deny many Negroes their constitutional rights.

He mentioned specifically the right of petition and said Negroes have tried to use it to get local school boards to implement the Supreme Court's integration decision. Their petitions, he said, have "touched off in numerous localities a calculated campaign of intimidation and terror, utterly un-American in character and without parallel in our history."

GENEROUS DONATION—R. C. White, Jr., campaign general chairman and Captain Louis Mockabee, commanding officer, admire check in the amount of $500 contributed by a friend of the Salvation Army. Mail contributions to P. O. Box 624, Monroe.

Anonymous Donor Gives $500 To Salvation Army

Among the returns coming into The Salvation Army campaign office, before solicitation started, was a check in the amount of $500 with a note attached asking that the donor's name not be disclosed.

Lake Providence To Vote Tuesday On Bond Issues

LAKE PROVIDENCE, Sept. 17—(Special)—Lake Providence citizens will vote September 20 on municipal bond issues totalling $2,500,000, according to Mayor W. B. Cone.

All qualified voters in the town may cast their ballots on the $2 million revenue bond issue proposed to expand and improve the municipaly - owned power and water plant, According to city officials the earnings from the utilities have provided a major part of the annual budget. Earnings are expected to increase with the modernization and improvement program.

Qualified voters who are also property owners will vote on additional tax-secured $500,000 bond issues, $410,000 for additions and improvements to sewer system and $95,000 for a new fire station with new fire fighting equipment. Both these issues would be paid off by tax millage.

The Lake Providence tax rate, at 11.5 mills, now one of the lowest in Louisiana, will require only a 3.5 mill increase to carry the two ad valorem bond issues according to New Orleans bonding attorneys who worked out the details of financing the program.

The revenue bond issue in effect amounts to the electorate granting permission for expansion of utilities to meet the heightened demand brought about by growth of the city and increased usage. The plans call for two additional engines, which engineers say will furnish enough power for the needs of the town for at least six or seven years plus reserve for the use of industry that might be attracted to Lake Providence.

The engineers have also designed improvements to the distribution system of rural and urban lines Their plans also include: A central warehouse for storage of materials and equipment for more efficient and effective operation of the departments, addition of 50 new fire hydrants, construction of an additional 250,000 gallon water tank, installation of water meters and laying about eight miles of new water mains.

Mayor Cone said insurance experts advised the improvements in the water and fire departments would be a major factor in obtaining lower fire insurance rates.

The cost of the total improvements would be less than $5 to the average home owner, Mayor Cone said, and the reduction in the insurance rate and the increase in revenue would make the cost much less.

Toggery To Show Its Remodelled Shop Next Week

The Toggery, complete outfitter's for men, has recently completed a remodeling and moderizing of their store, providing greatly increased space, added lines of merchandise and entirely new selling methods.

The deep lobby that formerly opened on DeSiard Street has been replaced by a streamlined entrance that affords a view of the entire store area. Thousands of dollars were spent in this renovation, said Jacke B. Pickens Jr., owner, in constructing a "modern type of front that will make the store easier to shop in and easier to see." Much of the former lobby space has been incorporated into the store area.

The remodeling, which began July 11 and ended the last of August, added 300 square feet of store area to make a total selling area of 2500 square feet.

"We are going to continue to keep pace with the growing pains of Monroe to make our store a must in style for quality men and women who seek the finest in men's apparel," said Pickens.

He stressed his change in selling methods to an open sales program in which the customer is enabled to personally select all of his merchandise. Its like modernizing a grocery into a supermarket with the wares on open display for customer approval.

All merchandise is now displayed in attractive glassed counters and shelves. The store carries a stock of complete men's wear and features only Nationally advertised bands, sid the own.

Th Toggey' remodeling is the first since the men's store opened at its present site in 1940. It has a 25 foot frontage and 100 foot depth.

"We have utmost faith in the continued growth of Monroe," Pickens said, adding that this was the reason why the remodeling has been done at this time.

He stressed the fact that his increased floor space had added to his efficiency in serving the public. Pickens ssid that he has increased his size scales of existing merchandise and added new lines. As an example, we now stock shirts in all sleeve lengths and suits in extra long lengths, he pointed out.

Trial For Slaying

he will ask for the death penalty. Defense attorneys expect him to.

Chatham's questioning of prospective jurors should answer the question The minimum penalty for murder is life imprisonment. The maximum penalty for kidnaping is 10 years imprisonment.

To gain a conviction, the state must fill in details of a period from 2:30 a.m. on a hot summer Sunday when Till was taken, until late afternoon of that same day when Bryant was arrested by Sheriff George Smith of Leflore County. Smith arrested Milam the next day.

Officers reportedly have not found the murder gun, or the spot where Till was slain. If they have witnesses to any events after Till's abduction, they are keeping them secret.

Some doubt has been expressed about identification of the body found in the river. Sheriff Strider doubts it was Till. The boy's mother, Mrs. Mamie Bradley of Chicago, says it was "beyond all shadow of a doubt."

The boy's mother, fearing violence, kept secret her plans for traveling to the trial "as quietly as can get there." She agreed to testify after days of waivering.

"I would just as soon not have too many people meeting me. There's no way to tell whether they are friends or foes."

She scheduled a Sunday appearance at a Cleveland rally of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People before going to Sumner.

The NAACP called Till's death a lynching, the first in the United States since 1951. NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins said Mississippi is willing to keep segregation even "by murdering children."

The state's newspapers replied to that. They condemned the killing and the NAACP's activities in the same breath.

County officers expect a speedy trial. "It'll be over by Wednesday, maybe Tuesday night," one said and asked to remain anonymous. That would mean three days for jury selection, testimony, arguments to the jury and a jury verdict.

The official said the state seems to have little evidence.

Bryant and Milam will stand trial together. "It's all right with us," said defense attorney J. J. Breland "The facts are the same."

Defense attorneys — all five of Sumner's lawyers — did not ask for separate trials.

Opposed by five lawyers, District Attorney Chatham asked for help. Atty. Gen. J. P. Coleman, governor-nominee, appointed a former FBI agent, Robert B. Smith III of Ripley, a special assistant attorney general to help Chatham.

White citizens of Tallahatchie County started a fund to pay the five defense lawyers.

Tallahatchie and Leflore counties are in the rich agricultural Delta. The land is level, almost like a western plain, but broken by trees, rivers and bayous.

Cotton is still king, resisting advances of livestock, rice and industry. The summer sun has popped open millions of cotton bolls and field hands are picking the crop.

The little community of Money—about 100 persons—is 10 miles north of Greenwood in Leflore County. A gravel road winds another 15 miles north to the death site in Tallahatchie County. Gravel roads intersect the southern part of Tallahatchie County, forced into winding routes by the twists and turns of the river and its tributaries.

The state must prove that the Circuit Court in Sumner, in the county's second judicial district, has jurisdiction of the case.

Despite failure to find the spot where Till was murdered, the state may get help from a law which says in part:

". . . But, if on the trial the evidence makes it doubtful in which of several counties or judicial districts . . . including that in which the indictment or affidavit alleges it, the offense was committed, such doubts will not avail to procure the acquittal of the defendant."

1. Acquittal.
2. Guilty as charged, which makes a death sentence mandatory.
3. Guilty with a sentence of life imprisonment.
4. Guilty with disagreement on the penalty. In this case the judge must set a life sentence.

Local citizens are still asking the question:

Was it Till's body that was pulled from the muddy river?

Sheriff Strider said he believed the body was too decomposed to have been in water only three days, the time between Till's disappearance and discovery of the body. And it looked like the body of a mature man, not a 14-year-old boy, the sheriff said.

Mrs. Bradley said she was '"sure beyond the shadow of a doubt" that it was her son whose body arrived in Chicago for burial. The boy's uncle, tenant farmer Mose Wright, was sure.

Leflore county officers thought the question was settled.

A woman who works in the Tallahatchie County Court House said many local people "have suspicions about whether it was his body."

She said these people ask: What was a Chicago Negro boy doing in Money? They seem suspicious, she said.

Wright said he brought Till and a cousin for a two—week visit on the farm after he made a trip to Chicago to attend a funeral.

Till and his four cousins made a Saturday night trip Aug. 27 to Bryant's small store in Money for bubble gum. A cousin said Till whistled at Mrs. Bryant as he left the store.

Maurice Wright, the 16-year-old cousin, said "when he came out of the store, I told him 'boy, you know better than that." He just laughed. He didn't have good sense. He had polio when he was three and he couldn't talk plain," the cousin said.

"You could hardly understand him."

A pounding on Wright's front door awakened the 64 - year - old slim Negro farmer about 2:30 a.m. the next morning.

A man with a pistol in one hand and a flashlight in the other stood at the door, Wright said.

"Is the boy from Chicago here?" Wright said the white man asked. Wright said he and two men went to a rear room of the house and got Till.

Wright asked where they were taking Till. "Nowhere if he is not the right one," the man replied.

The elderly farmer said he asked the white men to "just take him out in the yard and whip him and I'll be satisfied."

The men took Till to their waiting car, the old man said. They asked someone in the car if Till was the right boy and a woman's voice replied that it was. They put Till into the car and drove away, the Negro man said.

Sheriff Smith said Bryant admitted taking the boy from Wright's house but he said Till was released unharmed after taking him to Bryant's store where Mrs. Bryant said Till was the wrong boy.

The alarm spread Sunday when Till did not return to his uncle's home.

Sheriff Smith arrested Bryant late Sunday afternoon and the half brother the next day. He charged them with kidnaping and said he feared "there's been foul play."

Deputy sheriffs began a search and concentrated on the river area. About dawn on Aug. 31 a teen-aged fisherman saw the feet and legs of a human body sticking from the water. He notified Sheriff Strider.

"We went down and found the body hung in a drift," the sheriff related. "We found there was a gin fan, weighing about 150 pounds. It was tied around his neck with a piece of wire."

Officers quickly said Bryant and Milam would be charged with murder. But they skipped the charge and went straight to the Grand Jury which met in regular session the following Monday, Labor Day. The Grand Jury returned murder and kidnaping indictments Tuesday.

Bryant and Milam pleaded innocent. The state and defense attorneys agreed on a quick trial and the two men did not ask for bond. They were transferred from Greenwood to the Charleston jail.

Before the Grand Jury met, rumors of an invasion by Chicago Negroes seeking revenge and a flood of threatening telephone calls caused Sheriff Smith to ask Gov. Hugh White for National Guard help. Greenwood guard units were called out Sunday night, Sept. 4. They returned home Tuesday morning just before the indictments were returned in Sumner.

No unusual number of Chicago cars carrying Negroes were found and the telephone calls dropped off.

Storage Declines On Farm Products, Division Reports

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 17 —UP— Louisiana's casualty and surety division said Saturday storage on agricultural products are going down.

George Menefee, division chairman, said the reduction should result from the lowered rates on bonding of agricultural warehouses. The reduction will be effective Oct. 3 and will be on a graded basis, depending on the size of the bond.

The estimated overall cut is a little over 25 percent, Menefee said. The cut was made because of the state's "outstanding experience record with warehousemen" and because of "excellent administrative work" by the state warehouse commission.

Toggery To Show Its Remodelled Shop Next Week

The Toggery, complete outfitter's for men, has recently completed a remodeling and moderizing of their store, providing greatly increased space, added lines of merchandise and entirely new selling methods.

The deep lobby that formerly opened on DeSiard Street has been replaced by a streamlined entrance that affords a view of the entire store area. Thousands of dollars were spent in this renovation, said Jacke B. Pickens Jr., owner, in constructing a "modern type of front that will make the store easier to shop in and easier to see." Much of the former lobby space has been incorporated into the store area.

The remodeling, which began July 11 and ended the last of August, added 300 square feet of store area to make a total selling area of 2500 square feet.

"We are going to continue to keep pace with the growing pains of Monroe to make our store a must in style for quality men and women who seek the finest in men's apparel," said Pickens.

He stressed his change in selling methods to an open sales program in which the customer is enabled to personally select all of his merchandise. Its like modernizing a grocery into a supermarket with the wares on open display for customer approval.

All merchandise is now displayed in attractive glassed counters and shelves. The store carries a stock of complete men's wear and features only Nationally advertised bands, sid the own.

Th Toggey' remodeling is the first since the men's store opened at its present site in 1940. It has a 25 foot frontage and 100 foot depth.

"We have utmost faith in the continued growth of Monroe," Pickens said, adding that this was the reason why the remodeling has been done at this time.

He stressed the fact that his increased floor space had added to his efficiency in serving the public. Pickens ssid that he has increased his size scales of existing merchandise and added new lines. As an example, we now stock shirts in all sleeve lengths and suits in extra long lengths, he pointed out.

Morrison, Barham Endorse Tugwell For Re-Election

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 17 —(Special)—Chep Morrison and Cap Barham, candidates for Governor and Lt. Governor, announced today that they will endorse A. P. Tugwell for reelection as State Treasurer.

In his statement, Morrison said:

"Lt. Governor Barham and myself, along with our friends and supporters throughout Louisiana, have decided to endorse the candidacy of A. P. Tugwell for reelection as State Treasurer.

"It is our feeling that he has been doing an excellent job in the administration of his office.

"The State Treasurer is one of the most important officials in our State Government and we feel that Mr. Tugwell is highly qualified to continue to handle this position.

"We feel that he enjoys the faith and confidence of the vast majority of the people of our State as well as our leaders in every walk of life.

"Therefore, we are pleased to announce our endorsement of his candidacy and hope that other candicates for Governor and Lt. Governor will do likewise."

Acknowledging Morrison's and Barham's endorsement of his candidacy, A. P. Tugwell made the following statement:

"For Mayor Morrison's endorsement which he like other candicates, has tendered me on a voluntary basis without any strings attached, I am most sincerely grateful. The Mayor is aware of the fact that I propose to conduct my campaign as an independent candidate, seeking support from every quarter and the endorsement of all political leaders, groups, and factions, as I have done in the past. For this reason, I cannot, of course, in fairness to other candidates, align myself with any specific ticket. This, I know, the Mayor will understand. Should he, however, be successful in his bid for the governorship, he will have my cooperation to the fullest extent. Of this I am sure he has no doubt.

"I think that it is generally understood throughout the State that I expect to stand for reelection to my present office, but official announcement of my candidacy will be made in due course."

Armless, Partially Blind World War II Veteran Opens Law Office In Winnfield

By YVONNE HERRON
(State Editor)

WINNFIELD, La. Sept 17 — Just a country lawyer without a shingle ....

The World War II veteran's ambition is to be a "good, successful country lawyer."

To date his engraved shingle hasn't arrived. Taking it's place in an office building that faces the old Winn parish courthouse is a sign reading "James L. Womack—Attorney."

But Jim hasn't let a handicap stand in his way. On May 28, 1955 he was graduated fourth in his class from the L. S. U. law school and was elected to membership in the national honorary legal fraternity, The Order of the Coif.

On June 10 he was admitted to the state bar and on June 20th to the Winn parish bar association. Since June 20th Jim has been a full fledged lawyer. Commenting on opening his law practice he said "the first day I heard problems that I never dreamed existed. I started scratching in the law books," Jim stressed.

Jim has had several cases since court opened on Sept 6. "I was scared then and I still am," he added. "The whole bar association has been very kind and helpful to me and I get their sanction and approval on matters which bear a great deal of responsibility," Jim thoughtfully said as he lit a cigarette.

The 30 year-old man, who has conquered a tremendous handicap so as to give just a slight acquaintance the feeling that he has no handicap, considers it no great feat. He believes that everyone is handicapped in one respect or another.

Anyone in the young lawyer's presence is put at ease. He easily puts his feet on the desk when talking and takes out a cigarette which he lights with what seems to be no effort at all.

Friday Jim represented a Negro man who was charged with criminal negligence. The judge sentenced the client to pay cost of court and damages. A fine was suspended.

In commenting on the case Jim said "I felt as though I had helped the man and what was even more he felt the same way."

It's been a long road back for Jim Womack. Born and raised at Sikes, near Winnfield, he returned home after many months in veteran hospitals throughout the country.

He came home to a wonderful wife, the former Geraldine Abrams, Jim said. He had no plans and he came home to retire. But Jim Womack today says that he was not satisfied with doing nothing and then he decided to go to college after trying a VA Farm Training Program.

After long consideration Jim decided that of all the professions he had considered, he felt that he could accomplish more in the legal profession with the handicap he possessed.

In September, 1950 he entered Louisiana Tech at Ruston to study pre-law. The VA and many of his teachers thought that pre-law was not the answer for a person having the handicap that Jim possessed. Nevertheless, he fooled all of them by making good grades and the determination he had to keep on with his studies. His wife enrolled in a number of classes and took notes to help him along. Also he hired readers for a number of courses.

After leaving La. Tech the Womack's moved to Baton Rouge. Throughout law school Jim used readers. Ordinarily it took four hours of preparation for a one hour class. Reviews for test were difficult because everything couldn't be covered by oral reading. To take tests he had the tests read to him and then used a recording machine to dictate the answers to the professor. His student day would stretch from 8 a.m. to around midnight with an hour off for lunch.

With the prepartory work over Jim Womack is a busy man. Numerous times every day he walks from his office to the courthouse across the street, but stops many times to talk with a group of men sitting on the courthouse square or with a friend he passes on the street.

Outside of the law practice Jim has joined civic clubs and is an active participant. He also has a four - year - old son adopted that keeps him busy.

Jim's new world has begun. Tomorrow has a bigger and brighter scope. Thinking ahead Jim said "You never know in the future I may take a crack at politics."

Mrs. Albritton Studies Music In Eight Countries

Studying music in eight countries was the summer experience of Mrs. Florence Z. Allbritton, a member of the Northeast State music faculty. Granted sabbatical leave for the trip, Mrs. Allbritton joined a music tour sponsored by Temple University of Philadelphia, Pa. She was the only person from Louisiana in the group which included representatives from twenty-seven states.

The program comprised study and musical features, such as operas, concerts and visits to famous places in eight countries—England, Holland, France, Italy, and Belgium. Principal cities and many smaller ones were on the itinerary.

The greater part of the summer was spent in London, Paris, Rome, Venice, Lucerne, Salzburg and Brussels.

Features included musical festivals in Rome, Lucerne, Salzburg and Bayruth. Operas were heard in Amsterdam, Cheltenham, Paris, Rome, where they were presented in the famous baths of Caracalla, Venice, Verona, Salzburg and Bayruth, where "Parsifal" was heard in the renowned Wagner Festival House.

Concert specialties included symphonies and string quartets, concerts of native music in Switzerland, Austria and Belgium, and organ music in the Cathedral of St. Germaine des Pres in Paris. Many cathedral organs were heard, some in complete concerts and others in worship.

Church services were attended at Catholic and Protestant churches, and when the group was in transit, worship was held on trains by one of the tour directors.

The itinerary also included plays in London, Stratford-on-Avon, Paris and Salzburg, visits to museums of several famous mucicians and playwrights, art galleries, castles, palaces, and water trips.

Some of the study was devoted to lectures by authorities in the United States on music and related subjects and seminars held by tour leaders on performances. The group attended master classes at the Conservatory of the Chigi Academy in Venice.

The class went "singing all through Europe," Mrs. Allbritton said. Americans were given receptions and other fine courtesies, she added.

BARRIER TO ANIMALS

The Grand Canyon, says the National Geographic Society, acts as a barrier to many of the smaller animals living on the rims. Because of varying climatic conditions, animals on one rim are of different species or subspecies from their relatives on the other, only a few miles away. This is true of squirrels, gophers, porcupines, rabbits, wood rats, chipmunks, coyotes, rattlesnakes and gopher snakes. Classic examples are the Kaibab squirrel of the north rim and its counterpart of the south rim, the Abert squirrel. Both have tufted ears and a chestnut stripe down the back. But the Kaibab has a white tail and black underparts while the Abert has white belly parts and a gray tail.

SAFETY NEWS NEGLECTED

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 —UP— Basil L. Walters, executive editor of the Knight Newspapers, Inc., said Friday that "traffic safety is the most neglected news story in America." Walters called upon editors to cooperate with their local safety officials and help stimulate drives to reduce accidents.

East German Reds, Not Adenauer, To Get Credit For Freeing Prisoners

MOSCOW, Sept. 17 (AP)—When Russia releases German prisoners still held here the credit will go to the East German Communist government and not to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

This was made plain at a news conference tonight by East German Dep. Premier Otto Nuschke, who told reporters:

"We East Germans started negotiating with Soviet authorities about these prisoners as far back as 1948, and since then have achieved the release of 18,000 prisoners. We did it long ago. Adenauer did nothing. The German Democratic Republic did the spadework and what Premier Bulganin promised Adenauer about the release of more prisoners was only the result of our work."

Nothing was said about the number of prisoners. The West Germans claim there are tens of thousands; the Russians put the figure last week at 9,626.

The white-haired, white-goateed deputy premier was reporting on the first day's negotiations between Premier Otto Grotewohl's East German delegation and the Soviet government in the Kremlin. He said the negotiatons "will last as long as necessary."

Present at the negotiations was Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin, who has been missing from official functions for two days because of illness, described by one Soviet official as a result of overwork and by another as the flu. Bulganin looked tired, but "quite recovered from his illness," a German spokesman said.

Nuschke said the East Germans were seeking an agreement with the Soviet Union which would serve the cause of German unification, European security and world peace.

He virtually called Adenauer a liar in public. He said Adenauer, at a news conference upon his return to Bonn from Moscow, said the Russians had not asked him to abandon any of West Germany's committments to NATO and the West European Union. But Nuschke declared Bonn's attachment to the Paris agreements for rearmament constituted an obstacle to German reunification.

When reporters reminded Nuschke that Adenauer had said the Russians did not demand West Germany's severance of bonds with the West, Nuschke laughed and responded:

"That is what Adenauer said, but nobody believes Adenauer."

Nuschke made it obvious the East Germans intend to take credit for anything Adenauer may have achieved in his negotiations with the Soviet leaders earlier this week. Adenauer got a promise for release of German war prisoners in return for an exchange of ambassadors.

Nuschke said the East Germans had been dealing long and laboriously not only on the prisoner release issue but also on the questions of German reunification and trade. He said the East Germans were negotiating now for a new agreement with the Soviet Union in the interests of security and peace and aiming for a "step by step" solution of the German problem.

Nuschke concluded by deriding what he called a ridiculous Adenauer statement that scarcely 10 per cent of East Germany's population supported the East.

But Jim hasn't let a handicap stand in his way. On May 28, 1955 he was graduated fourth in his class from the L. S. U. law school and was elected to membership in the national honorary legal fraternity, The Order of the Coif.

On June 10 he was admitted to the state bar and on June 20th to the Winn parish bar association. Since June 20th Jim has been a full fledged lawyer. Commenting on opening his law practice he said "the first day I heard problems that I never dreamed existed. I started scratching in the law books," Jim stressed.

Jim has had several cases since court opened on Sept 6. "I was scared then and I still am," he added. "The whole bar association has been very kind and helpful to me and I get their sanction and approval on matters which bear a great deal of responsibility," Jim thoughtfully said as he lit a cigarette.

The 30-year-old man, who has conquered a tremendous handicap so as to give just a slight acquaintance the feeling that he has no handicap, considers it no great feat. He believes that everyone is handicapped in one respect or another.

Anyone in the young lawyer's presence is put at ease. He easily puts his feet on the desk when talking and takes out a cigarette which he lights with what seems to be no effort at all.

Friday Jim represented a Negro man who was charged with criminal negligence. The judge sentenced the client to pay cost of court and damages. A fine was suspended.

In commenting on the case Jim said "I felt as though I had helped the man and what was even more he felt the same way."

It's been a long road back for Jim Womack. Born and raised at Sikes, near Winnfield, he returned home after many months in veteran hospitals throughout the country.

He came home to a wonderful wife, the former Geraldine Abrams, Jim said. He had no plans and he came home to retire. But Jim Womack today says that he was not satisfied with doing nothing and then he decided to go to college after trying a VA Farm Training Program.

After long consideration Jim decided that of all the professions he had considered, he felt that he could accomplish more in the legal profession with the handicap he possessed.

In September, 1950 he entered Louisiana Tech at Ruston to study pre-law. The VA and many of his teachers thought that pre-law was not the answer for a person having the handicap that Jim possessed. Nevertheless, he fooled all of them by making good grades and the determination he had to keep on with his studies. His wife enrolled in a number of classes and took notes to help him along. Also he hired readers for a number of courses.

After leaving La. Tech the Womack's moved to Baton Rouge. Throughout law school Jim used readers. Ordinarily it took four hours of preparation for a one hour class. Reviews for test were difficult because everything couldn't be covered by oral reading. To take tests he had the tests read to him and then used a recording machine to dictate the answers to the professor. His student day would stretch from 8 a.m. to around midnight with an hour off for lunch.

With the prepartory work over Jim Womack is a busy man. Numerous times every day he walks from his office to the courthouse across the street, but stops many times to talk with a group of men sitting on the courthouse square or with a friend he passes on the street.

Outside of the law practice Jim has joined civic clubs and is an active participant. He also has a four - year - old son adopted that keeps him busy.

Jim's new world has begun. Tomorrow has a bigger and brighter scope. Thinking ahead Jim said "You never know in the future I may take a crack at politics."

Although Jim's shingle hasn't arrived he's in there pitching, and no one doubts that "there is a man who'll make it."

Mrs. Albritton Studies Music In Eight Countries

Studying music in eight countries was the summer experience of Mrs. Florence Z. Allbritton, a member of the Northeast State music faculty. Granted sabbatical leave for the trip, Mrs. Allbritton joined a music tour sponsored by Temple University of Philadelphia, Pa. She was the only person from Louisiana in the group which included representatives from twenty-seven states.

The program comprised study and musical features, such as operas, concerts and visits to famous places in eight countries—England, Holland, France, Italy, and Belgium. Principal cities and many smaller ones were on the itinerary.

The greater part of the summer was spent in London, Paris, Rome, Venice, Lucerne, Salzburg and Brussels.

Features included musical festivals in Rome, Lucerne, Salzburg and Bayruth. Operas were heard in Amsterdam, Cheltenham, Paris, Rome, where they were presented in the famous baths of Caracalla, Venice, Verona, Salzburg and Bayruth, where "Parsifal" was heard in the renowned Wagner Festival House.

Concert specialties included symphonies and string quartets, concerts of native music in Switzerland, Austria and Belgium, and organ music in the Cathedral of St. Germaine des Pres in Paris. Many cathedral organs were heard, some in complete concerts and others in worship.

Church services were attended at Catholic and Protestant churches, and when the group was in transit, worship was held on trains by one of the tour directors.

The itinerary also included plays in London, Stratford-on-Avon, Paris and Salzburg, visits to museums of several famous mucicians and playwrights, art galleries, castles, palaces, and water trips.

Some of the study was devoted to lectures by authorities in the United States on music and related subjects and seminars held by tour leaders on performances. The group attended master classes at the Conservatory of the Chigi Academy in Venice.

The class went "singing all through Europe," Mrs. Allbritton said. Americans were given receptions and other fine courtesies, she added.

BARRIER TO ANIMALS

The Grand Canyon, says the National Geographic Society, acts as a barrier to many of the smaller animals living on the rims. Because of varying climatic conditions, animals on one rim are of different species or subspecies from their relatives on the other, only a few miles away. This is true of squirrels, gophers, porcupines, rabbits, wood rats, chipmunks, coyotes, rattlesnakes and gopher snakes. Classic examples are the Kaibab squirrel of the north rim and its counterpart of the south rim, the Abert squirrel. Both have tufted ears and a chestnut stripe down the back. But the Kaibab has a white tail and black underparts while the Abert has white belly parts and a gray tail.

SAFETY NEWS NEGLECTED

MOSCOW, Sept. 17 (AP)—When Russia releases German prisoners still held here the credit will go to the East German Communist government and not to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

This was made plain at a news conference tonight by East German Dep. Premier Otto Nuschke, who told reporters:

"We East Germans started negotiating with Soviet authorities about these prisoners as far back as 1948, and since then have achieved the release of 18,000 prisoners. We did it long ago. Adenauer did nothing. The German Democratic Republic did the spadework and what Premier Bulganin promised Adenauer about the release of more prisoners was only the result of our work."

Nothing was said about the number of prisoners. The West Germans claim there are tens of thousands; the Russians put the figure last week at 9,626.

The white-haired, white-goateed deputy premier was reporting on the first day's negotiations between Premier Otto Grotewohl's East German delegation and the Soviet government in the Kremlin. He said the negotiatons "will last as long as necessary."

Present at the negotiations was Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin, who has been missing from official functions for two days because of illness, described by one Soviet official as a result of overwork and by another as the flu. Bulganin looked tired, but "quite recovered from his illness," a German spokesman said.

Nuschke said the East Germans were seeking an agreement with the Soviet Union which would serve the cause of German unification, European security and world peace.

He virtually called Adenauer a liar in public. He said Adenauer, at a news conference upon his return to Bonn from Moscow, said the Russians had not asked him to abandon any of West Germany's committments to NATO and the West European Union. But Nuschke declared Bonn's attachment to the Paris agreements for rearmament constituted an obstacle to German reunification.

When reporters reminded Nuschke that Adenauer had said the Russians did not demand West Germany's severance of bonds with the West, Nuschke laughed and responded:

"That is what Adenauer said, but nobody believes Adenauer."

Nuschke made it obvious the East Germans intend to take credit for anything Adenauer may have achieved in his negotiations with the Soviet leaders earlier this week. Adenauer got a promise for release of German war prisoners in return for an exchange of ambassadors.

Nuschke said the East Germans had been dealing long and laboriously not only on the prisoner release issue but also on the questions of German reunification and trade. He said the East Germans were negotiating now for a new agreement with the Soviet Union in the interests of security and peace and aiming for a "step by step" solution of the German problem.

Nuschke concluded by deriding what he called a ridiculous Adenauer statement that scarcely 10 per cent of East Germany's population supported the East.

United States Marine Band To Appear Oct. 30

CROSSETT, Sept. 17 (Special)—"The Presidents' Own" United States Marine band, America's oldest and foremost military symphonic band, will be presented in concert at the Civic auditorium on October 30. The concert will be sponsored by the Crossett Band Booster Club and will feature both matinee and evening performances.

This year the Marine band celebrates the 157th year of its founding in 1798. It is the oldest active musical organization in this country. President John Adams approved a bill for its establishment in 1708 and it continues today as the official While House band, having earned the familiar title, "The Presidents' Own."

In its long history, only 19 leaders have conducted the Marine band. The present leader, Captain Albert Schoepper, became a member of the band in 1934 and was then featured as a violin soloist. His phenomenal memory for music, his authoritative style of conducting and his genius for organization made him the logical choice for leader when Lt. Col. William F. Santelmann retired in May of 1955.

Soloists who will be heard at the Crossett concert include Charles Erwin, cornet soloist; Bramwell Smith, cornet soloist; Glenn Dodson, trombone soloist; Antony Materrese, marimba soloist and T. Irvin Redcay, pianist.

Ten counties in the United States each produced more than 10,000,000 tons of coal in 1953.

Hardy Files Suit For Liquor Permit

The Ouachita police jury landed in fourth district court Saturday as James P. Hardy hammered away at the members in their refusal to give him a permit to sell beer and whiskey on a Winnsboro road spot.

It did not take Judge Jesse Heard long to affix his signature to a devolutive appeal application.

Hardy, with an attorney, appeared before the police jury last Wednesday with a request for a license. He said that although he had conformed with all legal requirements, the group voted him down in his request for a license. His attorney at that time told members of the jury that he and his client were going into court, "and the last time I took you into court it cost the taxpayers of Ouachita parish $75."

"The refusal of the permit is because of neighborhood and religious pressure from outside sources, neither of which is just and legal cause for not granting the application, the district court petition charged.

The case was docketed for Sept. 26.

The First Major Contribution to your Driving Safety

Ford Lifeguard Design

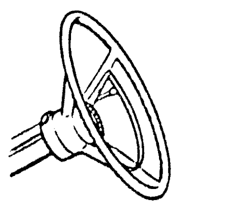
FOR MORE THAN TWO YEARS, Ford engineers, in cooperation with universities, medical associations and safety experts, have been working to determine the principal causes of accident injuries. They established that most serious injuries occur in three major areas.

These are: when the driver is thrown against the steering column; when passengers are thrown forward against hard surfaces inside the car; or when they are thrown completely out of the car.

With this vital information in hand, the challenge was to find really effective safeguards to reduce these hazards.

Dr. R. Arnold Griswold, Chairman of the Committee on Trauma, American College of Surgeons, has asked:

"Why isn't it possible to design a steering wheel which would cushion the effect of a crash instead of leaving only a post which damages the driver's chest?"



Ford's answer to the problem is this new Lifeguard steering wheel, mounted on a shorter steering post, and with three uniformly spaced spokes connecting the rim to the hub.

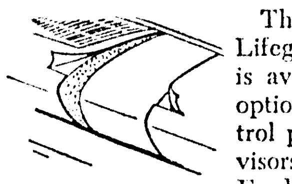
The deep-center construction acts as a cushion under impact . . . to decelerate the driver and give him extra protection against striking the steering column.

But how about the other crash danger factors? How about those hard interior surfaces which have practically no "give."

Here's what Dr. Frank H. Mayfield of the Sub-committee on Traffic Injury Prevention, of the Committee on Trauma, American College of Surgeons, has to say:

". . . If there were some practical way to cover the instrument panel with adequate energy-absorbing material, there is not the slightest doubt that head injuries would be lessened or, in many cases prevented."

Ford engineers not only found a practical way to pad the panel, but, after hundreds of tests, selected a special expanded plastic material that is unique in its ability to absorb shock. It is so effective that an egg dropped from a roof top onto a one-inch thick pad of this material did not break.



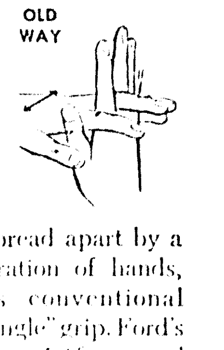
This new Ford Lifeguard padding is available, as an option, for the control panel and sun visors of all 1956 Ford models.

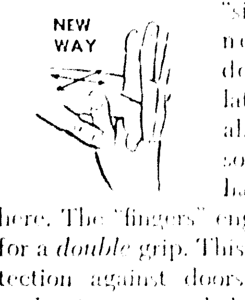
Now, what about the dangers outside—when doors spring open under impact and occupants are thrown from the car? Tabulations of over 1000 accident reports at Cornell University Medical College show that 20.1% of accident injuries are caused this way. Further, the chance of injury is twice as great if a person is thrown from the car.

Mr. John O. Moore, Director, Crash Injury Research at Cornell Medical College, makes clear what he thinks:

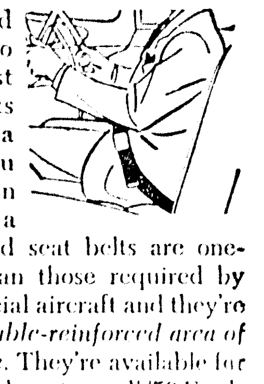
"We have found that passenger ejection from open doors more than doubles chances of serious injury. For double protection against being thrown from a car, safety door locks, in addition to safety belts, are a most significant step forward in passenger protection."

Let's take the door latches first. It is possible for conventional, single-grip door latches, strong as they are, to disengage when the door and door-post are temporarily spread apart by a severe jolt. The illustration of hands, above, demonstrates conventional "single" grip. Ford's new Lifeguard double-grip door latch, standard in all '56 Fords, works something like the hand clasp shown here. The "fingers" engage and overlap for a double grip. This gives added protection against doors springing open under impact—to help keep you safer within the car.





As for seat belts, most authorities agree that seat belts, properly made, properly installed and conscientiously worn, could substantially reduce the annual highway death toll!



That's why Ford engineers set out to develop the most effective seat belts ever offered in a car. To keep you from being thrown from your seat in a sudden stop, Ford seat belts are one-third stronger than those required by CAA for commercial aircraft and they're anchored to a double-reinforced area of the floor structure. They're available for both front and back seats on all '56 Fords at modest extra cost.

You'll be delighted with the entire new Ford trend for '56. It's Thunderbird through and through. For not only does the new '56 Ford offer Thunderbird styling . . . but Thunderbird power, too!

Of course, we're anxious to have you see the new 1956 Ford . . . and to Test Drive it, too. So, won't you please accept our cordial invitation to visit your Ford Dealer on Friday, September 23rd? Make your plans . . . today!

See and drive the '56 FORD Friday, September 23rd

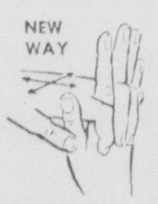
Now, what about the dangers outside—when doors spring open under impact and occupants are thrown from the car? Tabulations of over 1000 accident reports at Cornell University Medical College show that 20.1% of accident injuries are caused this way. Further, the chance of injury is twice as great if a person is thrown from the car.

Mr. John O. Moore, Director, Crash Injury Research at Cornell Medical College, makes clear what he thinks:

"We have found that passenger ejection from open doors more than doubles chances of serious injury. For double protection against being thrown from a car, safety door locks, in addition to safety belts, are a most significant step forward in passenger protection."

Let's take the door latches first. It is possible for conventional, single-grip door latches, strong as they are, to disengage when the door and door-post are temporarily spread apart by a severe jolt. The illustration of hands, above, demonstrates conventional "single" grip. Ford's new Lifeguard double-grip door latch, standard in all '56 Fords, works something like the hand clasp shown here. The "fingers" engage and overlap for a double grip. This gives added protection against doors springing open under impact—to help keep you safer within the car.



As for seat belts, most authorities agree that seat belts, properly made, properly installed and conscientiously worn, could substantially reduce the annual highway death toll!

That's why Ford engineers set out to develop the most effective seat belts ever offered in a car. To keep you from being thrown from your seat in a sudden stop, Ford seat belts are one-third stronger than those required by CAA for commercial aircraft and they're anchored to a double-reinforced area of the floor structure. They're available for both front and back seats on all '56 Fords at modest extra cost.

You'll be delighted with the entire new Ford trend for '56. It's Thunderbird through and through. For not only does the new '56 Ford offer Thunderbird styling . . . but Thunderbird power, too!

Of course, we're anxious to have you see the new 1956 Ford . . . and to Test Drive it, too. So, won't you please accept our cordial invitation to visit your Ford Dealer on Friday, September 23rd? Make your plans . . . today!

See and drive the '56 FORD Friday, September 23rd

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Hunters can complain about posted lands, irritable farmers, or growing game controls, but chances are its the hunter, or shotgun toters who call themselves sportsmen, who are their own worst enemies, and they're the guys who make it tough on those hunters who respect other people's rights.

Even before the season opened Friday (on doves only), the sheriff's department was getting complaints from angry landowners. They had a right to be mad. Trespassers had left the gates open in their fields. Horses and cattle had strayed, and one complainant near Sterlington hadn't found his two horses after two days.

How can they blame the hunters when the season wasn't open? Well, apparently these were cases of "dove scouts," looking over the lay of the land and the stock of birds so they would know where to go Friday afternoon. It would serve them right to find a "Posted, Keep Out" sign staring them in the face when they approached the same gates on hunting day.

The hunting range is diminishing steadily as the population of hunters increases. Sportsmen bemoan the growing parade of posted signs in apparently good hunting territory, but usually those posted signs are the result of sins of hunters against the land owners.

Lots of farmers still allow hunting on their property, and its to the best interest of the sportsmen to respect their rights. Ask permission to hunt. Sometimes you'll be refused and should accept such refusals with courtesy. But even the farmer who lets you hunt his fields and woods likes to be asked. He likes to know who is working his woods, and it might be a good idea for the farmer to check those hunting licenses. He can reject without hesitation those licenseless poachers.

To keep the farmer on your side, be careful where you shoot and what you are shooting at. Be careful of his livestock and don't fire in the direction of his buildings. Keep his gates closed. Don't climb his fences and start them sagging. If game is scarce, don't get the farmer's family jumpy by starting target practice, shooting at anything that suits your fancy.

Some might give us a laugh for this stand on common courtesy to the farmer by vowing they know of a 10,000-acre tract owned by a gas company or a timber company that isn't as squeamish as a sodbuster, and they can hunt on that tract any time they please. They'll find out how important the scattered farms are to the hunter when that 10,000 acres is the only place left on which to hunt and the more than 13,000 hunters who annually buy licenses here alone all try to make that same hunting ground. It won't be a hunting territory long.

We are in receipt of a letter from a Baltimore attorney and fan of Monroe's Wayne Causey, and enclosed was a clipping from a Baltimore newspaper in which Hank Majeski was lauding the rookie infielder as "the most phenomenal kid I've seen in baseball, and I've been around a long time," and included was comment from Oriole manager Paul Richards that "Causey definitely plays a big role in our plans for the future. I'm pretty sure now that he'll at least be a good major league player one of these days. He may turn out to be even better than we think."

Causey's hometown fans should even appreciate the letter from his Baltimore fan. So, here it is:

"Dear Mr. Martin:

"The enclosed clipping from the Baltimore Sun of Sunday September 11, 1955, should give you a good idea of the way Monroe's Wayne Causey has been received in Baltimore as a member of the Orioles. He has done an amazing job for a boy of his age in jumping right from high school ball to the majors. Wayne has made some of the best fielding plays of the year in the infield and his hitting is coming along very well. (He had a long triple the same day that this article appeared in the paper.)

"As might be expected from those closest to his own age, Wayne is about the most popular of the Orioles with the younger fans. On "Kids' Day" he is mobbed by autograph hunters none of whom I have even seen him refuse.

"With all this acclaim and popularity Wayne is still a shy and modest boy, seemingly completely unspoiled by his success. I can speak from personal observation since he has been a frequent guest in our home here in Baltimore since his arrival.

"As mentioned in the article Wayne will play baseball at Baranquilla, Columbia, this winter. Up until the time this decision was made he was anxiously awaiting his return to Monroe when the American League season ends, intending to complete at least one college semester at Northeast prior to next season. However, he has accepted the change in his plans quite philosophically although now he will only have about one week at home before leaving for South America. He should arrive in Monroe the last week in September unless the Orioles release him a little earlier in view of the fact that he will have to report at Miami, Florida, on October 1 for the flight to Baranquilla.

"Wayne's father, with whom I have corresponded, will have seen the enclosed article as he receives the Baltimore papers. As a justifiably proud parent he may even have called it to your attention before this. In any event I am sure that you will be pleased to know, as the article points out—"He's doing all right for an 18-year-old, this Causey boy."

"Yours very truly,
"John O. Herrmann"

Lions Overpower Tribe With Great Reserve Strength

The Southeastern Lions, defending Gulf States Conference champion, hurled too much reserve power at the Northeast State College Indians at Brown Stadium last night, and scored at least once in every period to win, 40-0.

The Redskins held the Lion starters o nan even basis for most of the first quarter, but just before it ended, in came an almost entire fresh team, and they proved more powerful than the first.

Reserve halfback Wayne Strickland broke loose for 75 yards and a touchdown to put the Lions in front by a 6-0 margin, and they added two more in the second, plus two extra points, to take a 20-0 halftime lead.

Their first TD of the period came when sub Bob Mahbouz skirted his right end for 21 yards, and the next on a three-yard pass from sub quarterback Win Crawford, an outstanding passer and runner all evening for the winners to end Tony March.

The Tribe made no threats in the first half, compiling only two first downs before intermission, and no penetrations. The only feature during the first two periods was the long-range punting of Tommy Leos, who averaged 41 yards on his kicks.

Halfback Mickey Catalanotto went five yards for the first of the two third quarter Southeastern tallies, and end Rod Vizinat took a short pass from starting quarterback Ken Ridgewell for the second. Extra points were added by Ken Bailey after both six-pointers, to even his score with Crawford, who had booted the pair in teh second quarter.

The final Lion score, in the fourth period, came on another pass, this one going 14 yards, from Ridgewell to Pete Moore.

Aubrey Wade and Leos, as well as quarterback Wallace Hargon, sparked the Tribe offense; and big Sherrod McKoin, Dalton Smith, and Joe Driskill, the latter in particular, played a bangup defensive game.

Eagle Day Leads Johnny Rebs Past Georgia, 26-13

ATLANTA, Sept. 17 (AP)—Eagle Day, supposedly shunted to the bench on pre-season performance, passed, punted and ran the Mississippi Rebels to a 26-13 victory over a slower Georgia team tonight in a Southeastern Conference football opener.

The 23-year-old senior quarterback, reported to have lost his job to John Wallace Blalock, staged a brilliant offensive show in the aftermath of Georgia Tech's defensive struggle against Miami in a day half of Atlanta's football double header.

Day passed to halfback Billy Kinard for two first half touchdowns and ran six yards in the fourth quarter for the clincher score. When his attack stalled, Day kept Georgia pinned against its goal line with punts that had eyes for the coffin corners. He booted two out of bounds inside the five in the second half and on another his ends downed the Georgia receiver inches from the goal.

Mississippi, which hadn't kicked a field goal since 1932, got two from fullback Paige Cothren in the second quarter, one for 27 yards and one for 21.

Georgia treated the 30,000 grant field crowd to both its touchdowns in the first period. Halfback Conrad Manisera capped a 71-yard drive with a six-yard scoring sweep in the first quarter. A pass from second string quarterback Dick Young to halfback Jimmy Orr covered 46 yards and gave Georgia a brief 13-12 lead in the second period.

Mississippi	6	12	0	7—	26
Georgia	7	6	0	0—	13

Mississippi scoring: touchdowns, Kinard 2 (14, pass-run from Day and 7 pass from Day), Day (6 run). Field goals, Cothren 2 (27 and 21). Conversions, Cothren 2.

COLUMBIA, S. C. Sept. 17 (AP)—South Carolina's stellar halfbacks Carl Brazell and Mike Caskey led their Atlantic Coast Conference team to a 26-7 opening game football win over sturdy Wofford College before 15,000 here tonight.

Brazell scored on an 87-yard run in the second South Carolina play from scrimmage. Caskey followed up with a 44-yard scoring jaunt the next time South Carolina got the ball after intercepting a Wofford pass.

Quarterbacks Jack Hall and Bobby Bunch, filling in for injured Mackie Prickett, steered South Carolina to two more touchdowns. Wofford sandwiched its score in between.

L. S. U. Trounces Kentucky For 19 To 7 Upset Victory

By W. B. RAGSDALE Jr.

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 17 — Louisiana State University, showing off a new coach, out hustled, out played and outscored mighty Kentucky 19-7 tonight in the season's football opener for both squads.

All-American candidate Bob Hardy was humiliated by the hustling LSU squad, having a key pass intercepted and being thrown for losses in the fourth quarter.

Dietzel, 31-year-old former Army and Kentucky assistant, displayed a well coached, scrappy team that fought back viciously every time Kentucky threatened.

When Hardy hit his favorite target, end Howie Schnellenberger, for a 16-yard scoring pass in the third quarter, May ripped off his long scoring dash on the next kickoff.

LSU took the first quarter kickoff and gobbled up 79 yards in 16 plays for a touchdown, Burns tossed 13 yards to Gonzales for the score. Durwood Graham missed the extra point.

LSU struck again in the third period after fullback O. K. Ferguson recovered a Kentucky fumble on the Wildcat 46. The Tigers scored four plays later as Burns again hit Gonzales for the marker. This time the pass covered 29 yards. Graham's kick was good.

Score by quarters:

LSU	6	0	13	0—	19

LSU Scoring: Touchdowns, Gonzales 2 (13, hass from Burns; 29, pass from Burns); May (95, kickoff return). Conversion: Graham.

Vidalia's Vikings Bow Before Port Gibson Club, 14-6

VIDALIA, La., Sept. 17 (Special) Port Gibson, Miss., proved too much for the Vidalia Vikings here last night, downing them 14-6 in Vidalia's first appearance at home.

The fracas was close throughout, but two lengthy runs by Port Gibson's fast back, Johne Dale, told the difference. In the second quarter Dale shook loose after receiving a Vidalia punt and sped 75 yards to score. Nesbit ran over the extra point for Port Gibson.

Later in the same period, Dale tore off tackle into the clear and 55 yards to paydirt. Nesbit again bucked over to make the half time count 14-0.

Vidalia came back stronger in the second half and quarterback Billy Calvert slipped over tackle for 35 yards for six points. The extra try was missed.

Vidalia entertains Fayette here next Friday night.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17 (AP)—Fullback Bob Grier and third string halfback Dick Bowen and a blazing sun took the steam out of California today and enabled Pitt to storm from behind for a 27-7 victory over the Bears, with three touchdowns in the final period in an intersectional football battle.

Bowen, a 196-pound sophomore from nearby White Oak, Pa., and Grier, a towering senior from Massillon, Ohio, each scored twice. Bowen took a six-yard heave from quarterback Corney Salvaterra for one score and raced eight yards in the final period for another. Grier plunged over from the one in the second quarter and scooted 32 yards in the final period.

The Bears scored their lone touchdown in the first 3½ minutes of the game after a fumble by Grier on California's 45. Four plays later Hugh Maguire, a second string quarterback and a surprise starter, passed 30 yards to Bill Vallotton for the touchdown. Vallotton recovered the fumble by Grier. Nick Poppin converted.

A shirt-sleeved crowd of 34,976 saw the Panthers, making their 1955 debut under new coach, Johnny Michelosen, outplay the Bears in every department. The heat—92 degrees—and the humidity—44 per cent-made the field comparable to a steam cabinet.

The Panthers tied the score a 7-7 with only two seconds remaining in the second quarter. Salvaterra's 35-yard pass to Corky Cost set up the touchdown with Grier going over from the one two plays later. Darrell Lewis, a left-footed kicker converted.

Score by quarters:

California	7	0	0	0—	7
Pitt	0	7	0	20—	27

Pitt scoring—touchdowns: Grier 2 (1, plunge; 32, run); Bowen 2 (6, pass from Salaterra; 8, run). Conversions — Lewis, Bagamery Paluck.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Hunters can complain about posted lands, irritable farmers, or growing game controls, but chances are its the hunter, or shotgun toters who call themselves sportsmen, who are their own worst enemies, and they're the guys who make it tough on those hunters who respect other people's rights.

Even before the season opened Friday (on doves only), the sheriff's department was getting complaints from angry landowners. They had a right to be mad. Trespassers had left the gates open in their fields. Horses and cattle had strayed, and one complainant near Sterlington hadn't found his two horses after two days.

How can they blame the hunters when the season wasn't open? Well, apparently these were cases of "dove scouts," looking over the lay of the land and the stock of birds so they would know where to go Friday afternoon. It would serve them right to find a "Posted, Keep Out" sign staring them in the face when they approached the same gates on hunting day.

The hunting range is diminishing steadily as the population of hunters increases. Sportsmen bemoan the growing parade of posted signs in apparently good hunting territory, but usually those posted signs are the result of sins of hunters against the land owners.

Lots of farmers still allow hunting on their property, and its to the best interest of the sportsmen to respect their rights. Ask permission to hunt. Sometimes you'll be refused and should accept such refusals with courtesy. But even the farmer who lets you hunt his fields and woods likes to be asked. He likes to know who is working his woods, and it might be a good idea for the farmer to check those hunting licenses. He can reject without hesitation those licenseless poachers.

To keep the farmer on your side, be careful where you shoot and what you are shooting at. Be careful of his livestock and don't fire in the direction of his buildings. Keep his gates closed. Don't climb his fences and start them sagging. If game is scarce, don't get the farmer's family jumpy by starting target practice, shooting at anything that suits your fancy.

Some might give us a laugh for this stand on common courtesy to the farmer by vowing they know of a 10,000-acre tract owned by a gas company or a timber company that isn't as squeamish as a sodbuster, and they can hunt on that tract any time they please. They'll find out how important the scattered farms are to the hunter when that 10,000 acres is the only place left on which to hunt and the more than 13,000 hunters who annually buy licenses here alone all try to make that same hunting ground. It won't be a hunting territory long.

We are in receipt of a letter from a Baltimore attorney and fan of Monroe's Wayne Causey, and enclosed was a clipping from a Baltimore newspaper in which Hank Majeski was lauding the rookie infielder as "the most phenomenal kid I've seen in baseball, and I've been around a long time," and included was comment from Oriole manager Paul Richards that "Causey definitely plays a big role in our plans for the future. I'm pretty sure now that he'll at least be a good major league player one of these days. He may turn out to be even better than we think."

Causey's hometown fans should even appreciate the letter from his Baltimore fan. So, here it is:

"Dear Mr. Martin:

The enclosed clipping from the Baltimore Sun of Sunday September 11, 1955, should give you a good idea of the way Monroe's Wayne Causey has been received in Baltimore as a member of the Orioles. He has done an amazing job for a boy of his age in jumping right from high school ball to the majors. Wayne has made some of the best fielding plays of the year in the infield and his hitting is coming along very well. (He had a long triple the same day that this article appeared in the paper.)

As might be expected from those closest to his own age, Wayne is about the most popular of the Orioles with the younger fans. On "Kids' Day" he is mobbed by autograph hunters none of whom I have even seen him refuse.

"With all this acclaim and popularity Wayne is still a shy and modest boy, seemingly completely unspoiled by his success. I can speak from personal observation since he has been a frequent guest in our home here in Baltimore since his arrival.

"As mentioned in the article Wayne will play baseball at Baranquilla, Columbia, this winter. Up until the time this decision was made he was anxiously awaiting his return to Monroe when the American League season ends, intending to complete at least one college semester at Northeast prior to next season. However, he has accepted the change in his plans quite philosophically although now he will only have about one week at home before leaving for South America. He should arrive in Monroe the last week in September unless the Orioles release him a little earlier in view of the fact that he will have to report at Miami, Florida, on October 1 for the flight to Baranquilla.

"Wayne's father, with whom I have corresponded, will have seen the enclosed article as he receives the Baltimore papers. As a justifiably proud parent he may even have called it to your attention before this. In any event I am sure that you will be pleased to know, as the article points out—"He's doing all right for an 18-year-old, this Causey boy."

"Yours very truly,
"John O. Herrmann"

Lions Overpower Tribe With Great Reserve Strength

The Southeastern Lions, defending Gulf States Conference champion, hurled too much reserve power at the Northeast State College Indians at Brown Stadium last night, and scored at least once in every period to win, 40-0.

The Redskins held the Lion starters o nan even basis for most of the first quarter, but just before it ended, in came an almost entire fresh team, and they proved more powerful than the first.

Reserve halfback Wayne Strickland broke loose for 75 yards and a touchdown to put the Lions in front by a 6-0 margin, and they added two more in the second, plus two extra points, to take a 20-0 halftime lead.

Their first TD of the period came when sub Bob Mahbouz skirted his right end for 21 yards, and the next on a three-yard pass from sub quarterback Win Crawford, an outstanding passer and runner all evening for the winners to end Tony March.

The Tribe made no threats in the first half, compiling only two first downs before intermission, and no penetrations. The only feature during the first two periods was the long-range punting of Tommy Leos, who averaged 41 yards on his kicks.

Halfback Mickey Catalanotto went five yards for the first of the two third quarter Southeastern tallies, and end Rod Vizinat took a short pass from starting quarterback Ken Ridgewell for the second. Extra points were added by Ken Bailey after both six-pointers, to even his score with Crawford, who had booted the pair in teh second quarter.

The final Lion score, in the fourth period, came on another pass, this one going 14 yards, from Ridgewell to Pete Morre.

Aubrey Wade and Leos, as well as quarterback Wallace Hargon, sparked the Tribe offense; and big Sherrod McKoin, Dalton Smith, and Joe Driskill, the latter in particular, played a bangup defensive game.

Eagle Day Leads Johnny Rebs Past Georgia, 26-13

ATLANTA, Sept. 17 (AP)—Eagle Day, supposedly shunted to the bench on pre-season performance, passed, punted and ran the Mississippi Rebels to a 26-13 victory over a slower Georgia team tonight in a Southeastern Conference football opener.

The 23-year-old senior quarterback, reported to have lost his job to John Wallace Blalock, staged a brilliant offensive show in the aftermath of Georgia Tech's defensive struggle against Miami in a day half of Atlanta's football double header.

Day passed to halfback Billy Kinard for two first half touchdowns and ran six yards in the fourth quarter for the clincher score. When his attack stalled, Day kept Georgia pinned against its goal line with punts that had eyes for the coffin corners. He booted two out of bounds inside the five in the second half and on another his ends downed the Georgia receiver inches from the goal.

Mississippi, which hadn't kicked a field goal since 1932, got two from fullback Paige Cotheren in the second quarter, one for 27 yards and one for 21.

Georgia treated the 30,000 grant field crowd to both its touchdowns in the first period. Halfback Conrad Manisera capped a 71 - yard drive with a six-yard scoring sweep in the first quarter. A pass from second string quarterback Dick Young to halfback Jimmy Orr covered 46 yards and gave Georgia a brief 13-12 lead in the second period.

L. S. U. Trounces Kentucky For 19 To 7 Upset Victory

By W. B. RAGSDALE Jr.

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 17 — Louisiana State University, showing off a new coach, out hustled, out played and outscored mighty Kentucky 19-7 tonight in the season's football opener for both squads.

All-American candidate Bob Hardy was humiliated by the hustling LSU squad, having a key pass intercepted and being thrown for losses in the fourth quarter.

When Hardy hit his favorite target, end Howie Schnellenberger, for a 16-yard scoring pass in the third quarter, May ripped off his long scoring dash on the next kickoff.

LSU took the first quarter kickoff and gobbled up 79 yards in 16 plays for a touchdown. Burns tossed 13 yards to Gonzales for the score. Durwood Graham missed the extra point.

LSU struck again in the third period after fullback O. K. Ferguson recovered a Kentucky fumble on the Wildcat 46. The Tigers scored four plays later as Burns again hit Gonzales for the marker. This time the pass covered 29 yards. Graham's kick was good.

Score by quarters:

Vidalia's Vikings Bow Before Port Gibson Club, 14-6

VIDALIA, La., Sept. 17 (Special) Port Gibson, Miss., proved too much for the Vidalia Vikings here last night, downing them 14-6 in Vidalia's first appearance at home.

The fracas was close throughout, but two lengthy runs by Port Gibson's fast back, Johne Dale, told the story. In the second quarter Dale shook loose after receiving a Vidalia punt and sped 75 yards to score. Nesbit ran over the extra point for Port Gibson.

Later in the same period, Dale tore off tackle into the clear and 55 yards to paydirt. Nesbit again bucked over to make the half time count 14-0.

Vidalia came back stronger in the second half and quarterback Billy Calvert slipped over tackle for 35 yards for six points. The extra try was missed.

Vidalia entertains Fayette here next Friday night.

Pitt Uses Last Quarter Surge To Top California

By JO EBRADIS

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17 (AP)—Fullback Bob Grier and third string halfback Dick Bowen and a blazing sun took the steam out of California today and enabled Pitt to storm from behind for a 27-7 victory over the Bears, with three touchdowns in the final period in an intersectional football battle.

Bowen, a 196-pound sophomore from nearby White Oak, Pa., and Grier, a towering senior from Massillon, Ohio, each scored twice. Bowen took a six-yard heave from quarterback Corney Salvaterra for one score and raced eight yards in the final period for another. Grier plunged over from the one in the second quarter and scooted 32 yards in the final period.

The Bears scored their lone touchdown in the first 3½ minutes of the game after a fumble by Grier on California's 45. Four plays later Hugh Maguire, a second string quarterback and a surprise starter, passed 30 yards to Bill Vallotton for the touchdown. Vallotton recovered the fumble by Grier. Nick Poppin converted.

A shirt-sleeved crowd of 34,976 saw the Panthers, making their 1955 debut under new coach, Johnny Michelson, outplay the Bears in every department. The heat—92 degrees—and the humidity—44 per cent-made the field comparable to a steam cabinet.

The Panthers tied the score a 7-7 with only two seconds remaining in the second quarter. Salvaterra's 35-yard pass to Corky Cost set up the touchdown with Grier going over from the one two plays later. Darrell Lewis, a left-footed kicker converted.

Score by quarters:

Two Touchdowns In Final Quarter Win For Greenies

By JAMES SAGGUS

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 17 (AP) — Gene Newton, a deft 165-pound sophomore quarterback, injected fire into a sagging Tulane offense today, passing for a first quarter touchdown and guiding two scoring drives in the third for a 20-7 victory over Virginia Military Institute.

After two Tulane offensive tries under Caruso proved punchless, Newton took over and the complexion of the game changed almost immediately.

He spearheaded a 61-yard scoring drive late in the first quarter, setting up long runs by fullback Ronnie Quillian as his faking drew the defense out of position. He capped the drive with a 31-yard scoring pass to sophomore halfback Al Cottrell.

Newton proved a dangerous runner, carrying eight times for 32 yards. Several of his broken field dashes came after he was aparently trapped far behind the line.

The power running of Quillian, a 188 pound junior letterman, matched Newton's quarterbacking. He scored both third quarter touchdowns with line crashes of 10 and two yards. Guard Emmett Zelenka converted after each.

VMI scored midway the fourth quarter on a four - yard dash through guard by halfback Charles Lavery. Sam Woolwine booted the conversion.

Cottress, halfback Otis Gilmore and Quillian were Newton's running aces. While Quillian softened the center of the outmanned VMI line, Newton sent Gilmore and Cottrell around end effectively.

Quillian carried 13 times for 79 yards, Gilmore 10 times for 68 yards and Cottrell 9 times for 55 yards.

Halfback Bobby Jordan kept an otherwise lifeless VMI running attack moving in the first three periods. He hit the Tulane line effectively on cross bucks and finished the day with 25 yards on six tries.

After Newton marched Tulane to its first touchdown, Tulane coach Andy Pilney began experimenting with his lineup and Newton sat out most of the second quarter. He returned in the third and Tulane scored twice in little more than five minutes.

A 29-yard drive following a short punt by Jordan brought the first score. Gilmore picked up 16 yards to the 10 from where Quillian bowled over the defense for the score.

A fumble recovery on the 30 set up the second drive, which Newton kept going with a 14-yard sprint on a split T play. Quillian picked up the final two yards through the middle.

Tulane's offense ground out 311 yards rushing to VMI's 73. The winners led 16 to four in first downs. The edge could have been greater had Pilney left his most effective runners in the game.

Penalties cut short several Tulane drives as the Greenies drew 13 for 161 yards. VMI was penalized three times for 15.

After the game, Pilney praised Newton's play, saying he "pleased us very much with his performance."

Line stars were guards Tony Sardisco and James Zimmerle of Tulane and end Nick Evanusich of VMI.

Quarterback Jimmy Foster's passing threatened the Tulane goal several times late in the fourth quarter but a leaky VMI line allowed him to be trapped on several crucial plays.

Neville Opposes Marion's Eleven Thursday Night

Marion of Lake Charles is figured to give the Neville Tigers one of their roughest games of the season here Thursday night at Neville Stadium, mated on past performance and the fact that the south Louisiana school was in the Class A state playoffs last year.

Lay Camp, former veteran coach of the high flying Bossier Bearcats of a few years ago, is the Marion mentor who has always been known for his emphasis on having a hard hitting and blocking ball club. Loy has gained a comparable reputation in south Louisiana to that which he enjoyed in the northern part of the state when Bossier ruled "AA" football some time back.

Amoung the outstanding players of Marion are halfback Ted Groff and fullback — guard Andrew Savoie. The latter has averaged nine yards per try in rushing. The Lake Charles team is expected to give Neville a tough, scrappy battle come Thursday. The Tigers played this team in 1953, beating it 14-0, but the camp at 600 Forsythe avenue is anticipating a much tougher game this year.

The Monroyans have won two out of three games this season but are far from being optimistic to any sizable extent with an even rougher slate left to play. Even though the Monroe Tigers have not been plagued with too many serious injuries this season there still is a considerable amount of minor scrapes which have caused anxiety and frustration.

An outstanding wrestling program is slated for Tuesday night at Gus Kallio's Arena, with three matches carded; a single between George Curtis and newcomer Mike Paduccias; a girls semi-finals with Dot Dotson going against Belle Starr; and the main event, a tag championship match between present southern title - holders Jack and George Curtis and Paduccias and Red Roberts.

Paduccias, in his initial appearance here, is reputed to be an even stronger wrestler than Mario Calento, and is rated by Roberts as a better tag partner. The Greek is a former Northwestern University gridde. He and the younger Curtis open the evening's program with a ten - minute time limit one-faller.

Misses Dotson and Starr, both of whom have appeared here previously, will be remembered as two of the better - lookers in the girl wrestling profession. Each is highly talented too, and both are experienced grapplers.

In the championship tag feature, the Curtis brothers successfully defended their crown here recently against Roberts and Rube Wright, and although they won by disqualification over Roberts and Calento when they were southern champs, they had a rugged evening. Therefore if Paduccias is better than Calento, they should indeed have a rugged time Tuesday.

The girl's match is slated for the best-of-three falls, with a one-hour time limit; and the feature requires the same number of falls to win, with a 90-minute limit.

Porker Deception Trips Hurricanes By 21 To 6 Count

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 17 (AP)—Two well-executed fakes by quarterback George Walker were the key factors in two spectacular touchdowns—a 64-yard run by Henry Moore and a 34-yard pass play—as the University of Arkansas downed the Tulsa football team 21-6 here today.

After Tulsa had taken a 6-0 lead, and had pressed constantly in the first quarter, fullback Moore dashed through the center of the line on a delayed play, broke into the clear and outran Tulsa halfback Kenny Kmet to the goal. The long run, plus the first of Walker's three conversions, put Arkansas head 7-6.

Arkansas scored again in the third quarter—primarily because of a stout defense. Walker tossed a scoring pass to halfback Ronnie Underwood after Arkansas had recovered a Tulsa fumble.

Tulsa, aided by stiff wind, maintained control in the first quarter and twice drove to within one yard of the Arkansas goal. Both drives came after weak Arkansas punts into the wind.

Tulsa	6 0 0 0— 6
Arkansas	0 7 7 7—21

Tulsa scoring—touchdowns: Scholtz (1 run).

Sicily Islanders Defeat Crowville By 27 To 6 Score

CROWVILLE, La., Sept. 17 — (Special) — B. K. Miller, Billy Wiggins, and Sam Crawford shared the scoring laurels as the Sicily Island Tigers, rebounding from their loss to the mighty Ferriday Bulldogs a week ago, socked the Crowville Bulldogs here last night, 27 - 6.

Miller and Wiggins each accounted for two Sicily Island touchdowns, and Crawford kicked for three extra points.

Engineers Win On 'Breaks'

ATLANTA, Sept. 17 (AP)—Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets, combining a healthy helping of luck with typical speed and smartness, whipped powerful Miami 14-6 today in a corking season opening football headliner.

Tech turned a fair catch interference ruling into a 48-yard touchdown run by halfback Paul Rotenberry and an intercepted pass into a 25-yard scoring gallop by center Jimmy Morris, a sellout crowd of 40,000 and television viewers watched the nation's first color football telecast.

Except for those two examples of cash-in-the-breaks football, Miami's Hurricanes dominated the game with their ground - gulping "drive" series, running more than twice as many plays as Tech.

But, except for fullback Don Bosseler's third period 13 - yard touchdown run, the Miamians couldn't find the end zone. Ed Oliver missed the conversion attempt and until less than a minute of the game remained it looked as if that one point would be the margin of Tech victory.

Miami went into the game rated 9th nationally in the Associated Press pre-season poll. Tech was ranked 10th.

Tech's first score came in the sixth minute when fullback Ken Owen signaled for a fair catch of a Miami punt, but was tackled by Joe Kohut. As the umpire threw down the flag to mark the foul, Rotenberry grabbed the bounding ball and went 48 yards behind good blocking.

Miami	0 0 6 0— 6
Ga. Tech	7 0 0 7—14

Miami scoring: Touchdown, Bosseler (13, run).

After Newton marched Tulane to its first touchdown, Tulane coach Andy Pilney began experimenting with his lineup and Newton sat out most of the second quarter. He returned in the third and Tulane scored twice in little more than five minutes.

A 29-yard drive following a short punt by Jordan brought the first score. Gilmore picked up 16 yards to the 10 from where Quillian bowled over the defense for the score.

A fumble recovery on the 30 set up the second drive, which Newton kept going with a 14-yard sprint on a split T play. Quillian picked up the final two yards through the middle.

Tulane's offense ground out 311 yards rushing to VMI's 73. The winners led 16 to four in first downs. The edge could have been greater had Pilney left his most effective runners in the game.

Penalties cut short several Tulane drives as the Greenies drew 13 for 161 yards. VMI was penalized three times for 15.

After the game, Pilney praised Newton's play, saying he "pleased us very much with his performance."

Line stars were guards Tony Sardisco and James Zimmerle of Tulane and end Nick Evanusich of VMI.

Quarterback Jimmy Foster's passing threatened the Tulane goal several times late in the fourth quarter but a leaky VMI line allowed him to be trapped on several crucial plays.

Neville Opposes Marion's Eleven Thursday Night

Marion of Lake Charles is figured to give the Neville Tigers one of their roughest games of the season here Thursday night at Neville Stadium, based on past performance and the fact that the south Louisiana school was in the Class A state playoffs last year.

Lay Camp, former veteran coach of the high flying Bossier Bearcats of a few years ago, is the Marion mentor who has always been known for his emphasis on having a hard hitting and blocking ball club. Loy has gained a comparable reputation in south Louisiana to that which he enjoyed in the northern part of the state when Bossier ruled "AA" football some time back.

Amoung the outstanding players of Marion are halfback Ted Groff and fullback — guard Andrew Savoie. The latter has averaged nine yards per try in rushing. The Lake Charles team is expected to give Neville a tough, scrappy battle come Thursday. The Tigers played this team in 1953, beating it 14-0, but the camp at 600 Forsythe avenue is anticipating a much tougher game this year.

The Monroyans have won two out of three games this season but are far from being optimistic to any sizable extent with an even rougher slate left to play. Even though the Monroe Tigers have not been plagued with too many serious injuries this season there still is a considerable amount of minor scrapes which have caused anxiety and frustration.

An outstanding wrestling program is slated for Tuesday night at Gus Kallio's Arena, with three matches carded; a single between George Curtis and newcomer Mike Paduccias; a girls semi-finals with Dot Dotson going against Belle Starr; and the main event, a tag championship match between present southern title - holders Jack and George Curtis and Paduccias and Red Roberts.

Paduccias, in his initial appearance here, is reputed to be an even stronger wrestler than Mario Calento, and is rated by Roberts as a better tag partner. The Greek is a former Northwestern University gridde. He and the younger Curtis open the evening's program with a ten - minute time limit one-faller.

Misses Dotson and Starr, both of whom have appeared here previously, will be remembered as two of the better - lookers in the girl wrestling profession. Each is highly talented too, and both are experienced grapplers.

In the championship tag feature, the Curtis brothers successfully defended their crown here recently against Roberts and Rube Wright, and although they won by disqualification over Roberts and Calento when they were southern champs, they had a rugged evening. Therefore if Paduccias is better than Calento, they should indeed have a rugged time Tuesday.

The girl's match is slated for the best-of-three falls, with a one-hour time limit; and the feature requires the same number of falls to win, with a 90-minute limit.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 17 (AP)—Two well-executed fakes by quarterback George Walker were the key factors in two spectacular touchdowns—a 64-yard run by Henry Moore and a 34-yard pass play—as the University of Arkansas downed the Tulsa football team 21-6 here today.

After Tulsa had taken a 6-0 lead, and had pressed constantly in the first quarter, fullback Moore dashed through the center of the line on a delayed play, broke into the clear and outran Tulsa halfback Kenny Kmet to the goal. The long run, plus the first of Walker's three conversions, put Arkansas head 7-6.

Arkansas scored again in the third quarter—primarily because of a stout defense. Walker tossed a scoring pass to halfback Ronnie Underwood after Arkansas had recovered a Tulsa fumble.

Tulsa, aided by stiff wind, maintained control in the first quarter and twice drove to within one yard of the Arkansas goal. Both drives came after weak Arkansas punts into the wind.

Tulsa	6 0 0 0— 6
Arkansas	0 7 7 7—21

Tulsa scoring—touchdowns: Scholtz (1 run).

Ferriday Rolls Over Newellton In 49-20 Battle

FERRIDAY, La., Sept. 17 (Special) — Scoring in every period, the Ferriday High School Bulldogs, defending state Class A football champions, registered their 27th consecutive victory here last night by defeating the Newellton Bears, 49 to 20.

The Bulldogs, after grabbing a 28-0 halftime lead, played it almost even with the Bruins for the last half.

Guy Hill led Ferriday scoring with touchdown runs of 45, 35, and ten yards. Donnie Day ran 15 yards for one touchdown and scored another on a 35 - yard pass from Jimmy Marks.

Day contributed six extra points and Hill one, all kicking.

Terry Head brought Newellton its first touchdown on a 25 - yard run and he passed 15 yards to Jimmy Clark for another. Sam Duchesne took a seven - yard pass from Parnell Barfield for the Bears' middle touchdown. Barfield kicked two points.

Engineers Win On 'Breaks'

ATLANTA, Sept. 17 (AP)—Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets, combining a healthy helping of luck with typical speed and smartness, whipped powerful Miami 14-6 today in a corking season opening football headliner.

Tech turned a fair catch interference ruling into a 48-yard touchdown run by halfback Paul Rotenberry and an intercepted pass into a 25-yard scoring gallop by center Jimmy Morris, a sellout crowd of 40,000 and television viewers watched the nation's first color football telecast.

Except for those two examples of cash-in-the-breaks football, Miami's Hurricanes dominated the game with their ground - gulping "drive" series, running more than twice as many plays as Tech.

But, except for fullback Don Bosseler's third period 13 - yard touchdown run, the Miamians couldn't find the end zone. Ed Oliver missed the conversion attempt and until less than a minute of the game remained it looked as if that one point would be the margin of Tech victory.

Miami went into the game rated 9th nationally in the Associated Press pre-season poll. Tech was ranked 10th.

Tech's first score came in the sixth minute when fullback Ken Owen signaled for a fair catch of a Miami punt, but was tackled by Joe Kohut. As the umpire threw down the flag to mark the foul, Rotenberry grabbed the bounding ball and went 48 yards behind good blocking.

Miami	0 0 6 0— 6
Ga. Tech	7 0 0 7—14

Miami scoring: Touchdown, Bosseler (13, run).

Ward Slaughters Hyndman In Amateur Golf Finals

Clinches National Crown With Easy 9 And 8 Triumph

By WILL GRIMSLEY

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 17 (AP)—Harvie Ward's nine-year quest for the National Amateur Golf Championship ended in success today when the young North Carolinian, near flawless and losing only one hole, smothered Philadelphia's William Hyndman III, 9 and 8, in one of the worst shellackings in the tournament's history.

Hyndman, a 39-year-old insurance executive little known outside his own district, went eight-down to the end of the morning round when Ward, his irons blazing, shot around the James River course in 66, four under par.

The tall Philadelphian, disheartened and frustrated by bad putting luck, went to the first aid room for treatment of raw foot blisters and stinging, calloused hands, then returned in the afternoon to make a stirring, but futile, run for it.

He went down at the 19th, the first hole of the afternoon, and then, while writers were searching the record books for record one-sided defeats, rolled in a 75-foot putt from across the green. The crowd of 4,500 went hysterically wild.

It was the first and only hole Hyndman won but it gave him lift enough to match the mighty Ward stroke for stroke through the next five holes and then hold on until Ward clinched the decision with a halved four on the 28th.

A 29-year-old transplanted Tarheel from Tarboro, N. C., now an automobile salesman in San Francisco, Ward became the first Deep Southerner to win the title since Bobby Jones' "grand slam" year of 1930. George Dunlap (1933) and Dick Chapman (1940) were Northern-born although reared in Pinehurst, N. C. Charles Coe (1949) and Billy Maxwell (1951) were Southwesterners.

Ward, rated by his contemporaries as the finest amateur player in the world, lived up to this reputation with a brilliant exhibition of precision golf which would have done justice to the best of the pros.

He didn't miss a fairway on his drives and only three of his approaches failed to find the green in the orthodox number of shots. He had only one bogey, five birdies and a relentless string of steady pars over a long, 6,713-yard course which plays nearer a par 72 than its listed 70.

The biggest winning margin for a National Amateur final was 12 and 11 scored by Charles MacDonald over Charles Sands in the inaugural tournament in 1895. Bob Jones hung up a 10 and 9 victory in 1928 over Philip Perkins. Dick Chapman in 1940 beat W. B. McCullough 11 and 9 and in 1949 Charlie Coe crushed Rufus King, 11 and 10.

Arizona's Jimmy Bryan Cops High Auto Race Purse

It was the second straight victory for Bryan in the Hoosier hundred and the third for the Dean Van Lines Special in the three-year-old event. Bryan's time was 1:11 26.83 for an average of 83.98 miles an hour.

Bryan passed Thomson on the 56th turn around the mile track and held the lead the rest of the way. Thomson had taken the lead on the 32nd lap when Bob Sweikert, National AAA champion and the 1953 winner, went out with engine trouble.

Sweikert, who won the pole position with a qualification mile in 38.53 seconds, was far out in front when his car died on the back stretch.

Rodger Ward of Los Angeles spun on the fourth lap, and the race was slowed for six laps. He was not injured.

The race was delayed an hour after Edgar Elder of Fresno, Calif., crashed broadside through a guard rail and fence on the second lap of his qualification run. He was not injured, but his car was out of the race. He had run the first lap in 38.18 seconds, best time of the day.

The first 10 finishers:

1. Jimmy Bryan, Phoenix, Ariz., Dean Van Lines Special.
2. Johnny Thomson, Springfield, Mass., Schmidt Special.
3. George Amick, Lynwood, Calif., Hopkins Special.
4. Tony Bettenhausen, Tinley Park, Ill., Belanger Special.

By SKIPPER PATRICK

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 17 (AP)—Battling with frenzied fury after giving up a 13-point lead the first half, Missouri's Tigers came within a cat's whisker of upsetting Maryland's nationally rated Terps in an intersectional football opener today. Maryland won, 13-12.

Bob Laughery's perfect placekick after Maryland's first touchdown midway in the opening period proved the winning margin. Maryland swept 64 yards for the touchdown with halfback Ed Vereb scooting the last 14.

A blocked punt set up Maryland's second touchdown. End Bill Walker blocked Jimmy Herter's punt and Russell Dennis recovered on the Missouri 36. Four plays later quarterback Frank Tamburello hit Walker on a 22-yard scoring pass.

Missouri grabbed the upper hand early in the third quarter and kept the pressure on the Terps the rest of the way. Hunter, who passed for both Missouri touchdowns, reached halfback Sonny Stringer on an 8-yard scoring toss in the third and pitched 15 yards to end Harold Burnine midway of the fourth quarter. Guard Charles Mehrer missed both tries for the extra point.

The near victory partly avenged for the Tigers the 74-13 shelling they suffered at the hands of Maryland last Thanksgiving. An estimated 18,000 watched in 92-degree weather.

Score by quarters:

Maryland	7	6	0	0—13
Missouri	0	0	6	6—12

Maryland scoring—Touchdowns: Vereb (14, run), Walker (22, pass-run from Tamburello). Conversion: Saughery.

Missouri scoring—Touchdowns: Stringer (8, pass from Hunter), Burnine (15, pass-run from Hunter).

Beaumont Invites Baton Rouge To Take Franchise

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 17—UP—The President of the Beaumont, Tex., baseball club said today Baton Rouge has an excellent chance of getting the franchise of the Texas double A baseball team.

Allen H. Russell, who holds the franchise on the Beaumont team, met Friday with city recreation and park officials. He told them the city has only to promise support and to expand the baseball stadium to have his okay for the transfer.

He asked the city to guarantee the club an attendance of 175,000 the first season. That would mean an advance ticket sale of $150,000 and would require a stadium expansion to 5,000.

"The club's board of directors meets Oct. 10," he said, "and I'm sure that if Baton Rouge wants the team and agrees to our requests it can have it."

The recreation and park commission authorized Ralph Hileman, commission superintendent, to meet with Russell to work out final details of a transfer before any commitments are made. Baton Rouge appeared to be pressing for an agreement because Wichita, Kan., and Austin, Tex., are dickering for the franchise also.

Russell agreed not to sell beer the first season if he moves the club to Baton Rouge. He said sale of beer in Beaumont antagonized no one. The Baton Rouge commission suggested that beer not be sold at games here.

"If I get the franchise for Baton Rouge," Russell said, "it will not be an absentee ownership. I like Baton Rouge and will move my family here if the city accepts the franchise."

Farmerville Bows To Holly Ridgers To Tune Of 35-12

FARMERVILLE, La., Sept. 17 (Special)—The Class B Holly Ridge High School Eagles soared to the heights late Thursday night with four touchdowns in the first quarter as they coasted to a 35-12 victory over the Class A Farmerville High Farmers.

The [illegible], [illegible] 217 yards in [illegible] total [illegible] Knight [illegible] touchdown [illegible] of five and two yards, saw Hamilton scamper for TD on runs of 35 and 64 yards, Moton return a fumbled kickoff 60 yards to paydirt, and Ken Futch kick five extra points.

Farmerville, held to 39 yards on the ground, got both its touchdowns on passes in the last quarter with Nolan scoring both times. Farmerville, completing four of 15 passes for 58 yards, showed nine first downs. Holly Ridge completed two of four passes for 16 yards.

Florida Shuts Off Mississippi State In Opener, 20-14

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Sept. 17 (AP)—Jackie Simpson scooted the full 100-yard length of the football field with an intercepted pass and went 46 yards on another scoring run as Florida defeated Mississippi State 20-14 in a Southeastern Conference opener today.

The Florida victory — and the margin of it—were just as predicted for this warm, windy afternoon, but it seemed for more than half the way that Mississippi State was going to thoroughly rewrite the script for the crowd of 29,000.

State moved 44 yards to a first quarter touchdown on the tricky quarterbacking of Bill Stanton and the running of Jim Tait, who plunged the final two yards.

Florida was throttled in the first half, but four minutes into the third quarter Simpson cut off his right guard, turned sharply and out-maneuvered the entire State secondary in the 46-yard jaunt to the goal.

A few minutes later State was on the move again; the Maroons arrived at the Florida 6, where Tait tossed a wobbly pass and Simpson gathered it in on the goal line. He streaked the length of the gridiron and there was no catching him.

Long runs of 48 yards by Jim Pountree and 22 by Bobby Lance gave Florida a 20-7 lead and they needed it for State came back with a Bill Stanton passing attack that scored in the closing minutes. Stanton threw to Ron Bennett on a 31-yard play, mostly in the air, for the touchdown.

Mississippi State	7	0	0	7—14
Florida	0	0	13	7—20

Mississippi State scoring: Touchdowns, Tait (2, plunge); Bennett (31, pass from Stanton). Conversions: Morgan 2.

Texas Bass Go Crazy

But T. A. Webb of Percilla topped that one.

His house key dropped from his pocket and splashed into the water while he was casting at nearby Ioni Creek.

Mansfield Nips Carroll Eleven By 9 To 7 Edge

An early safety by Mansfield proved the deciding factor as the Carroll High Bulldogs of Monroe went down in a 9-7 defeat on the Carroll Athletic Field here Friday night.

The Mansfield Negro high school eleven trapped a Carroll runner behind the Bulldog goal line for the safety and two points.

Carroll came roaring back for a touchdown and conversion and show a 7-2 lead at the half, but a third quarter Mansfield touchdown made the big difference.

IT was the only defeat of the season so far for Carroll which meets Peabody High of Alexandria in the next Bulldog scrap here Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Trojans Trample Cougars, 50 To 12, In Coast Scramble

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 17 (AP)—Southern California yielded an opening touchdown to Washington State but settled down to thrash the brash Cougars for a 50-12 Pacific Coast Conference victory today.

Before 35,051 fans on this sunny afternoon the Trojans looked awkward and inept for the first five minutes.

Quarterback Bob Iverson of W. S. C. reeled off a 28-yard run to reach the Trojans' two and push over a moment later from one yard out.

Southern Cal promptly accepted two gift touchdowns to take the lead and roared on to score seven touchdowns and one field goal as they buried the visitors from the northwest.

The game was marked by numerous errors and penalties and the crowd soon drifted into bored silence as the score mounted.

Boros Heads Pro Golfers' Invasion Of Newton, Mass.

NEWTON, Mass., Sept. 17 (AP)—Julius Boros, winner of the rich Tam O'Shanter tournament and pro golf's leading money winner of the year, heads a glittering field in the $43,000 competition next week at the Charles River Country Club.

Such other standouts as Doug Ford, the 1955 P.G.A. titlist, Marty Furgol, Jackie Burke, Bob Toski, Cary Middlecoff, Jim Turnesa, Bo Wininger and Porky Oliver are down to compete in the 72-hole medal play starting Thursday and winding up the following Sunday.

They will be shooting for top money of $10,000 in the tournament over a rugged 6,478-yard, par 72 layout.

The tournament actually is three events in one—a championship sponsored by a beer company, the P.G.A. Tournament Sponsors Association championship event rotated from one tournament to another each year and a special $1,500 competition for New England P.G.A. members.

Boros, 35-year-old Connecticut-born professional from North Carolina's Mid-Pines Club, is the defending champion in the beer company tournament, held last year at Manikiki Golf Club in Cleveland, Ohio. Cary Middlecoff won in 1953.

Furgol, playing out of Lemont, Ill., won the tournament sponsors' championship last year. He is considered a consistent high finisher although he has won few major events.

The New England P.G.A. competition is for regional pros and will be limited to 36 holes.

Toski is not eligible for any prize money, but will compete strictly for the honor. He is ineligible for prize money as he has failed to compete in 75 per cent of so-called sponsors' tournaments this year.

SEATTLE, Sept. 17 (AP)—Washington's fidgety Huskines had a slight edge in all department of play — including fumbles — and squeezed past the Idaho Vandals 14-7 today in a Pacific Coast Conference football opener.

Stanford Rolls Over College Pacific, 33-14

PALO ALTO, Calif., Sept. 17—(AP)—Stanford's Indians recovered from two lightning-like touchdown thrusts and went methodically on to a 33-14 football victory, over College of the Pacific today.

Fullback Bill Tarr, the 1954 Pacific Coast Conference rushing champion, bulled to a pair of Indian tallies, and Jerry Gustafson hit Paul Camera with a brace of scoring passes before a crowd of some 30,000. The fifth Indian touchdown came on a five-yard shot around right end by Al (Hula) Harrington in the closing minutes.

Ward Slaughters Hyndman In Amateur Golf Finals

By WILL GRIMSLEY

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 17 (AP)—Harvie Ward's nine-year quest for the National Amateur Golf Championship ended in success today when the young North Carolinian, near flawless and losing only one hole, smothered Philadelphia's William Hyndman III, 9 and 8, in one of the worst shellackings in the tournament's history.

Hyndman, a 39-year-old insurance executive little known outside his own district, went eight-down to the end of the morning round when Ward, his irons blazing, shot around the James River course in 66, four under par.

The tall Philadelphian, disheartened and frustrated by bad putting luck, went to the first aid room for treatment of raw foot blisters and stinging, calloused hands, then returned in the afternoon to make a stirring, but futile, run for it.

He went down at the 19th, the first hole of the afternoon, and then, while writers were searching the record books for record one-sided defeats, rolled in a 75-foot putt from across the green. The crowd of 4,500 went hysterically wild.

It was the first and only hole Hyndman won but it gave him lift enough to match the mighty Ward stroke for stroke through the next five holes and then hold on until Ward clinched the decision with a halved four on the 28th.

A 29-year-old transplanted Tarheel from Tarboro, N. C., now an automobile salesman in San Francisco, Ward became the first Deep Southerner to win the title since Bobby Jones' "grand slam" year of 1930. George Dunlap (1933) and Dick Chapman (1940) were Northern-born although reared in Pinehurst, N. C. Charles Coe (1949) and Billy Maxwell (1951) were Southwesterners.

Ward, rated by his contemporaries as the finest amateur player in the world, lived up to this reputation with a brilliant exhibition of precision golf which would have done justice to the best of the pros.

He didn't miss a fairway on his drives and only three of his approaches failed to find the green in the orthodox number of shots. He had only one bogey, five birdies and a relentless string of steady pars over a long, 6,713-yard course which plays nearer a par 72 than its listed 70.

The biggest winning margin for a National Amateur final was 12 and 11 scored by Charles MacDonold over Charles Sands in the inaugural tournament in 1895. Bob Jones hung up a 10 and 9 victory in 1928 over Philip Perkins. Dick Chapman in 1940 beat W. B. McCullough 11 and 9 and in 1949 Charlie Coe crushed Rufus King, 11 and 10.

Arizona's Jimmy Bryan Cops High Auto Race Purse

It was the second straight victory for Bryan in the Hoosier hundred and the third for the Dean Van Lines Special in the three-year-old event. Bryan's time was 1:11:26.83 for an average of 83.98 miles an hour.

Bryan passed Thomson on the 56th turn around the mile track and held the lead the rest of the way. Thomson had taken the lead on the 32nd lap when Bob Sweikert, National AAA champion and the 1953 winner, went out with engine trouble.

Sweikert, who won the pole position with a qualification mile in 38.53 seconds, was far out in front when his car died on the back stretch.

Rodger Ward of Los Angeles spun on the fourth lap, and the race was slowed for six laps. He was not injured.

The race was delayed an hour after Edgar Elder of Fresno, Calif., crashed broadside through a guard rail and fence on the second lap of his qualification run. He was not injured, but his car was out of the race. He had run the first lap in 38.18 seconds, best time of the day.

The first 10 finishers:

1. Jimmy Bryan, Phoenix, Ariz., Dean Van Lines Special.
2. Johnny Thomson, Springfield, Mass., Schmidt Special.
3. George Amick, Lynwood, Calif., Hopkins Special.
4. Tony Bettenhausen, Tinley Park, Ill., Belanger Special.
5. Pat O'Connor, North Vernon, Ind., La Villa Special.
6. Don Freeland, Los Angeles, Bob Estes Special.
7. Ed Elisian, Oakland, Calif., Lutes Special.
8. Jimmy Reece, Oklahoma City, Brady Special.
9. Andy Linden, Manhattan Beach, Calif., D-A Special.
10. Johnny Kay, New Britain, Conn., Westwood Special.

By SKIPPER PATRICK

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 17 (AP)—Battling with frenzied fury after giving up a 13 - point lead the first half, Missouri's Tigers came within a cat's whisker of upsetting Maryland's nationally rated Terps in an intersectional football opener today. Maryland won, 13-12.

Bob Laughery's perfect placekick after Maryland's first touchdown midway in the opening peroid proved the winning margin. Maryland swept 64 yards for the touchdown with halfback Ed Vereb scooting the last 14.

A blocked punt set up Maryland's second touchdown. End Bill Walker blocked Jimmy Herter's punt and Russell Dennis recovered on the Missouri 36. Four plays later quarterback Frank Tamburello hit Walker on a 22-yard scoring pass.

Missouri grabbed the upper hand early in the third quarter and kept the pressure on the Terps the rest of the way. Hunter, who passed for both Missouri touchdowns, reached halfback Sonny Stringer on an 8 - yard scoring toss in the third and pitched 15 yards to end Harold Burnine midway of the fourth quarter. Guard Charles Mehrer missed both tries for the extra point.

The near victory partly avenged for the Tigers the 74 - 13 shelling they suffered at the hands of Maryland last Thanksgiving. An estimated 18,000 watched in 92-degree weather.

Score by quarters:

Maryland	7	6	0	0—13
Missouri	0	0	6	6—12

Maryland scoring—Touchdowns: Vereb (14, run), Walker (22, pass-run from Tamburello). Conversion: Saughery.

Missouri scoring — Touchdowns: Stringer (8, pass from Hunter), Burnine (15, pass-run from Hunter).

Beaumont Invites Baton Rouge To Take Franchise

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 17 —UP—The President of the Beaumont, Tex., baseball club said today Baton Rouge has an excellent chance of getting the franchise of the Texas double A baseball team.

Allen H. Russell, who holds the franchise on the Beaumont team, met Friday with city recreation and park officials. He told them the city has only to promise support and to expand the baseball stadium to have his okay for the transfer.

He asked the city to guarantee the club an attendance of 175,000 the first season. That would mean an advance ticket sale of $150,000 and would require a stadium expansion to 5,000.

"The club's board of directors meets Oct. 10," he said, "and I'm sure that if Baton Rouge wants the team and agrees to our requests it can have it."

The recreation and park commission authorized Ralph Hileman, commission superintendent, to meet with Russell to work out final details of a transfer before any commitments are made. Baton Rouge appeared to be pressing for an agreement because Wichita, Kan., and Austin, Tex., are dickering for the franchise also.

Russell agreed not to sell beer the first season if he moves the club to Baton Rouge. He said sale of beer in Beaumont antagonized no one. The Baton Rouge commission suggested that beer not be sold at games here.

"If I get the franchise for Baton Rouge," Russell said, "it will not be an absentee ownership. I like Baton Rouge, and will move my family here if the city accepts the franchise."

Farmerville Bows To Holly Ridgers To Tune Of 35-12

FARMERVILLE, La., Sept. 17 (Special) The Class B Holly Ridge High School Eagles sored to the heights here Thursday night with four touchdowns in the first quarter as they coasted to a 35-12 victory over the Class A Farmerville High Farmers.

The Eagles, grinding out 217 yards in a ground attack that netted eight first downs, turned Knight loose for touchdown trips of five and two yards, saw Hough scamper for TD's on runs of 25 and 64 yards, Moton return a fumbled kickoff 60 yards to paydirt, and Ken Futch kick five extra points.

Farmerville, held to 79 yards on the ground, got both its touchdowns on passes in the last quarter with Nolan scoring both times. Farmerville, completing four of 15 passes for 58 yards, showed nine first downs. Holly Ridge completed two of four passes for 16 yards.

Florida Shuts Off Mississippi State In Opener, 20-14

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Sept. 17 (AP)—Jackie Simpson scooted the full 100-yard length of the football field with an intercepted pass and went 46 yards on another scoring run as Florida defeated Mississippi State 20-14 in a Southeastern Conference opener today.

The Florida victory — and the margin of it—were just as predicted for this warm, windy afternoon, but it seemed for more than half the way that Mississippi State was going to thoroughly rewrite the script for the crowd of 29,000.

State moved 44 yards to a first quarter touchdown on the tricky quarterbacking of Bill Stanton and the running of Jim Tait, who plunged the final two yards.

Florida was throttled in the first half, but four minutes into the third quarter Simpson cut off his right guard, turned sharply and out-maneuvered the entire State secondary in the 46-yard jaunt to the goal.

A few minutes later State was on the move again; the Maroons arrived at the Florida 6, where Tait tossed a wobbly pass and Simpson gathered it in on the goal line. He streaked the length of the gridiron and there was no catching him.

Long runs of 48 yards by Jim Pountree and 22 by Bobby Lance gave Florida a 20-7 lead and they needed it for State came back with a Bill Stanton passing attack that scored in the closing minutes. Stanton threw to Ron Bennett on a 31-yard play, mostly in the air, for the touchdown.

Florida	0	0	13	7—20

Mississippi State scoring: Touchdowns, Tait (2, plunge); Bennett (31, pass from Stanton). Conversions: Morgan 2.

By TED SMITS

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)— The New York Yankees boosted their margin over the Cleveland Indians to a full game today in the tense American League pennant race by defeating Boston 4-1 on Tommy Byrne's superb four-hit pitcering job.

Team	Won	Lost	Pct
New York	90	56	.616
Cleveland	90	58	.608

A third big name, however, was added to the growing Yankee injury list. Phil Rizzuto, veteran shortstop, was hit in the back of his plastic head helmet by one of George Susce's pitches in the fourth. The helmet split open and Rizzuto was knocked unconscious, but Dr. Sidney Gaynor, the club physician, said the injury did not appear too serious and Rizzuto may even be able to play tomorrow when he is being showered with presents by fans.

Mickey Mantle and Bill Skowron, two other Yankee stalwarts, are on the bench with injuries.

The game ended on a note of high drama for the crowd of 40,942. Going into the ninth three runs behind, the Red Sox opened up on Byrne. Norm Zauchin singled to left, and Graddy Hatton bounced a single off Joe Collins' glove. With two out, Billy Consolo walked, filling the bases. The veteran Eddie Joost then came in to pinch hit for Billy Goodman. He protested loudly at Byrne's two successive strikes, and then flied to Bob Cerv in center to end matters.

The Yankees jumped into a two-run lead in the first inning when Rizzuto and Cerv singled, and then worked a double steal. Gil McDougald's sacrifice fly brought Rizzuto home and Hank Bauer's single scored Cerv.

The Red Sox presented the Yankees with a free run in the third when Bill Henry, the Boston starting and losing pitcher, walked Yogi Berra, Bauer, and Elston Howard. He was removed for Susce who walked Billy Martin on a 3-1 pitch to force in a run.

Jackie Jensen scored the single Boston run when he belted his 23rd homer of the season in the sixth with two out and the bases empty.

Lake Village's Boat Race King Keeps 2 Crowns

MOUNT CARMEL, Ill., Sept. 17 (AP)—David Livingston, 23, of Lake Village, Ark., retained two of his three championships today in the first day of the National Outboard Association final boat races.

Livingston won the Class C service hydro and Class C service runabout races on a one-mile Wabash river course. He will defend his title in the Class C hydro race tomorrow.

Tigers Derail Indians, 3-1

CLEVELAND, Sept. 17 (AP) — Al Rosen wore the goat's horns today and the Detroit Tigers, for the second time in less than 24 hours, defeated Cleveland 3-1 to dump the despairing Indians a full game behind the league leading New York Yankees.

Cleveland's third successive defeat together with New York's 4-1 triumph over Boston put the Indians two games behind in the all-important loss column. Cleveland has only six games left to eight for the Yankees.

Rosen, in the throes of a dismal batting slump, left five runners on base, four of them in scoring position, in two successive times at bat. He also committed a glaring error which led to Detroit's tie-breaking run in the fift inning.

In all, the Indians stranded 15 baserunners as time and again. Frank Lary, a gritty little right-hander with a big curveball, halted them in their tracks with men in scoring position. The broad-shouldered rookie pitched an erratic game, walking six besides giving up 10 hits but he was superb in the pinches to post hs 14th victory against as many defeats.

Al Kaline, hitless in his last 15 times at bat before today's game, was the Tiger batting star. The youthful batting leader of the league drove in two runs and scored the other, socking a double, two singles and drawing a walk in five times at bat.

Ford, Holscher Deadlock For Lead In Golf Tourney

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17 (AP) — Douglas Ford of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., and Bud Holscher, 24-year-old sensation from Apple Valley, Calif., took the lead in the $20,000 Daily News Golf Tournament over the Cobbs Creek golf course here today.

Both shot 5-under-par rounds of 65 to set their totals at 202, a three stroke lead over Doug Higgins of Midland, Tex.

A gallery of nearly 15,000 swarmed over the greens and fairways on the municipal links as the two leaders shot phenomenal golf. At one point it was necessary for park guards, soldiers and marines to forcibly rearrange the gallery limits.

Leo Biagetti, who led after two days' play with 133, took a 73 in the third round and ended with a tie with Ted Kroll of Bethesda, Md., at 206.

By TED SMITS

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)— The New York Yankees boosted their margin over the Cleveland Indians to a full game today in the tense American League pennant race by defeating Boston 4-1 on Tommy Byrne's superb four-hit pitcring job.

Team	Won	Lost	Pct
New York	90	56	.616
Cleveland	90	58	.608

A third big name, however, was added to the growing Yankee injury list. Phil Rizzuto, veteran shortstop, was hit in the back of his plastic head helmet by one of George Susce's pitches in the fourth. The helmet split open and Rizzuto was knocked unconscious, but Dr. Sidney Gaynor, the club physician, said the injury did not appear too serious and Rizzuto may even be able to play tomorrow when he is being showered with presents by fans.

Mickey Mantle and Bill Skowron, two other Yankee stalwarts, are on the bench with injuries.

The game ended on a note of high drama for the crowd of 40,942. Going into the ninth three runs behind, the Red Sox opened up on Byrne. Norm Zauchin singled to left, and Graddy Hatton bounced a single off Joe Collins' glove. With two out, Billy Consolo walked, filling the bases. The veteran Eddie Joost then came in to pinch hit for Billy Goodman. He protested loudly at Byrne's two successive strikes, and then flied to Bob Cerv in center to end matters.

The Yankees jumped into a two-run lead in the first inning when Rizzuto and Cerv singled, and then worked a double steal. Gil McDougald's sacrifice fly brought Rizzuto home and Hank Bauer's single scored Cerv.

The Red Sox presented the Yankees with a free run in the third when Bill Henry, the Boston starting and losing pitcher, walked Yogi Berra, Bauer, and Elston Howard. He was removed for Susce who walked Billy Martin on a 3-1 pitch to force in a run.

Jackie Jensen scored the single Boston run when he belted his 23rd homer of the season in the sixth with two out and the bases empty.

Lake Village's Boat Race King Keeps 2 Crowns

MOUNT CARMEL, Ill., Sept. 17 (AP)—David Livingston, 23, of Lake Village, Ark., retained two of his three championships today in the first day of the National Outboard Association final boat races.

Livingston won the Class C service hydro and Class C service runabout races on a one-mile Wabash river course. He will defend his title in the Class C hydro race tomorrow.

Tigers Derail Indians, 3-1

CLEVELAND, Sept. 17 (AP) — Al Rosen wore the goat's horns today and the Detroit Tigers, for the second time in less than 24 hours, defeated Cleveland 3-1 to dump the despairing Indians a full game behind the league leading New York Yankees.

Cleveland's third successive defeat together with New York's 4-1 triumph over Boston put the Indians two games behind in the all-important loss column. Cleveland has only six games left to eight for the Yankees.

Rosen, in the throes of a dismal batting slump, left five runners on base, four of them in scoring position, in two successive times at bat. He also committed a glaring error which led to Detroit's tie-breaking run in the fift inning.

In all, the Indians stranded 15 baserunners as time and again, Frank Lary, a gritty little right-hander with a big curveball, halted them in their tracks with men in scoring position. The broad-shouldered rookie pitched an erratic game, walking six besides giving up 10 hits but he was superb in the pinches to post hs 14th victory against as many defeats.

Al Kaline, hitless in his last 15 times at bat before today's game, was the Tiger batting star. The youthful batting leader of the league drove in two runs and scored the other, socking a double, two singles and drawing a walk in five times at bat.

Ford, Holscher Deadlock For Lead In Golf Tourney

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17 (AP) — Douglas Ford of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., and Bud Holscher, 24-year-old sensation from Apple Valley, Calif., took the lead in the $20,000 Daily News Golf Tournament over the Cobbs Creek golf course here today.

Both shot 3-under-par rounds of 65 to set their totals at 202, a three stroke lead over Doug Higgins of Midland, Tex.

A gallery of nearly 15,000 swarmed over the greens and fairways on the municipal links as the two leaders shot phenomenal golf. At one point it was necessary for park guards, soldiers and marines to forcibly rearrange the gallery limits.

Leo Biagetti, who led after two days' play with 133, took a 73 in the third round and ended with a tie with Ted Kroll of Bethesda, Md., at 206.

Monroe Man Hurt In Collision Of Auto With Truck

A 26-year-old Monroe man was injured shortly after midnight Friday, when his car collided with a tractor-trailer truck on Sterlington Road, about three miles north of Monroe.

Injured was Claude Sisson, route three, Monroe.

According to state police, Sisson was driving south when his car collided with the truck, driven north by Don Medema, 23, Muskegon, Mich. Officers said Sisson was in the wrong traffic lane when the accident occurred.

Medema, they said swerved in an effort to avoid the collision, but to no avail.

Sisson was taken by Mulhearn ambulance to St. Francis Sanitarium, where he was treated for a broken leg, laceration, and abrasions, and hospitalized. Medema was uninjured.

The Monroe man's car was described by officers as a total loss.

State police said last night Sisson will be charged with reckless driving.

MAIDCO Board Of Directors To Meet This Week

The new board of directors of the Monroe Area Industrial Development Corporation will meet Thursday at 3:30 p.m. to elect new officers and outline the MAIDCO program for the coming year, according to Walter Koch, executive vice-president of the organization.

Koch said much of the program for the coming year would call for continued followups and contact with new industrial prospects that have been in MAIDCO files.

The MAIDCO officials, without giving details, said several prospective new industries are being entertained and some of them look like "real live prospects." He expressed optimism that some of the new industries would locate in this area.

Koch pointed out that some of the prospects are showing interest in areas outside of Monroe in northeast Louisiana. "We are not solely concerned with locating new industry in Monroe," Koch said. "We feel that we are achieving a worthwhile purpose if we can bring industry to West Monroe or any other northeast Louisiana area," Koch said.

Jack Howard, MAIDCO president, explained that he and Koch will review with the board several items concerning the securing of industries for other cities in the Monroe trade area, and will make a general report of their activities during the past few weeks.

"This past week," Howard said, "we visited with representatives of four northeast Louisiana towns and talked with them concerning a prospect who has shown an interest in locating in this area." The firm, if located here, will employ approximately 100 men and women, he said.

While declining to name the firm, Howard described it as "a leader in its field."

Federal Judge Dismisses Action To Force School Integration At Dallas

DALLAS, Sept. 16 —UP— A suit that would have forced immediate enrollment of Negro students in Dallas' white public schools has been dismissed by a federal judge, who suggested it be re-filed at a later date.

Federal Judge William H. Atwell said he had found that there were equal educational facilities and opportunities for both Negro and white students in the Dallas school system.

The ruling, in effect, gives the Dallas school system more time — which was what it said it needs — to finish a detailed study of integration problems.

Before ruling on the case, Judge Atwell denied a motion of Andrew Thuss, Jr., Dallas school board lawyer, to dismiss the suit because it failed to name "certain indispensable parties." Thuss said he referred to the state commissioner of education, the State Board of Education and the state comptroller, from whom public schools draw their funds.

The suit was filed in behalf of 28 Negro students by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which contended they were denied admission Sept. 5 to six white schools.

The NAACP's general counsel from New York, Thurgood Marshall — who won the U.S. Supreme Court ruling that school segregation is unconstitutional — was present and helped present arguments for the plaintiffs.

Texas Attorney General John Ben Shepperd also was in the crowded courtroom that overflowed with both white and Negro spectators. He took no part in the case.

Atwell retained jurisdiction in the case by suggesting it be filed at some later date — he did not specify any particular time — so that both sides would have time to get together and work something out. Then, he said, he would pass "on the equity" of the case.

Dallas attorneys for the NAACP said they would begin immediate plans for such action. Marshall, however, had little comment on the ruling until he had time to read and thoroughly study the order, he said.

Adenauer Pledges Continued Loyalty To West Alliance

BONN, Germany, Sept. 17 —AP— Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has solemnly pledged that West Germany will remain "completely faithful" to the West after it sets up diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union.

"We have not swerved from our goals," the 79-year-old statesman told his first news conference since returning from the crucial talks with Soviet leaders in Moscow.

He agreed there to establish Bonn-Moscow diplomatic ties in return for a Soviet pledge to release thousands of German war prisoners held in Russia.

"We made clear in Moscow that our relations to the West will be fully undisturbed by diplomatic ties to the Soviet Union," Adenauer said. "The Soviet representatives accepted this standpoint as a re- [illegible] as the Russians pressed their campaign to win recognition of Communist East Germany as a sovereign state, Adenauer lashed the East regime as "just another Soviet satellite."

He served notice he will refuse to recognize the East German government as the spokesman for the 18 million Germans under its control or as an equal at the forthcoming Big Four conference in Geneva.

Pravda, the Communist party organ in Moscow, declared Communist East Germany is a sovereign state which "will continue to exist despite the fact that capitalist countries do not want to recognize it."

Monroe Man Hurt In Collision Of Auto With Truck

A 26-year-old Monroe man was injured shortly after midnight Friday, when his car collided with a tractor-trailer truck on Sterlington Road, about three miles north of Monroe.

Injured was Claude Sisson, route three, Monroe.

According to state police, Sisson was driving south when his car collided with the truck, driven north by Don Medema, 23, Muskegon, Mich. Officers said Sisson was in the wrong traffic lane when the accident occurred.

Medema, they said swerved in an effort to avoid the collision, but to no avail.

Sisson was taken by Mulhearn ambulance to St. Francis Sanitarium, where he was treated for a broken leg, laceration, and abrasions, and hospitalized. Medema was uninjured.

The Monroe man's car was described by officers as a total loss.

State police said last night Sisson will be charged with reckless driving.

MONROYAN INJURED—Claude Sisson, 26, of route three, Monroe, was injured early Saturday morning when his car collided with a tractor-trailer truck on Sterlington road, about three miles north of Monroe. Sisson suffered a broken leg, lacerations and bruises. Don Medema, 27, Muskegon, Mich., driver of the truck, was uninjured. The Monroyan will be charged with reckless driving, state police said. MAIDCO Board Of Directors To Meet This Week

The new board of directors of the Monroe Area Industrial Development Corporation will meet Thursday at 3:30 p.m. to elect new officers and outline the MAIDCO program for the coming year, according to Walter Koch, executive vice-president of the organization.

Koch said much of the program for the coming year would call for continued followups and contact with new industrial prospects that have been in MAIDCO files.

The MAIDCO officials, without giving details, said several prospective new industries are being entertained and some of them look like "real live prospects." He expressed optimism that some of the new industries would locate in this area.

Koch pointed out that some of the prospects are showing interest in areas outside of Monroe in northeast Louisiana. "We are not solely concerned with locating new industry in Monroe," Koch said. "We feel that we are achieving a worthwhile purpose if we can bring industry to West Monroe or any other northeast Louisiana area," Koch said.

Jack Howard, MAIDCO president, explained that he and Koch will review with the board several items concerning the securing of industries for other cities in the Monroe trade area, and will make a general report of their activities during the past few weeks.

"This past week," Howard said, "we visited with representatives of four northeast Louisiana towns and talked with them concerning a prospect who has shown an interest in locating in this area." The firm, if located here, will employ approximately 100 men and women, he said.

While declining to name the firm, Howard described it as "a leader in its field."

Federal Judge Dismisses Action To Force School Integration At Dallas

DALLAS, Sept. 16 —UP—A suit that would have forced immediate enrollment of Negro students in Dallas' white public schools has been dismissed by a federal judge, who suggested it be re-filed at a later date.

Federal Judge William H. Atwell said he had found that there were equal educational facilities and opportunities for both Negro and white students in the Dallas school system.

The ruling, in effect, gives the Dallas school system more time—which was what it said it needs—to finish a detailed study of integration problems.

Before ruling on the case, Judge Atwell denied a motion of Andrew Thuss, Jr., Dallas school board lawyer, to dismiss the suit because it failed to name "certain indispensable parties." Thuss said he referred to the state commissioner of education, the State Board of Education and the state comptroller, from whom public schools draw their funds.

The suit was filed in behalf of 28 Negro students by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which contended they were denied admission Sept. 5 to six white schools.

The NAACP's general counsel from New York, Thurgood Marshall — who won the U.S. Supreme Court ruling that school segregation is unconstitutional — was present and helped present arguments for the plaintiffs.

Texas Attorney General John Ben Shepperd also was in the crowded courtroom that overflowed with both white and Negro spectators. He took no part in the case, however.

Atwell retained jurisdiction in the case by suggesting it be filed at some later date — he did not specify any particular time — so that both sides would have time to get together and work something out. Then, he said, he would pass "on the equity" of the case.

Dallas attorneys for the NAACP said they would begin immediate plans for such action. Marshall, however, had little comment on the ruling until he had time to read and thoroughly study the order, he said.

Adenauer Pledges Continued Loyalty To West Alliance

BONN, Germany, Sept. 17 —(AP) Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has solemnly pledged that West Germany will remain "completely faithful" to the West after it sets up diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union.

"We have not swerved from our goals," the 79-year-old statesman told his first news conference since returning from the crucial talks with Soviet leaders in Moscow.

He agreed there to establish Bonn-Moscow diplomatic ties in return for a Soviet pledge to release thousands of German war prisoners held in Russia.

"We made clear in Moscow that our relations to the West will be fully undisturbed by diplomatic ties to the Soviet Union," Adenauer said. "The Soviet representatives accepted this standpoint as a reality."

As the Russians pressed their campaign to win recognition of Communist East Germany as a sovereign state, Adenauer lashed the East regime as "just another Soviet satellite."

He served notice he will refuse to recognize the East German government as the spokesman for the 18 million Germans under its control or as an equal at the forthcoming Big Four conference in Geneva.

Pravda, the Communist party organ in Moscow, declared Communist East Germany is a sovereign state which "will continue to exist despite the fact that capitalist countries do not want to recognize it."

VIRGINIA BRUECK

Virginia Brueck Is Appointed To Journalism Staff

Virginia L. Brueck of Baton Rouge has been appointed instructor of journalism at Northeast State, President Lewis C. Slater announced Saturday. She will assume her duties here on September 26.

Miss Brueck is currently director of special services for the Recreation and Park Commission, East Baton Rouge Parish.

Following two years of study at Louisiana State University, the instructor stopped her program of college work to accept a position as editor and publisher of a weekly newspaper of which she was part owner.

This experience was followed by serving for two years in Birmingham, Ala., as managing editor for three monthly magazines for young people at the Woman's Missionary Union, auxiliary to the Southern Baptist Convention.

She returned to college in 1948 as a student at Baylor University, Waco, Texas, to complete requirements for the bachelor's degree in journalism and sociology. Graduate work was done at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., and Louisiana State University, from which she received the master's degree.

Miss Brueck's professional experiences include affiliation with the Hurley Printing Company, Camden, Ark., as promotion director, radio continuity writer, and advertising representative for the two daily newspapers in Baton Rouge.

She also did work with the Public Affairs Research Council, a governmental research group, where she was assistant public information director.

Professional organizations in which Miss Brueck holds membership include Quota Club of Baton Rouge, Theta Sigma Phi Alumni Chapter (journalism fraternity for women), Alpha Kappa Delta (national sociology fraternity), Louisiana Press Women, and The National Federation of Press Women, Inc.

Regal Tone Is Evening Fashion

The regal air of a coronation sets the tone for fall's formal wear. Everything about the evening picture connotes drama and luxury in striking contrast to the simplicity of most daytime fashions.

The silhouette for evening is slim; fabrics are rich — metallics, brocades and lames are draped into the narrowest of formal dresses. Satin is a natural for the elongated, ultra-sophisticated silhouette.

Spectacular success of this season is the formal ensemble. Ankle- or floor-length sheaths take companion coats in dramatic deep velvet, sometimes embroidered, satin trimmed or covered with lace. Many are lined in satin. Brocade and gold lame coats are also seen, many lavishly trimmed with fur.

Silhouettes vary from extremely full, floor length coats for bouffant dresses to the seven-eighth length tunic intended to go over a sheath-slim gown. Long capes appear in fur or velvet.

Bouffant evening dresses, generally short - formal length, look younger, yet reflect the regal tone of the season in their fabrics. Gowns with satin tops softly draped over net or tulle are especially dramatic in white. Lace gowns are very fashionable in either slim or bouffant styles.

Shoe Fashion In Heel, Both For Dress, Evening

Yes, fashion is a heel this fall—especially in dress and evening shoes. With vamps demurely slim and simple, the heel strikes the high spot of fashion. Jewelled heels we've had and they are still important in dance slippers. The Cinderella heel of glass - like Vinylite is also familiar and popular.

But there are plenty of exotic new heel treatments that merit more than a backward glance.

Metal is the new favorite in heels with gleaming gold or silver treatments, slender shafts that lend both elegance and chic to the classic severely simple pump. Bands of metal, plain or filigreed, are another device to make the heel a highlight.

Contrasting leathers, plain or in Persian or Paisley printed patterns, add a new note when used for both sole and heel, the heel covering extending high at the back, and the whole effect slenderizing the foot to a remarkable degree.

Baroque heels, making use of peacock feathers or tiny ceramic blossoms and leaves give a Dresden shepherdess effect to a dancing slipper for wear with pale tints and pastels.

MRS. DAVID FAULK RUSSELL

Russell-Barnes Marriage Solemnized Yesterday

Claiming interest here was the wedding of Mary Kathryn Butler Barnes and David Faulk Russell, held in the Nolley Memorial Methodist Church in Jena, at four o'clock in the afternoon, September 17th. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sim Butler of Jena and Mr. Russell is the son of Mrs. James Webster Russell, of West Monroe and the late Mr. Russell.

The Rev. Otis W. Spinks of Alexandria officiated at the double-ring ceremony. A program of nuptial selections was presented by Mrs. Charles A. McCartney at the organ and Mr. R. M. Reeves, soloist, who sang "Through the Years" and after the benediction "The Lord's Prayer."

The altar was decorated with pink gladiola in tall baskets, palms and lighted pink tapers in floor candelabra entwined with plumosa fern.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a pastel aqua iridescent taffeta gown, street length. It was fashioned with sweetheart neckline, shirred brief sleeves and semi-princess lines. Panniers contributed to the forming of the bouffant skirt. She wore a matching bandeau of circlets with a brow veil. Matching pumps and white kid gloves completed her ensemble. She carried an arrangement of stephanotis centered with a purple throated white orchid on a white Bible.

Mrs. George W. Alsup of Gulfport, Miss., served her sister as matron of honor. Her gown was a mauve embroidered taffeta of simple lines, with a round neck, short sleeves, fitted bodice and a full street length skirt. She wore a pink satin bandeau similar to the bride's, pink gloves and pink slippers. Her corsage was of sweetheart roses.

Westley A. Wise of Beaumont, Tex., served as best man and the ushers were Lt. Robert M. Butler, of Alexandria, brother of the bride, and John McCarthy Ward of Monroe.

A reception was held in the reception rooms of the church immediately following the ceremony. The mother of the bride wore a royal blue embossed taffeta gown, a white velvet, sequin-trimmed hat and a white glamellia corsage. The bridegroom's mother chose a brown taffeta gown with pale pink net, rhinestone embossed yoke. Her accessories were brown and beige and a pink carnation corsage was pinned to her shoulder.

The bride's table was overlaid with an imported Chinese cloth of embroidered linen with lace insets. Pink tapers in crystal candelabra burned at either side of an arrangement of pink gladiola and pink asters. At one end the crystal punch bowl was placed and at the other the pink and white wedding cake, topped with sprays of stephanotis.

Mrs. H. N. Tannehill of Trout, paternal aunt of the bride cut the cake and Mrs. J. W. Tooke of Monroe, maternal aunt of the bride poured. Others assisting in the courtesies were Miss Katherine Butler of Ruston, Mrs. J. H. Luttrell and Mrs. N. D. Butler, paternal aunts of the bride, Mrs. Al M. Cobb and Mrs. E. P. Gamewell of Good Pine.

For traveling on their wedding trip to the Florida Gulf Coast, the bride chose a charcoal cotton and nylon suit with white collar and gloves. Her shoes and bag were black and her hat red velvet. The orchid from her bridal bouquet served as her corsage. Upon returning they will make their home at 109 Thompson St., West Monroe.

Mrs. Russell attended L. S. U. and received her degree from Louisiana Tech. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Montgomery of Monroe and the late Dr. and Mrs. T. M. Butler of Trout and Jena.

Afternoon Ceremony Unites Couple

On Sunday afternoon, recently Mrs. Maudie Pauline Riddle, daughter of Mrs. Eula Swanner and the late R. V. Riddle, became the bride of Edwin Madison Callaway, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Callaway.

White satin bows marked the family pews.

Mrs. Edith Kay rendered a nuptial program [illegible] and accompanied Mr. [illegible] Kay [illegible] solo [illegible].

Given in marriage by her brother, Robert Riddle, the bride was lovely in an original ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace over [illegible] tulle and satin. The chantilly lace was a coat effect over the nylon tulle and satin fastened with tiny lace covered buttons. Long sleeves came to points over her wrists. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was fastened by a Juliet cap of lace, trimmed in sequins and pearls.

Mrs. Michael W. Garner of Monroe, served her sister as matron of honor. Mrs. Fank Swayze of Monroe, Misses Joy Shankles, Billie Jo Maxwell and Patricia Hanna all of Jonesboro served as bridesmaids. They wore identical ballerina length dresses of fuschia crystalline with matching mitts and shoes. Their headdresses were a band of pink velvet leaves and they carried bouquets of pink asters.

Lighting the candles were Misses Patty Koonce and Peggy Womack.

Their dresses were identical to the bridesmaids and they wore wrist corsages of pink asters.

Woody McDonald served the groom as best man. Bobby Joe [illegible] of Shreveport, Charles Garrett, Joe Harrelson, and Joimes McDonald of Jonesboro, served as groomsmen and ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Swanner wore a charcoal [illegible] dress of imported cotton and nylon. Her accessories were pink and black and her corsage was of pink carnations.

The reception was held in the church parlor which was decorated with white gladioli and jade leaves. A floral arrangement of [illegible] was centered on the [illegible].

The bride's table which held the tiered wedding cake, was laid with a beautiful Irish linen cut-work table cloth. It was decorated with the bride's bouquet and to one side burned pink tapers from silver candelabra. Serving the cake was Mrs. Dave Jeffress.

Mrs. J. J. Allen served the wedding punch which was placed on an adjoining table. The crystal punch bowl was outlined with the bridesmaids bouquets.

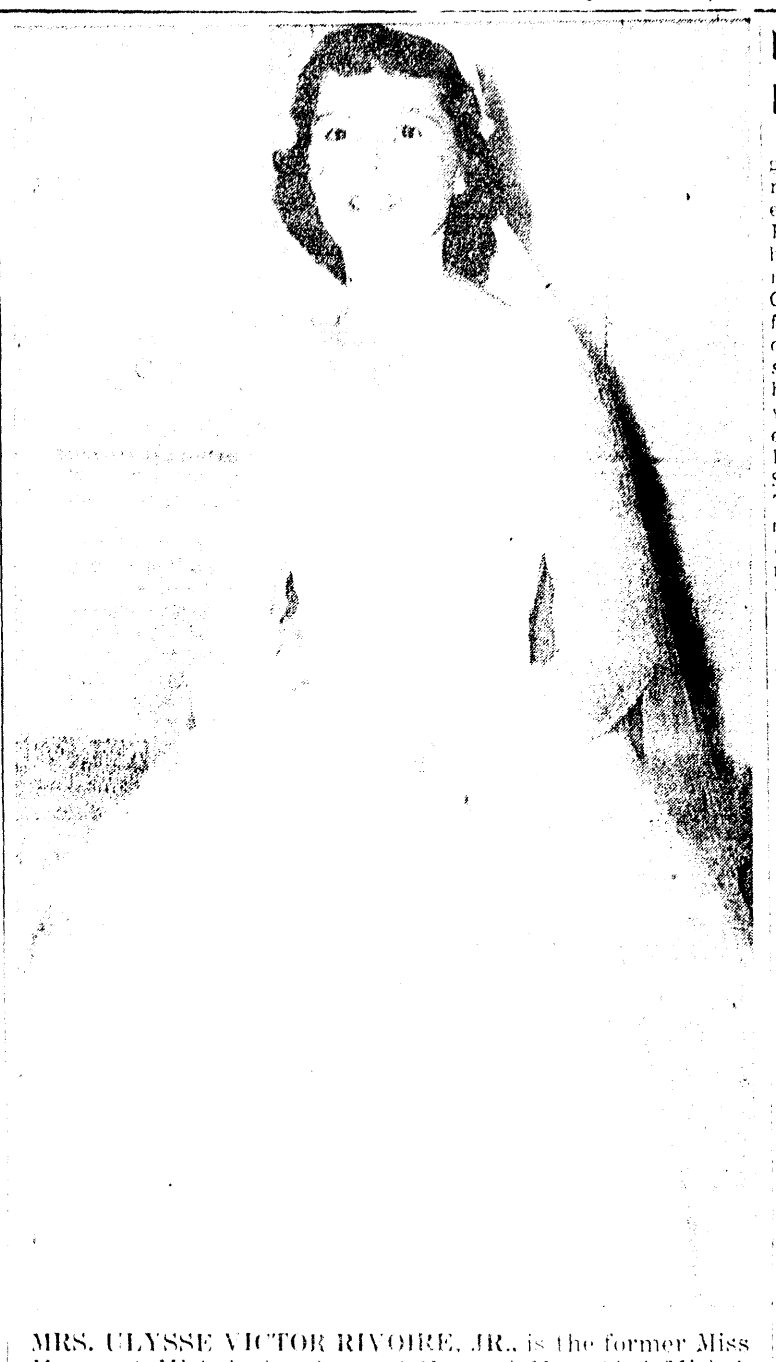
Mrs. Robert Riddle presided at the guest book.

The bride selected a black and white imported two piece suit with black and white accessories as her going away outfit. Her corsage was of white stephanotis.



MRS. ULYSSE VICTOR RIVOIRE, JR., is the former Miss Margaret Michel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abel Michel, of Houma. Mr. Rivoire is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ulysse V. Rivoire of Monroe. Their vows were said in the St. Francis de Sales Church in Houma.

News From The Public Library

With the fall publishing season going into full swing, interesting new books are arriving almost every day at the Ouachita Parish Public Library. "Blade of Honor" by John J. Pugh is an exciting novel about the turbulent era when Catholic and Huguenot struggled for the control of the government of France. It is set in Paris of the sixteenth century and is a story of bewitching women and brave men which lovers of the historical novel will not want to miss. Another historical novel is "The Winged Sword" by Leslie Turner White. This is a bold, lusty swashbuckling novel of elevententh century France and the Crusades by one of the most entertaining writers of historical fiction.

A very fine novel with a modern setting is "Bell's Landing" by Gerald Warner Brace. Mr. Brace is a novelist of distinction and his books are really worth reading. He is reminiscent of Marquand and Hamilton Basso in his style, but has individuality also. This is a story of a young man and the heritage which had formed his character. It is one you will not want to miss. "Up Home" by Ardyth Kennelly is another of her interesting stories about the family life of the Mormon people. Readers who enjoyed her first novel "The Peaceable Kingdom" will be happy to meet the Ecklund family again. Again we see the struggle between the two wives of Olaf Ecklund and the way in which they settled their problems. Erle Stanley Gardner who turns out mystery stories at a rapid rate has a new one called "The Case of the Nervous Accomplice" which his audience will eagerly read.

Dr. Alfred Leland Crabb is one of the most popular writers of novels with a southern setting. His latest work is called "Peace at Bowling Green." It is a story of the community of Bowling Green, Kentucky, from the frontier days of 1803 until after the close of the Civil War. We see the growth of the community and become well acquainted with the leading families. We live through the grim years of the civil war and see how the community finally became a unit again. This book has interesting characters, delightful humor, tender love scenes and is a fine picture of life in the old south. Dr. Crabb's large audience of admirers will be happy to know that "Peace at Bowling Green" is available.

Aldous Huxley is one of the greatest of modern writers, but his works do not appeal to everyone. His latest novel is "The Genius and the Goddess" and the library has recently added a copy of this title.

We would like to urge our Bookmobile patrons to call us or send a post card if there is any special book which they would like to have. Often you may get the book two weeks quicker if you request it ahead of time.

The services of the Ouachita Parish Public Library are yours for the asking. If you are not taking advantage of them, do so as soon as possible.

THESE HORRID AGE SPOTS*

FADE THEM OUT

*Weathered brown spots on the surface of your hands and face tell the world you're getting old—perhaps before you really are. Fade them away with new ESOTERICA, that medicated cream that breaks up masses of pigment on the skin, makes hands look white and young again. Equally effective on the face, neck and arms. Not a cover-up. Acts in the skin—not on it. Fragrant, greaseless base for softening, lubricating skin as it clears up those blemishes. At leading drug and toiletry counters. $2 plus tax. If you have these age-revealing brown spots, blotches, or if you want clearer, lighter skin, use ESOTERICA. At all Drug Stores.

MRS. GEORGE JACKSON ALLEN was before her wedding at the First Baptist Church in Crossett, Miss Joyce Emory. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Emory. Mr. Allen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Allen also of Crossett. The couple will make their home in Monticello where he is attending Arkansas A. and M. College.

MISS SARAH KATHRYN PHILLIPS' engagement to Gerald Atkins, son of Mrs. Frank Atkins of Hamburg, Ark., and the late Mr. Atkins, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chase Phillips of Fountain Hill. The wedding will be an event of October 9 in the First Baptist Church at Fountain Hill, Ark.

Oliver-Gleason Vows In Belcher Hold Interest

Uniting in marriage two prominent Louisiana families, was the wedding recently in the Belcher Methodist church, in which Miss Gail Gleason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin W. Gleason of Belcher, became the bride of James Thomas Oliver, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Oliver of Bossier City. The Rev. James L. Beasley officiated at the afternoon ceremony.

White chrysanthemums and gladioli interspersed with clematis decorated the church. Cathedral tapers in branched candelabra shed a soft glow over the setting. Clematis and clusters of chrysanthemums marked the family pews. Miss Elodie Curry rendered a pogam of nuptial music and accompanied Miss Thelma Jane McKinney, soloist.

The bide entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of nylon tulle and rose patterned Chantilly lace, over white satin. The sculptured bodice featured a scalloped edge portrait neckline and scalloped elbow length sleeves. The very full skirt of nylon tulle joined the long torso with folds of white satin which formed a sash effect that extended to the waltz length hemline. Her finger tip veil of illusion was held in place by a tiara of pearls and sequins. She carried a Bible topped with a white orchid showered with stephanotis and cascading satin ribbons. Her only jewelry was a gold and pearl bracelet, a gift from the bridegroom.

The bridesmaids were Miss Linda Thompson of Monroe, Miss Cecil Anne Oliver, sister of the bridegroom of Bossier City, Miss Genevieve Reeves and Miss Dorothy Freeman. Miss Josie Glassell and Miss Fanne McDade of Belcher, lighted the candles.

Miss Thompson's gown was of champagne taffeta with moulded bodice and round neckline that dipped to a V in the back, push up sleeves and a full pleated waltz length skirt. The other attendants were dressed alike in shades of driftwood brown and irridescent gold. They carried gold and bronze chrysanthemums.

Jack Williams was best man and ushers included J. Vernon Sims, Jr., of Oak Grove, cousin of the bridegroom, Wayne B. McGee and J. W. Slack both of Bossier City, Charles Glover, Shreveport, and Austin Gleason III, brother of the bride.

Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Gleason were hosts at a reception in the church parlors. Bouquets of white flowers were used in decoration.

Mrs. Gleason received her guests wearing a pecan pole de soie gown Her hat was of brown velvet trimmed in sequins and her flowers were deep red and white rosebuds. She was assisted by the mother of the groom, whose frock was of mauve silk. Her matching hat was studded in pearls and she pinned a white glammelia on her satin bag.

The bride's table was centered with tall white tapers. At one end of the table was the double wedding ring cake placed on a reflector edged with tulle and pink hibiscus blossoms. The punch bowl at the opposite end of the table was encircled with clematis and hibiscus blooms.

Later in the evening, the young couple left on their wedding trip to Mexico. For traveling the bride wore an avocado green velevet and jersey suit with autumn brown accessories. The orchid from her bouquet was pinned at her shoulder. They are now at home at 307 Bonner St., while continuing their studies at Louisian Tech.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. W. P. Bond and the late Dr. Bond of Ruston and Mr. and Mrs. Austin W. Gleason of Belcher.

Mr. Oliver is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Gaddis of Pioneer and James M. Oliver and the late Mrs. Oliver of McGhee, Ark.

Girl Scout News

This is the time for getting back into the routine of weekly scout meetings with their fun and worthwhile activities. We're glad about the troops that have leaders and are starting and hope that the others may soon find the leadership they need.

Troop 26, made up of eighteen sixth - grade girls at Sherrouse school, held its first meeting last week with Mrs. J. H. Mosely, who is to be leader. The girls elected Kay Anderson, Marretta Heidenreich, and Rosemary Upshaw as patrol leaders, and Jeanine Brauchér as troop scribe. Their first two meetings will be given over to planning the year's program, their leader says. We predict a good year for this troop of wide-awake girls.

As a preliminary to the regular meetings, Mrs. O. Willis invited daughter Judy's troop members to a party at her house. Ten-year-olds always have fun at a party, and at Scout meetings, too. These girls who belong to Troop 18, are fifth-graders at Sherrouse, and are eagerly looking forward to their first year of Intermediate Scouting, under the leadership of Mrs. E. R. Smith. Lucy Huckabee and daughter, Yvonne, help with the troop sometimes and we know that helps make it a good troop.

While we're on the subject of Sherrouse troops, there are two of the newest, Brownie troops 25 and 30, who are starting off with a bang with plans for activities in the field of community life. Many of the girls attended day camp, and took swimming lessons last summer, and are looking forward to a full year of Brownie Scouting with their leaders, Mrs. Clyde Stringer and Mrs. F. L. Smith.

It is not always that a leader, especially if she serves only a year or two, can see much of what is happening to the girls she works with. If all of their former leaders could have been present at the investiture ceremony Senior Troop 14 held for new members Wednesday evening, they would have been proud indeed that they had had a part in the Brownie and Intermediate Scout experiences of these girls. Two leaders, Estelle Martin and Helen Hood, who brought a number of the girls to the verge of Senior Scouting, were present, and were very proud indeed.

A check of membership records shows that most of the girls in the troop have been in Scouting at least five years, with Beverly Rushing starting her tenth year with her current registration with Troop 14. Amy Hood, Linda McCormick and Linda Atkins were members of Troop 2 in West Monroe from the time they were in the second grade. Betty Hines, Sue Grower, Marie Nelson, Charlotte Bruscato Malise Mapp, Daveen Barksdale, Nancy Breard, Ingrid Peterson, and Jo Ann Usrey are other girls who have completed six years or more.

Nancy Breard presided over the program held in the recreation room of the First Methodist church, which sponsors the troop. Daveen Barksdale, chairman of the Court-of-Honor last year, installed Marie Nelson in that post for this year. Mrs. Robert Easterling, leader, invested the new members and awarded program aid bars and senior service pins to those who had earned them. Lorraine Ragland and Pat Collins serve as assistant leaders of the troop. We'll be hearing more from Troop 14.

In a candlelight wedding at the Fair Park Baptist Church on Friday evening, Sept. 9 at 6:30 o'clock, Miss Patricia Nolan became the bride of Joe Hayward Jordan. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Nolan of West Monroe and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Jordan of Chatham are the parents of the groom.

Large white chrysanthemums and gladioli in tall baskets against a background of cathedral candles in floor standards decorated the church. The altar rail was trimmed with ivy and at either end baskets of the same flowers were used. The vows were exchanged before a white arch entwined with ivy. The Rev. N. T. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white embroidered tulle over taffeta which featured a ballerina length skirt with torso waistline. She carried a white orchid surrounded by tube roses, mounted on a white Bible.

Miss Sybil Perkins served as maid of honor, the other attendants included Miss Margaret Wilhite, bridesmaid and Debbie Gates, flower girl and Randy Maxwell, ring bearer.

They wore matching gowns of aqua crystallette with bandeaus of pink asters and tube roses. Their bouquets were heart shaped, made with pink asters and tube roses and lacelon ruffles.

Miss Sue Tucker of Hamburg, Ark., and Miss Joanne Williams were candlelighters.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. Mrs. Nolan was wearing a dress of powder blue lace with navy accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The bride's table was covered with a white cloth and at one end the tiered wedding cake decorated with pale pink flowers was placed. At the opposite end was the punch service. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Willard Nolan, Mrs. T. F. Simpson, Jr., Miss Helen Barnett and Miss Barbara Bradley. Miss Terri Fields registered the guests.

For their wedding trip to Mississippi, the bride traveled in a navy cotton faille suit, trimmed with white pique. Her accessories were navy and white and she wore a white orchid corsage. On their return the young couple will be at home at 313 Egan St.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs Alvin Dodd, Miss Peggie Dodd, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dodd, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Pardue, all of Farmerville; Rev. and Mrs. N. T. Smith, Miss Mary Glenda Smith, Miss Ollie Sue Smith and Miss Beverly Nichols of DeQuiney; Mr. and Mrs. Hirschel Jordan, Chatham; Mrs. Willard Nolan, Johnnie Mack Nolan, Sandra Sue White, Sue Tucker of Hamburg, Ark.; David La Barde and Bettie La Barde of Winnsboro.

WSG To Observe 15 Anniversary

The Wesleyan Service Guild of The First Methodist Church will recognize its 15th anniversary with a party on the evening of Tuesday, September 20th, at the parsonage, 702 Jackson street, with Reverend and Mrs. G. W. Pomeroy as hosts to the occasion. Each year, at this time, the Guild recognizes all business and professional women of the church by inviting them to be their special guests for the evening. Also numbered among the guests will be Mrs. Minza Rabun of Bastrop, conference president of guilds, the presidents of other local guilds in the Twin Cities, and officers of the W. S. C. S. of First Church. Mrs. Ethel Maroney is president.

During these fifteen years the guild at First Methodist Church has occupied a very important place in the life of the church. Its program, especially suited to the interests and needs of business and professional women has made a large contribution in local church activities, Christian social relations, home and foreign missionary service and cultural and recreational activities. Though the guild is a part of the Woman's Society of Christian Service it is especially adapted to the employed women. As stated in their by-laws "The purpose of the Wesleyan Service Guild shall be to provide a channel through which the employed women can achieve spiritual enrichment and Christian fellowship and take an active part in developing a world Christian community."

Girl Scout News

This is the time for getting back into the routine of weekly scout meetings with their fun and worthwhile activities. We're glad about the troops that have leaders and are starting and hope that the others may soon find the leadership they need.

Troop 26, made up of eighteen sixth - grade girls at Sherrouse school, held its first meeting last week with Mrs. J. H. Mosely, who is to be leader. The girls elected Kay Anderson, Marretta Heidenreich, and Rosemary Upshaw as patrol leaders, and Jeanine Braucher as troop scribe. Their first two meetings will be given over to planning the year's program, their leader says. We predict a good year for this troop of wide-awake girls.

As a preliminary to the regular meetings, Mrs. O. Willis invited daughter Judy's troop members to a party at her house. Ten-year-olds always have fun at a party, and at Scout meetings, too. These girls who belong to Troop 18, are fifth-graders at Sherrouse, and are eagerly looking forward to their first year of Intermediate Scouting, under the leadership of Mrs. E. R. Smith. Lucy Huckabee and daughter, Yvonne, help with the troop sometimes and we know that helps make it a good troop.

While we're on the subject of Sherrouse troops, there are two of the newest, Brownie troops 25 and 30, who are starting off with a bang with plans for activities in the field of community life. Many of the girls attended day camp, and took swimming lessons last summer, and are looking forward to a full year of Brownie Scouting with their leaders, Mrs. Clyde Stringer and Mrs. F. L. Smith.

It is not always that a leader, especially if she serves only a year or two, can see much of what is happening to the girls she works with. If all of their former leaders could have been present at the investiture ceremony Senior Troop 14 held for new members Wednesday evening, they would have been proud indeed that they had had a part in the Brownie and Intermediate Scout experiences of these girls. Two leaders, Estelle Martin and Helen Hood, who brought a number of the girls to the verge of Senior Scouting, were present, and were very proud indeed.

A check of membership records shows that most of the girls in the troop have been in Scouting at least five years, with Beverly Rushing starting her tenth year with her current registration with Troop 14. Amy Hood, Linda McCormick and Linda Atkins were members of Troop 2 in West Monroe from the time they were in the second grade. Betty Hines, Sue Grower, Marie Nelson, Charlotte Bruscato Malise Mapp, Daveen Barksdale, Nancy Breard, Ingrid Peterson, and Jo Ann Usrey are other girls who have completed six years or more.

Nancy Breard presided over the program held in the recreation room of the First Methodist church, which sponsors the troop. Daveen Barksdale, chairman of the Court-of-Honor last year, installed Marie Nelson in that post for this year. Mrs. Robert Easterling, leader, invested the new members and awarded program aid bars and senior service pins to those who had earned them. Lorraine Ragland and Pat Collins serve as assistant leaders of the troop. We'll be hearing more from Troop 14.

MR. AND MRS. JOE HAYWARD JORDAN

Jordan, Nolan Vows Are Said By Candlelight

In a candlelight wedding at the Fair Park Baptist Church on Friday evening, Sept. 9 at 6:30 o'clock, Miss Patricia Nolan became the bride of Joe Hayward Jordan. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Nolan of West Monroe and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Jordan of Chatham are the parents of the groom.

Large white chrysanthemums and gladioli in tall baskets against a background of cathedral candles in floor standards decorated the church. The altar rail was trimmed with ivy and at either end baskets of the same flowers were used. The vows were exchanged before a white arch entwined with ivy. The Rev. N. T. Smith of DeQuincy, assisted by Rev. C. C. Martin, officiated. The nuptial music was rendered by Miss Mary Jane Dreasler and Elvis Stout was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white embroidered tulle over taffeta which featured a ballerina length skirt with torso waistline. The moulded bodice was fastened with tiny self covered buttons and the long sleeves tapered to points over her hands. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a pearl studed tiara. She carried a white orchid surrounded by tube roses, mounted on a white Bible.

Miss Sybil Perkins served as maid of honor, the other attendants included Miss Margaret Wilhite, bridesmaid and Debbie Gates, flower girl and Randy Maxwell, ring bearer.

They wore matching gowns of aqua crystallette with bandeaus of pink asters and tube roses. Their bouquets were heart shaped, made with pink asters and tube roses and lacelon ruffles.

Miss Sue Tucker of Hamburg, Ark., and Miss Joanne Williams were candlelighters.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. Mrs. Nolan was wearing a dress of powder blue lace with navy accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The bride's table was covered with a white cloth and at one end the tiered wedding cake decorated with pale pink flowers was placed. At the opposite end was the punch service. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Willard Nolan, Mrs. T. F. Simpson, Jr., Miss Helen Barnett and Miss Barbara Bradley. Miss Terri Fields registered the guests.

For their wedding trip to Mississippi, the bride traveled in a navy cotton faille suit, trimmed with white pique. Her accessories were navy and white and she wore a white orchid corsage. On their return the young couple will be at home at 313 Egan St.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Alvin Dodd, Miss Peggie Dodd, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dodd, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Pardue, all of Farmerville; Rev. and Mrs. N. T. Smith, Miss Mary Glenda Smith, Miss Ollie Sue Smith and Miss Beverly Nichols of DeQuincy; Mr. and Mrs. Hirschel Jordan, Chatham; Mrs. Willard Nolan, Johnnie Mack Nolan, Sandra Sue White, Sue Tucker of Hamburg, Ark.; David La Barde and Bettie La Barde of Winnsboro.

WSG To Observe 15 Anniversary

The Wesleyan Service Guild of The First Methodist Church will recognize its 15th anniversary with a party on the evening of Tuesday, September 20th, at the parsonage, 702 Jackson street, with Reverend and Mrs. G. W. Pomeroy as hosts to the occasion. Each year, at this time, the Guild recognizes all business and professional women of the church by inviting them to be their special guests for the evening. Also numbered among the guests will be Mrs. Minza Rabun of Bastrop, conference president of guilds, the presidents of other local guilds in the Twin Cities, and officers of the W. S. C. S. of First Church. Mrs. Ethel Maroney is president.

During these fifteen years the guild at First Methodist Church has occupied a very important place in the life of the church. Its program, especially suited to the interests and needs of business and professional women has made a large contribution in local church activities, Christian social relations, home and foreign missionary service and cultural and recreational activities. Though the guild is a part of the Woman's Society of Christian Service it is especially adapted to the employed women. As stated in their by-laws "The purpose of the Wesleyan Service Guild shall be to provide a channel through which the employed women can achieve spiritual enrichment and Christian fellowship and take an active part in developing a world Christian community."

Fashion Whimsy Is Expressed In Exciting Prints

Fashion's whimsy is expressed in exciting new prints for fall and winter. More unusual patterns and designs are in the news than during any previous fall season, according to the Silk and Rayon Print Institute.

Graceful patterns appear in 'round-the-clock clothes from dinner gowns to sportswear. Outstanding prints include large bold plaids, brilliant blotter designs, Oriental motifs and carefully defined all-over prints on dark grounds.

Surah, rayon and wool blends, jersey, corduroy, satin, taffeta and miracle blends look new for fall in both bold and understated patterns. One leading sportswear designer uses novel printed stripes and clocks borrowed from men's socks for texture and design interest.

There is a strong emphasis on printed trim. Reflecting the shade of a garment are printed collars, jabots and ties.

Chicken that is going to be spit-roasted on an electric rotisserie, does not need to be rubbed with fat beforehand.

Fashion Whimsy Is Expressed In Exciting Prints

Fashion's whimsy is expressed in exciting new prints for fall and winter. More unusual patterns and designs are in the news than during any previous fall season, according to the Silk and Rayon Print Institute.

Graceful patterns appear in 'round-the-clock clothes from dinner gowns to sportswear. Outstanding prints include large bold plaids, brilliant blotter designs, Oriental motifs and carefully defined all-over prints on dark grounds.

Surah, rayon and wool blends, jersey, corduroy, satin, taffeta and miracle blends look new for fall in both bold and understated patterns. One leading sportswear designer uses novel printed stripes and clocks borrowed from men's socks for texture and design interest.

There is a strong emphasis on printed trim. Reflecting the shade of a garment are printed collars, jabots and ties.

Chicken that is going to be spit-roasted on an electric rotisserie, does not need to be rubbed with fat beforehand.

Watch Plants During Dry Season

While visiting in the different parts of the parish this month, I find shrubs and trees planted this year are suffering from the dry weather. Many of them will soon die unless given water. The best way to water these plants is to sink a tile or ballon bucket several inches deep by the plant. (Of course it will be necessary to put a hole in the bottom of the bucket.) By filling this bucket or tile with water once or twice a week the plant will have sufficient moisture to keep growing at a normal rate.

It's too late in the season to force a lot of new growth as the cold will injure it, so do not add fertilizer to the water. By watering plants with the sunken tile or bucket, the root system continues to develop deep in the ground. Watering from the top, unless the soil is soaked several inches deep, encourages the roots to grow too near the surface. Plants which are heavily mulched with several inches of sawdust or straw are in much better condition than those not mulched.

Fair Catalogs

Fair catalogs are available now at the Agricultural Building, West Monroe. Call by and get yours, as we cannot mail them. Be sure to follow this catalog when getting your exhibits ready this year. There are several changes and some new premiums offered. Be sure to check classes 50 and 51 page 16 of the catalog for handicraft premiums.

After The Ball Game

With the football games in season, youngsters (maybe older ones too) will be meeting in groups after the game. It's a fine time to have friends in the home for these get-to-gethers, and of course some refreshments will be wonderful. Mrs. U. W. Pickens, Jr., food preparation leader of Thrifty Homemaker Club, suggests you try these recipes for after the ball game treat. They are easy to prepare and will taste good on a cold night. Of course, you will need to have something to drink with these treats.

Pronto Pups

Fill a small deep fryer or deep pan two-thirds full of cooking oil. Do not use shortening as this will make the pups greasy. Put oil on to heat. The batter is made with the following ingredients: 1 cup flour, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1½ teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, two - thirds cup corn meal, 2 tablespoons shortening, 1 egg, ¾ cup milk. Combine the ingredients in the order listed.

Cook weiners in the hot oil for one minute, then dip them in the batter. Fry them in the hot oil until they are brown and crisp, turning them once. Remove them from the oil and drain before placing them on sucker sticks. Serve hot with mustard.

A Sweet Treat

Obtain a loaf of unbaked bread from the bakery or make your own favorite recipe. Cut the bread in finger width slices and drop into hot cooking oil. Remove from the oil when brown and roll in confectioners sugar. Serve hot.

Down To Earth

Hyacinths, narcissus, tulips and crocus must be planted in fall. Two tablespoons of fertilizer should be mixed with soil and put two inches under base of bulb.

Dissolve one - half teaspoon of 5-10-5 in one-half gallon of water. Put in saucer under African violets every two or three weeks until liquid is gone.

Costume Look Is Seen Everywhere In Fall Suit Wear

Suits this season have many looks, but whether skirts are slim, flaring or pleated, whether jackets are long and narrow, boxy or bloused, the costume look is seen everywhere in the fall suit picture.

Virtually every style has its champions among the designers, and each can find its way to the wardrobes of the women who feel that a certain "look" is particularly right for them. Whatever the style choice, a suit is most significant of the new season when it has a consistent, all-together air.

Costume integration is achieved in an interesting variety of ways. Unity of color between suit and blouse is a popular method. Again, jackets may be lined or faced to match a blouse, or the jacket trim may repeat the fabric of a blouse or weskit.

Adapting with ease to the costume look, tunics appear in the forefront of 1955 - 56 suit fashion. As a jacket, the tunic is sometimes slim, sometimes flaring. Hipline accents or a shaped peplum may be used to give the impression of a tunic.

The flaring tunic and the A-line, with its sweep of fullness to the hem, have made an impact on styling of long, slim suits.

Slender skirts now make more concession to movement. They're cut for ease, often with an inverted back pleat beginning just below the hips. With the skirts are longer jackets, slim but semi-fitted.

Cardigans, slimmed down and lengthened, peplum and boxy styles are other jacket treatments in for fall. Gores and pleats, producing either a slim or full effect, are prominent evidence of the new ease in skirts.

When you are making broiled open - face sandwiches, it's usually satisfactory to toast one side of the bread first under the broiler. Then pile the topping on the untoasted side before putting under the broiler again.

Casual Dresses Take On Look Of Various Nations

The bold stripes and swashbuckling cut of Italian styles appear in shirtwaist sport dresses of rough textured winter cottons and silky surfaces. The slash neckline with stand - up collar is a smart Mediterranean feature that looks well in molded - top torso styles. Clear reds and greens and yellows are leading colors endorsed by sunny Italy.

From India come palsley and sari patterns that are well handled in surplice top daytime dresses with wraparound or easy-slim skirts. Silks, sheer wools and synthetics are the favored fabrics.

Clan plaids are of prime importance in woolens, wool blends and textured cottons. Styles run the gamut from the bloused sheath to the low torso. White pique or black velvet trims provide bright touches. Tartans may be the authentic Scottish or inventive American variety, huge and blanket-y or tiny. Dark backgrounds figure prominently.

From England comes the Bond Street look in fine woolens, quality cottons and even washable wool-like synthetics. British - looking tweeds are casual dress favorites. The man-tailoring of fall '55 has been much feminized with bow trims, gentle curves and soft collar, cuff and pocket detail. The dress line is simple — easily fitted or slightly bloused bodice and pleated, gored or sheathed skirt.

Oxfords Replaced By Smart Shoes

Those good old utility oxfords that used to clump around the classroom have given place to smart new shoes, soft but sturdy, with new fashion ideas in accord with up-to-date school fashions.

A new departure is the strapped shoe which still maintains the popular moccasin treatment but can serve for almost any daytime wear.

There are new tricks in this field. Kilties have been enjoying a run with the grade school age. They're still a popular feature. But the detachable kiltie tongue can give you two shoes for one which is a feature any youngster can appreciate.

There's no breaking - in for this type of shoe. New tannages and good lasts have taken car of that. Smooth or semi-smooth, shrunken or grained, the leathers all have the same luxurious soft touch for young and growing feet.

The proof was burned into the sands of Daytona Beach at the NASCAR* trials earlier this year. In acceleration tests, Chevrolet simply walked away from everything else in its field. Plus—and get this—all the high-priced cars except one!

Surprising? Not when you consider that this beauty's been cleaning up on all comers in short track stock car events this season. That's where acceleration really pays off, as well as handling ease and cornering ability—things that mean safer, happier highway driving. Come on in and let a new Chevrolet show you what we mean.

Methodism In Poland Is Making Gains

Two letters this year to the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church from the superintendent of the Methodist Church in Poland, the first communication received since July 1951, indicate Methodist work in Poland continues to flourish.

In his most recent letter, written in August, the superintendent, the Rev. Josef Naumiuk of Warsaw, told of the visit to Poland in July and August of Dr. Charles F. Boss, Jr., of Chicago, the executive secretary of the Methodist Board of World Peace. Dr. Boss was the first American Methodist minister to visit Poland in four years, Mr. Naumiuk said.

In the first letter this year, Mr. Naumiuk reported that, despite its apparent silence for four years, the Polish Methodist Church has continued to be active.

"The Methodist Church in Poland is not only alive but has come to maturity within the last 10 years since the end of World War II and is fully functioning and will continue with its activities," he wrote.

The Methodist Church in Poland is described by the superintendent as an ecumenical church. "We have a good neighbor policy toward all denominations and cooperate with them," Mr. Naumiuk wrote. "In many of our churches and chapels, Evangelical Christians and others have their services."

The headquarters of the Methodist Church in Poland is in an eight-story building in Warsaw. Though no statistics regarding membership or number of churches or ministers were given, Mr. Naumiuk spoke of receiving letters from ministers in various parts of the country.

In their research, the Carters discovered that in 1838, James Lovell, member of the organizational committee of the Louisiana Episcopal Diocese, said, in speaking of the organization of the Diocese:

"So great a good could not be brought about without stirring up the wrath of Satan . . . Indeed I should doubt whether the work were of God had we no opposition to contend with."

Here in "So Great a Good" simply narrated from a layman's point-of-view are more than 150 fascinating pages of history written to commemorate the sesquicentennial of the first Prayer Book service in the Louisiana Purchase Territory.

It is to be published for the Diocese by the University of the South Press, at Sewanee, in two editions:

Regular Clothbound Edition . . . 5.00

Jewish Groups Are Observing Their New Year

Rosh Hashanah, ushering in the Jewish New Year 5716 on Sept. 17, will be the prelude to other important events in the Jewish calendar.

On Sept. 19 a fast day will be observed when the people will mourn for G'dalyah, a Jew who was named governor of Palestine. This caused belief among the Jews that their nation would rise again, but G'dalyah was ruthlessly assassinated.

Yom Kippur will be observed Sept. 26. This day of atonement is the holiest of the year, when the Lord judges each individual. Jews fast, confess, and repent, asking pardon for their sins.

October 1, through Oct. 7, will be the Feast of the Tabernacles.

On October 8 the day is designated as one of Holy Assembly. Jewish people celebrate the time of ripe harvest.

October 9, the Torah (five books of Moses) are read in entirety each year. On this day, this reading is completed and then started anew.

December 10 Chanukah is when the Maccabees freed the Temple from Syrian conquerors.

December 25 — Asrah B'tevet is the anniversary of the day the Babylonians began the siege of Jerusalem. Soon after the city was taken, the Temple destroyed and the first Hebrew Commonwealth was no more. This is a day of fasting and of mourning.

Presby. Faith To Be Studied At Church Here

For the fall program the First Presbyterian Church is emphasizing the importance of knowing what we believe and of passing our Christian faith on to our children. The educational program of the church will include a Communicants Class on "What Presbyterians Believe" taught by the minister, W. H. McFadden, each Sunday morning for four Sundays, beginning September 18, at 10 in the sanctuary of the church.

It will include a Rally Day program to be held September 25 in the sanctuary of the church at which time each department of the church school will present something of the Christian Education work of their group. The Rally Day program will be under the direction of Mr. M. E. Pickett, Jr., superintendent.

The Christian Education emphasis will be further carried out October 9 through 14 when Dr. Walter Courtenay, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Nashville, Tenn. will present nightly a series of messages to enrich the spiritual life of the congregation. During the same week Dr. Courtenay is present at the First Presbyterian Church, the Centennial of the church will be celebrated. Members and friends as well as all interested people are invited to any of the above services of the church.

Bible Words for Today

ROMANS 12:2—"Do not be conformed to this world but be transformed by the renewal of your mind, that you may prove what is the will of God, what is good and acceptable and perfect." (RSV)

• • •

Pressure is constantly being brought to bear on us to bend our ways of thought and behavior and attitude to the pattern of the group, with little concern for whether that pattern is right or wrong. Whole nations of people are being enslaved because they find it easier to conform than to resist. And the future of freedom lies continually under threat of the common fallacy that because an idea or philosophy or practice is popular it must be right.

The Christian Gospel demands that we be different. It challenges us to open our lives to the will of God, as we find it so clearly manifested in Christ Jesus; to accept no lesser standards than the laws of right and wrong which He has incorporated into the universe from its very creation, to receive gratefully the love with which He has reached out through Jesus to make new people of us, and by the power of all that to change for God the pattern of life about us instead of being changed by it.

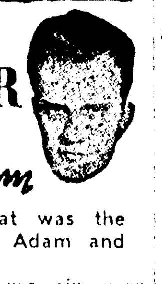
You will be sorrowful, but your sorrow will turn into joy.

The measure you give will be the measure you get, and still more will be given you.

Rom. 13:3 — Rulers are not a terror to good conduct, but to bad.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham



QUESTION: What was the original sin which Adam and Eve committed?

ANSWER: The same sin men and women are committing all over the world today — disobedience to God's commands. God made man after his own image and gave him the capacity of choice and the privilege of exercising his own free will. He also provided a method of testing with the choice of obedience or disobedience. Adam and Eve chose to disobey God and in so doing brought separation from God and sorrow in their hearts. Today we are sinners by choice and sinners by practice. Again and again we choose to disobey God's commands. But, God has provided a way of forgiveness, of cleansing and of renewed fellowship — it is the cross of Christ and what Christ did for us on that cross. When our hearts and lives are surrendered to Christ He gives us the power to overcome the temptations which come and to live lives obedient to God's holy law.

Why Grow Old

Stomach In, Chest Out, For Graceful Walk

A walk is extremely characteristic of the individual. Some walk with a bouncy step as though they had springs under their insteps. Others waddle from side to side. Some walk in a stiff-legged manner while still more mince along with little, tripping steps.

Some walk with purpose and determination. Others loiter in their walk as though they do not know where they are going and doubt if they will ever get there.

We may like the way a person we love walks simply because it is so characteristic, even though it is not really attractive, and someone who loves us may feel the same way about our walk. However, a graceful carriage and walk are two of woman's most potent attractions.

If you hold yourself correctly and flow along with a smooth gait, this immediately creates an aura of charm as you enter a room or walk down the avenue. It also is less tiring because muscles and ligaments are not under strain.

For a graceful walk, stand straight. The feet should be slightly apart and the toes should point straight forward. Pull your abdomen in, lift your chest and pull your hips under. Shoulders should be relaxed, head up. Do not have the body weight over the heels but let it fall over the arches.

Remain in this alignment as you step forward for your walk. The knees should be somewhat relaxed so that you do not over extend them at the end of each step. Knees also are close together so that they just barely miss touching as you walk. Reach from the hips rather than from the knees.

If you have had poor posture for a long time or have unconsciously been making mistakes in the way you move about, it will take some practice for a beautiful stride but the results will be well worth the effort. A too aggressive walk is not attractive for a woman. Let your arms swing naturally but avoid looking as though you are pumping yourself along with them.

The old habit of walking about with a book on your head is still a sound one. The book will not remain on your head unless your posture is fairly good and your walk reasonably smooth.

Methodism In Poland Is Making Gains

Two letters this year to the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church from the superintendent of the Methodist Church in Poland, the first communication received since July, 1951, indicate Methodist work in Poland continues to flourish.

In his most recent letter, written in August, the superintendent, the Rev. Josef Naumiuk of Warsaw, told of the visit to Poland in July and August of Dr. Charles F. Boss, Jr., of Chicago, the executive secretary of the Methodist Board of World Peace. Dr. Boss was the first American Methodist minister to visit Poland in four years, Mr. Naumiuk said.

In the first letter this year, Mr. Naumiuk reported that, despite its apparent silence for four years, the Polish Methodist Church has continued to be active.

"The Methodist Church in Poland is not only alive but has come to maturity within the last 10 years since the end of World War II and is fully functioning and will continue with its activities," he wrote.

The Methodist Church in Poland is described by the superintendent as an ecumenical church. "We have a good neighbor policy toward all denominations and cooperate with them," Mr. Naumiuk wrote. "In many of our churches and chapels, Evangelical Christians and others have their services."

The headquarters of the Methodist Church in Poland is in an eight-story building in Warsaw. Though no statistics regarding membership or number of churches or ministers were given, Mr. Naumiuk spoke of receiving letters from ministers in various parts of the country.

Quarter's Meeting Planned For Marion

MARION, La., Sept. 15 (Special) — District Superintendent Guy Hicks of Ruston will hold the first quarterly conference of the Marion charge of the Methodist Church here Sunday afternoon at 2:30. He will preach at the 11 o'clock service Sunday.

The Marion charge is composed of the church at Marion, Bird's Chapel and Union with the Rev. Frank M. Stage, Jr., of Marion, as pastor.

Pulitzer prize-winner Hodding Carter and his wife, Betty Carter, co-authors of the forth-coming book "So Great a Good," chose these words from a quotation made over 115 years ago for the title of the authorized History of the Louisiana Episcopal Diocese and Christ Church Cathedral.

In their research, the Carters discovered that in 1838, James Lovell, member of the organizational committee of the Louisiana Episcopal Diocese, said, in speaking of the organization of the Diocese:

"So great a good could not be brought about without stirring up the wrath of Satan . . . Indeed, I should doubt whether the work were of God had we no opposition to contend with."

Here in "So Great a Good" simply narrated from a layman's point-of-view, are more than 450 fascinating pages of history written to commemorate the Sesquicentennial of the first Prayer Book service in the Louisiana Purchase Territory.

It is to be published for the Diocese by the University of the South Press, at Sewanee—in two editions:

Limited First Edition . . . 7.50
Regular Clothbound Edition 5.00

Including sales taxes, handling & mailing

Proceeds from sales of the book will help defray expenses of Sesquicentennial Observance to be highlighted by Service of Witness at the New Orleans Municipal Auditorium November 16, 1955.

Please reserve your copies NOW . . . especially for the limited first edition which should be sold out by late September.

Jewish Groups Are Observing Their New Year

Rosh Hashanah, ushering in the Jewish New Year 5716 on Sept. 17, will be the prelude to other important events in the Jewish calendar.

On Sept. 19 a fast day will be observed when the people will mourn for G'dalyah, a Jew who was named governor of Palestine. This caused belief among the Jews that their nation would rise again, but G'dalyah was ruthlessly assassinated.

Yom Kippur will be observed Sept. 26. This day of atonement is the holiest of the year, when the Lord judges each individual. Jews fast, confess, and repent, asking pardon for their sins.

October 1, through Oct. 7, will be the Feast of the Tabernacles.

On October 8, the day is designated as one of Holy Assembly. Jewish people celebrate the time of ripe harvest.

October 9, the Torah (five books of Moses) are read in entirety each year. On this day, this reading is completed and then started anew.

December 10, Chanukah is when the Maccabees freed the Temple from Syrain conquerors.

December 25 — Asrah B'tevet is the anniversary of the day the Babylonians began the siege of Jerusalem. Soon after the city was taken, the Temple destroyed and the first Hebrew Commonwealth was no more. This is a day of fasting and of mourning.

Presby. Faith To Be Studied At Church Here

For the fall program the First Presbyterian Church is emphasizing the importance of knowing what we believe and of passing our Christian faith on to our children. The educational program of the church will include a Communicants Class on "What Presbyterians Believe" taught by the minister, W. H. McFadden, each Sunday morning for four Sundays, beginning September 18, at 10 in the sanctuary of the church.

It will include a Rally Day program to be held September 25 in the sanctuary of the church at which time each department of the church school will present something of the Christian Education work of their group. The Rally Day program will be under the direction of Mr. M. E. Pickett, Jr., superintendent.

The Christian Education emphasis will be further carried out October 9 through 14 when Dr. Walter Courtenay, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Nashville, Tenn. will present nightly a series of messages to enrich the spiritual life of the congregation. During the same week Dr. Courtenay is present at the First Presbyterian Church, the Centennial of the church will be celebrated. Members and friends as well as all interested people are invited to any of the above services of the church.

Dedication Of St. Francis Is Set On Sunday

Dedication of St. Francis Catholic Church, only Catholic Church in Ouachita parish outside of the cities of Monroe and West Monroe will be dedicated at 10 a. m. Sunday. Rev. Father Finian McMullin will officiate.

A modern brick building has been erected and has been in use for the past three Sundays. Its auditorium will seat as many as 300 persons.

This church got its start two years ago with only five families as communicants. Today there are thirteen families who attend this church and the number is increasing at this time.

Reception For Two Rabbis Will Be Held Sept. 23

The congregation of Temple B'Nai Israel is honoring Rabbi F. K. Hirsch upon his retirement at a short service and special program Friday, September 23 at 8 p. m.

A reception will follow the service in the annex. All of Rabbi Hirsch's friends are invited to join in honoring him for giving of his services to the community.

At the same time the community will be introduced to the new minister, Rabbi Jacob Lantz.

Bible Words for Today

ROMANS 12:2—"Do not be conformed to this world but be transformed by the renewal of your mind, that you may prove what is the will of God, what is good and acceptable and perfect." (RSV)

* * *

Pressure is constantly being brought to bear on us to bend our ways of thought and behavior and attitude to the pattern of the group, with little concern for whether that pattern is right or wrong. Whole nations of people are being enslaved because they find it easier to conform than to resist. And the future of freedom lies continually under threat of the common fallacy that because an idea or philosophy or practice is popular it must be right.

The Christian Gospel demands that we be different. It challenges us to open our lives to the will of God, as we find it so clearly manifested in Christ Jesus; to accept no lesser standards than the laws of right and wrong which He has incorporated into the universe from its very creation; to receive gratefully the love with which He has reached out through Jesus to make new people of us, and by the power of all that to change for God the pattern of life about us instead of being changed by it.

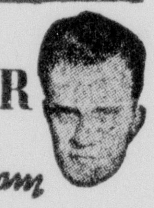
MY ANSWER by Billy Graham



QUESTION: What was the original sin which Adam and Eve committed?

ANSWER: The same sin men and women are committing all over the world today — disobedience to God's commands. God made man after his own image and gave him the capacity of choice and the privilege of exercising his own free will. He also provided a method of testing with the choice of obedience or disobedience. Adam and Eve chose to disobey God and in so doing brought separation from God and sorrow in their hearts. Today we are sinners by choice and sinners by practice. Again and again we choose to disobey God's commands. But, God has provided a way of forgiveness, of cleansing and of renewed fellowship — it is the cross of Christ and what Christ did for us on that cross. When our hearts and lives are surrendered to Christ He gives us the power to overcome the temptations which come and to live lives obedient to God's holy law.

Why Grow Old

Stomach In, Chest Out, For Graceful Walk

A walk is extremely characteristic of the individual. Some walk with a bouncy step as though they had springs under their insteps. Others waddle from side to side. Some walk in a stiff-legged manner while still more mince along with little, tripping steps.

Some walk with purpose and determination. Others loiter in their walk as though they do not know where they are going and doubt if they will ever get there.

We may like the way a person we love walks simply because it is so characteristic, even though it is not really attractive, and someone who loves us may feel the same way about our walk. However, a graceful carriage and walk are two of woman's most potent attractions.

If you hold yourself correctly and float along with a smooth gait, this immediately creates an aura of charm as you enter a room or walk down the avenue. It also is less tiring because muscles and ligaments are not under strain.

For a graceful walk, stand straight. The feet should be slightly apart and the toes should point straight forward. Pull your abdomen in, lift your chest and pull your hips under. Shoulders should be relaxed, head up. Do not have the body weight over the heels but let it fall over the arches.

Remain in this alignment as you step forward for your walk. The knees should be somewhat relaxed so that you do not over extend them at the end of each step. Knees also are close together so that they just barely miss touching as you walk. Reach from the hips rather than from the knees.

If you ave had poor posture for a long time or have unconsciously been making mistakes in the way you move about, it will take some practice for a beautiful stride but the results will be well worth the effort. A too aggressive walk is not attractive for a woman. Let your arms swing naturally but avoid looking as though you are pumping yourself along with them.

The old habit of walking about with a book on your head is still a sound one. The book will not remain on your head unless your posture is fairly good and your walk reasonably smooth.

Indian Summer House Plants

These are the balmy, nostologic days, the period we call Indian summer. Webster's dictionary, in a rare burst of poetry defines Indian summer charmingly, as follows: "A period of warm or mild weather, usually characterized by a clear or cloudless sky and by a hazy or smoky appearance of the atmosphere, especially near the horizon." Some say it is a sad time of year because the leaves fall. Others claim it's their favorite season because of the beautiful colors in the foliage. For many it's a happy time because old Sol is not bearing down so heavy, and comfortable weather is near.

House Plants

It is the time of year when we begin to plan for house plants because we'll be staying indoors here. There are many outdoor plants that will stand transplanting for the house. Asperdistra, varigated or green, makes a beautiful tall plant. Llrope, both the varigated and green as well as monkey grass (lily turf) transplant well. The coleus, wandering Jew (both the green and purple) and all the ivy's are very lovely plants for indoors.

Croton (get from your nursery) a native Floridian, makes a showy house plant and there are at least a dozen varieties from which to choose. Mrs. Brooks says they require a constant temperature, no extremes of heat or cold.

And — for the children, don't forget the sweet potato. Put it in a bowl with about three quarers of an inch of water. Put in a dark closet until it begins to sprout, replenishing the water when needed. When sprouts appear put the bowl out in your room and watch the leaves take on shape. A luxuriant vine will be yours in a few weeks.

Modern decorating calls for plants in the house, but to me they help spell home.

Potting Soil

Dr. Hanchey told us at Farm and Home Week to use the following mixture for potting plants. One part garden soil (loam), one part sand, one part peat moss, one part barnyard fertilizer (to a bushel of which is mixed a half cup of superphosphate). An extra part of peat can be substituted for the barnyard fertilizer. Sterilize the soil by first dampening it and then baking for an hour in a 300 degree oven.

Factors Affecting Plants

Dr. Hanchey says there are seven factors that affect house plants. These are his comments on those factors:

Light — For most plants sun is desirable.

Temperature — High temperature and low humidity cause plants to suffer. Drafts cause plants to lose too much moisture. Plants need protection against, cold, if they they are tender.

Fertilizer — Take the directions on a package. Use half as often as recommended. Very little fertilizer is needed by plants that grow in the dark.

Spetember Foods

Rice, prok and potatoes are the featured plentiful foods for September and October. The best protein buy will be pork, a popular and nutritious dish. Pork contains niacin, a vitamin not found in too many foods.

Markets across the country will continue to offer generous supplies of dairy products. As for other protein foods, grass fed beef is expected to hit October markets in large volume. Many cuts and grades of beef will be available to shoppers, especially the "good" grades. The popular broiler and fryer chickens continue in greater supply than they were last year at this time.

Also plentiful during October will be canned tuna, a favorite item for sandwiches and salads. To serve with those fall salads, there will be a generous supply of salad oils. Lard, a popular shortening also will be plentiful. When foods are plentiful they are found at a lower price, so Mrs. Homemaker, take note.

Announcements

Good news. You remember Mr. John Wright, floriculture instructor from Louisiana Tech who gave you that practical and beautiful TV demonstration on flower arrangements several weeks ago. Mary Margaret Jardine has dated him for the third Wednesday in each month for a lesson on "Open House." Why not get three or four together in neighborhood groups, take along some flowers, holders and containers, and follow each step as Mr. Wright demonstrates? This excellent teacher will begin with step the first step and teach the entire series. Aren't we the lucky ones? I'll have some other important people to tell you about who will appear on Open House, later on.

Your TV programs for this week are: Monday, Mrs. Effie Lofton, Home agent from St. Joseph will show you how to make a hassock out of cheese hoops; Tuesday, we'll have some hat and clothing demonstrations; Wednesday, you will see the three blue ribbon winners from the Garden Center and Mr. Wright will give his first lesson in flower arrangement; Thursday, Mr. Huffman will give you the third first aid lesson and Friday is marketing day.

See you next week.

Garden Center Notes

By Mary M. Jardine

Corsage Craft On Display At Center This Wk.

Mrs. C. S. Fuller was awarded second place for a most original vertical design using fresh and dried materials. The container was a natural bamboo cylinder. The vertical line was established with wheat, brome grass, brown cattails and flat green cactus continuing down the line. One piece of cactus was brought over the rim of the container and the center of interest was a cluster of grapes in green with blush tones of red-orange. This lovely arrangement will last all winter. Mrs. Herschel Colvin was awarded third place. Against a rose background Mrs. Colvin created a beautiful mass arrangement showing canna in various stages of growth. Maroon canna leaves gracefully arranged formed a frame for the tall spikes of canna buds and dark red seed pods. Low in the arrangement half-open buds in deep red were clustered, creating a point of interest. The container used was a low round black bowl. Mrs. Colvin carried away all the honors in the horticulture division winning blue ribbons for Tithonia, Daylily Autumn Red, and a large specimen of Celosia in chartreuse color. The show was judged by an accredited judge.

Also on display at the Garden Center this week were many beautiful corsages designed by Mrs. L. P. Craighead of Delhi. Mrs. Craighead is a member of the Delhi Garden Club and helped to organize the Delhi Junior Garden Club. She was chairman this summer of a class in corsage craft for junior girls of all ages in cooperation with the recreation department in Delhi.

The corsages on display were made of dried and painted materials. All these and many more of fresh flowers were used by Mrs. Craighead on her television program Wednesday on Open House. Also shown are pictures of the group at work, and in the second picture the group proudly displaying their handiwork. This program was enthusiastically received by the young people of Delhi and we hope other clubs in the district will follow the example and bring similar programs to their young people. A most interesting design used cotton burrs painted two shades of chartreuse, the backs and edges tipped with gold. The seed pods of Job's Tears were glued in the center. Poppy seed pods touched with chartreuse completed this lovely corsage.

Another lovely design was made of small branches of pussy willow (these had been treated with glycerin) small pine cones tipped with gold. In the center was a gilded cotton burr. Gold gauze ribbon in a tailored bow enhanced the simple line. A holiday corsage that I particularly like used silver seed pods of Jobs Tears in a curved line. The seed pods of single hibiscus silvered on the outside and painted royal blue inside followed the graceful line. These were sprinkled with light blue glitter. Silver metallic ribbon added a festive note.

Another Christmas corsage was arranged in a round form. Burford Holly leaves (glycerin treated) were aranged in a round pattern, the larger leaves on the outside and smaller leaves worked to the center. Clustered in the middle were bright red holly berries. Mrs. Craighead's recipe for treating leaves is as follows: Select the leaves of your choice, leave on the stems. Crush the stem so water can absorb into it. Place in container in one or two inches of solution containing one - half glycerin and one - half water. Leaves will be cured in about three weeks. All of the corsages are so beautiful, hope you didn't miss seeing them at the center.

Plant Annuals At Right Time

One of the real tricks of gardening in our geographical position in the south is the planting of certain annuals and biennials at the right time to make them flower in early spring before the hot weather burns them up. There are some annuals and a few biennials that will make a big show if planted at the right time. They will fizzle out and vanish when that old April drought hits them if you plant them in early spring. They simply have to be sown from seed in September to allow them to make lusty plants during the early fall so that they can undergo the oncoming cold weather. If you sow them in October, they may not be strong enough to withstand the cold. If you sow them in November and December as many people do, they will remain dormant, as they are supposed to do, and come up very early in the spring. Late sown hardy annuals like this, however, never attain the size of those planted in September and are hardly worth the time and effort we put into them. Try sowing some of the following list right now to bloom in early spring with the bulbs.

California poppies will come right up and provide the garden with silvery foliage. Where you sow them in large patches, they will make a beautiful ground cover all winter. They come in low plants that hug the ground and more upright ones. Spring gardens are so full of blue flowered plants that the yellows, apricots and shades between these two fit in well with spring flowers. The double poppies will be apt to steal the show. If you do not want this to happen, plant the simple single ones. In your yellow and blue color scheme, the tough old annual listed in catalogues (not every one has it) as Echium plantagineum will give a telling effect long after most early annuals have burned up with the heat. Be sure to plant some Chinese forget - me - nots right now, too, for blue in middle spring. The rosettes of leaves lying on the ground all winter are beautiful to look at and will also take up some of room that chickweed might otherwise occupy. Still another blue annual — and one that we almost never see in southern gardens — is baby blue-eyes (Nemophila), a California annual that makes a clear blue groundcover. Even if it does go out with the heat, the clean blue flowers with little white eyes are worth growing.

Opium poppies, those tall brilliant flowers, will astound you with their size next spring if you plant them right now. Do not forget that they take up a lot of room while they are blooming, and then leave a huge void when they go out with the heat. Fall planted Shirley poppies will not be so big. They come in named varieties and strong cilors.

To this list, we can add the following excellent annuals: Chantranthus macrosiphon, Silene Armeria, Silene pendula, Collomia biflora, Crepis rubra. The last named usually folds its tent right up when the first heat strikes it but is brilliant for two weeks if planted in September. Get out your catalogues and read up on these. Do not wait till October to sow them.

If you have driven a horse to water without being able to make him drink, various methods may be employed to accomplish your purpose. If subtlety fails to produce results on the recalcitrant nag, resort must be had to the whip. In the play of the above hand, when his subtle hint failed West hit upon a way to corner his restive partner into submission, but, alas, too late.

South's response of one no trump shows that the mid - Victorian influence is still being felt. In these enlightened days, however, there are few survivors who would fail to make the more logical response of one spade. East's double of one no trump was on the enterprising side. West's leave - in was a bit of a gamble which should have proved highly profitable.

The six of hearts was opened and the jack went to East's king. The deuce of hearts was returned to indicate an original holding of four, and dummy's ace took declarer' queen. On this trick West played the 10. Inasmuch as this set up his partner's 9, it plainly indicated a desire to have East lead rather than himself. This should clearly have pointed to the desired club shift whenever East regained the lead. Declarer played the ace of spades next and then the queen. East committed an atrocity in the way of grabbing it at once. He then played the nine of hearts, which of course held, and stubbornly persisted with the five of hearts. West, however, had retained the three of hearts with which to duck the trick, and East had no choice but to shift to a club.

The shift, however, came too late. There was no quick entry to partner's hand for another club lead and declarer now had six cashable tricks. Had East taken the simple precaution to hold up one round with the king of spades, an 800 point set could have resulted. But even after this egregious error he should have come home with a 500 point profit by accepting his partners clear cut suggestion for an early club shift.

Milk that is not cooled properly on the farm and kept cold until delivered to the processor deteriorates rapidly.

THE HOME SHIFT—

Indian Summer House Plants

These are the balmy, nostologic days, the period we call Indian summer. Webster's dictionary, in a rare burst of poetry defines Indian summer charmingly, as follows: "A period of warm or mild weather, usually characterized by a clear or cloudless sky and by a hazy or smoky appearance of the atmosphere, especially near the horizon." Some say it is a sad time of year because the leaves fall. Others claim it's their favorite season because of the beautiful colors in the foliage. For many it's a happy time because old Sol is not bearing down so heavy, and comfortable weather is near.

House Plants

It is the time of year when we begin to plan for house plants because we'll be staying indoors here. There are many outdoor plants that will stand transplanting for the house. Asperdistra, varigated or green, makes a beautiful tall plant. Lirope, both the varigated and green as well as monkey grass (lily turf) transplant well. The coleus, wandering Jew (both the green and purple) and all the ivy's are very lovely plants for indoors.

Croton (get from your nursery) a native Floridian, makes a showy house plant and there are at least a dozen varieties from which to choose. Mrs. Brooks says they require a constant temperature, no extremes of heat or cold.

And — for the children, don't forget the sweet potato. Put it in a bowl with about three quarers of an inch of water. Put in a dark closet until it begins to sprout, replenishing the water when needed. When sprouts appear put the bowl out in your room and watch the leaves take on shape. A luxuriant vine will be yours in a few weeks.

Modern decorating calls for plants in the house, but to me they help spell home.

Potting Soil

Dr. Hanchey told us at Farm and Home Week to use the following mixture for potting plants. One part garden soil (loam), one part sand, one part peat moss, one part barnyard fertilizer (to a bushel of which is mixed a half cup of superphosphate). An extra part of peat can be substituted for the barnyard fertilizer. Sterilize the soil by first dampening it and then baking for an hour in a 300 degree oven.

Factors Affecting Plants

Dr. Hanchey says there are seven factors that affect house plants. These are his comments on those factors:

Light — For most plants sun is desirable.

Humidity — Usually too low but nothing con be done about it.

Water — Don't try to follow a schedule. Water when soil gets dry, but don't over do it. Use room temperature water, especially in winter.

Temperature — High temperature and low humidity cause plants to suffer. Drafts cause plants to lose too much moisture. Plants need protection against, cold, if they they are tender.

Fertilizer — Take the directions on a package. Use half as often as recommended. Very little fertilizer is needed by plants that grow in the dark.

Spetember Foods

Rice, prok and potatoes are the featured plentiful foods for September and October. The best protein buy will be pork, a popular and nutritious dish. Pork contains niacin, a vitamin not found in too many foods.

Markets across the country will continue to offer generous supplies of dairy products. As for other protein foods, grass fed beef is expected to hit October markets in large volume. Many cuts and grades of beef will be available to shoppers, especially the "good" grades. The popular broiler and fryer chickens continue in greater supply than they were last year at this time.

The supply of fresh grapes from California will provide plenty of good eating between meals and for easy desserts.

Also plentiful during October will be canned tuna, a favorite item for sandwiches and salads. To serve with those fall salads, there will be a generous supply of salad oils. Lard, a popular shortening also will be plentiful. When foods are plentiful they are found at a lower price, so Mrs. Homemaker, take note.

Announcements

Good news. You remember Mr. John Wright, floriculture instructor from Louisiana Tech who gave you that practical and beautiful TV demonstration on flower arrangements several weeks ago. Mary Margaret Jardine has dated him for the third Wednesday in each month for a lesson on "Open House." Why not get three or four together in neighborhood groups, take along some flowers, holders and containers, and follow each step as Mr. Wright demonstrates? This excellent teacher will begin with step the first step and teach the entire series. Aren't we the lucky ones? I'll have some other important people to tell you about who will appear on Open House, later on.

Your TV programs for this week are: Monday, Mrs. Effie Lofton, Home agent from St. Joseph will show you how to make a hassock out of cheese hoops; Tuesday, we'll have some hat and clothing demonstrations; Wednesday, you will see the three blue ribbon winners from the Garden Center and Mr. Wright will give his first lesson in flower arrangement; Thursday, Mr. Huffman will give you the third first aid lesson and Friday is marketing day.

See you next week.

Corsage Craft On Display At Center This Wk.

Our exhibitor this week was the Dubach Garden Club. All blue ribbon in the horticulture class!! Congratulations to this club for the fine specimens shown. In the arrangement section, Mrs. William Smith was awarded first place, blue ribbon. Mrs. Smith chose a green crescent shaped container in which she created a crescent design. Buford holly in glossy green delineated the line. Helianthus flowers in bright yellow accented the crescent. Lighter green geranium leaves followed the lines of the container. A lovely combination of materials and textures.

Mrs. C. S. Fuller was awarded second place for a most original vertical design using fresh and dried materials. The container was a natural bamboo cylinder. The vertical line was established with wheat, brome grass, brown cattails and flat green cactus continuing down the line. One piece of cactus was brought over the rim of the container and the center of interest was a cluster of grapes in green with blush tones of red-orange. This lovely arrangement will last all winter. Mrs. Herschel Colvin was awarded third place. Against a rose background Mrs. Colvin created a beautiful mass arrangement showing canna in various stages of growth. Maroon canna leaves gracefully arranged formed a frame for the tall spikes of canna buds and dark red seed pods. Low in the arrangement half-open buds in deep red were clustered, creating a point of interest. The container used was a low round black bowl. Mrs. Colvin carried away all the honors in the horticulture division winning blue ribbons for Tithonia, Daylily Autumn Red, and a large specimen of Celosia in chartreuse color. The show was judged by an accredited judge.

Mental Preparation For Playing A Part

By BURT LANCASTER
(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, September 17 — The "thinking" part of acting is the hardest. Like a writer, an inventor or an architect groping for an idea, an actor preparing for a film role does his hardest work sitting quietly in a corner with his eyes shut.

[illegible] "Go away! Can't you see I'm busy?"

Once he has "thought out" the character he's to play, getting on his feet and playing it is relatively easy.

[illegible] mental preparation for playing Alvaro in Tennessee Williams' "The Rose Tattoo" provides a good example. In that Hal Wallis [illegible] production for Paramount I was required to change my film character completely.

In most of my films I have been a rough, tough man of action. In "The Rose Tattoo," an earthy comedy-drama, I play a [illegible] poetic banana truck driver — a clown-like oaf with a heart of gold who wants to marry a [illegible] Anna Magnani [illegible]

William [illegible]

[illegible] wooing of Serafina. He tells [illegible] that he's the grandson of the village idiot, that a marriage with her has economic advantages for him because of the financial drain of his three [illegible], chess-playing, beer-drinking dependents. Because he's [illegible] in love with her late, tattooed husband, whose ashes are kept in her home, Alvaro [illegible] the fact of which [illegible] is capable. Having been told that [illegible]

[illegible]

Getting [illegible] to [illegible] helped me in [illegible] mentally and in [illegible] Alvaro would [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]thing in the world. Children playing games of make-believe pretend they are another. They use imagination and observation. An actor does virtually the same thing but more detailed.

As [illegible] Alvaro in "The Rose Tattoo," I developed a slack jaw for naivete but had to keep the eyes bright and alert for sincerity. My step was jaunty for gaiety and I imagined Alvaro would swagger comically over the slightest triumph.

Often during rehearsal of a scene, I would add a little touch which seemed to fit Alvaro, such as wiping my eyes and nose with my shirt sleeve, crying audibly or scratching. One scene required me to drink too much in building Dutch courage for courting the widow. I am approaching her house from the rear — so the nosey neighbors won't know — and accidentally turn over a chicken coop. The squawking chickens cause their owner to fire a shotgun over my head.

Danny Mann suggested I jump over a fence to escape. Remembering I had had six drinks — somehow I imagined I felt them — I told him I couldn't jump it without falling in my condition, or in Alvaro's condition. Alvaro jumped, and fell. That's the thinking part of acting, and it's important.

Using seafood for a salad? Marinate it first in a well-seasoned French dressing. At serving time, drain off any of the dressing in the bowl and mix the seafood with diced celery, green pepper and mayonnaise. Surround the seafood with salad greens and garnish with paprika and capers. Or use sliced hard-cooked egg and gherkins for the garnish.

New apple dumplings: bake the apples, sweetening as usual, before covering with pastry and baking in a hot oven for about 20 minutes. Use standard pie pastry and brush it with a mixture of egg yolk and water for a pretty glaze.

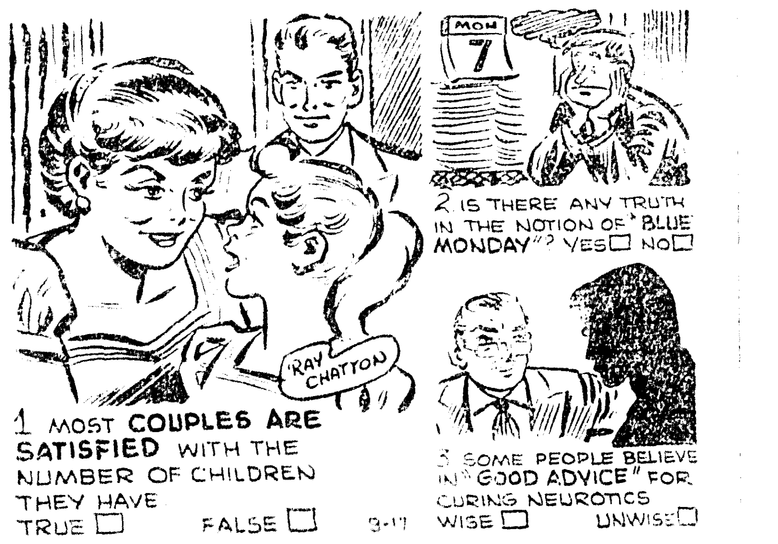
LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.



Answer To Question No. 1

1. True, on the average. In a survey made of one thousand couples, three out of four said they were satisfied, although on the average they had only one child. The "Eugenical News" suggests that if you asked them if they were satisfied with the number of dogs and cats they had, they would also say "Yes." Other surveys showed if you had asked them at the time they were married how many children they hoped to have, they would have said "from two to four."

Answer To Question No. 2

2. Yes. First, because Sunday breaks into all the routine habits of the week, and second, most people, instead of resting, work harder on Sunday than any other day (although in a different way). They go to bed tired, also in a different way — and usually much later. This breaks their sleep cycle, and next morning they wake up grouchy. Our booklet, "How To Find Your Happiness Cycle," shows, though, that happiness does not depend entirely upon circumstances and shows you how to determine in advance your high and low periods. News Reported In Shoe Colors

Color early, black all the way. That's how the shoe picture lines up for Fall. Early in the season is the time for tweeds and jerseys, for flannel skirts and colorful sweaters. It's the time to pick up the new shoe fashions that add smart footnotes to well-selected casual and street costumes.

There's news in color — plenty of it — and at prices to appeal to every pocketbook. The browns are there, of course, with a wider range than usual to choose from. Staple benedictine and honey tones go on but get a new look with antique finishes. They're smart in alligator too.

The amber brown and wood tones in both aniline and smooth leathers promise to be very popular. These members of the warm brown family have a happy faculty of harmonizing with many woolens. They carry nice names, too, such as Briarwood, Ceylon and Antique Amber. They're smart in lustre finishes in tawny and coppery tints.

A highlight with tweed is the henna brown family. Its rich glow is picked up in many of the autumn woolens. It's one of the liveliest of the early season city - country shoe colors.

Grey goes very dark, with charcoal grey the favored shade in leathers. Green goes darker, too. The spring Avocado is often antiqued, and there are smart olive, Avocado Peel and Seaweed shades. Lustre leathers in Avocado Peel and Renaissance Green are lively and sparkling.

Navy, of course! It's always a high fashion fall and winter color. This season there's a new deep dark Ultra-Marine that's very rich and a new lighter - than - navy that goes with new woolens.

Mental Preparation For Playing A Part

By BURT LANCASTER
(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, September 17 — The "thinking" part of acting is the hardest. Like a writer, an inventor or an architect groping for an idea, an actor preparing for a film role may do his hardest work sitting quietly in a corner with his eyes shut.

If anyone disturbs hi mhe could, with justification, say, "Go away! Can't you see I'm busy!"

Once he has "thought out" the character he's to play, getting on his feet and playing it is relatively easy.

My mental preparation for playing Alvaro in Tennessee Williams' "The Rose Tattoo" provides a good example. In that Hal Wallis Vista-Vision production for Paramount, I was required to change my film character completely.

In most of my films, I have been a rough, tough man of action. In "The Rose Tattoo," an earthy comedy-drama, I play a simple, poetic banana truck driver — a clown-like oaf with a heart of gold who wants to marry a plump widow (Anna Magnani) with a home and a meagre little dressmaking business.

Williams made Alvaro a sincere bumpkin with a single-track mind in his wooing of Serafina. He tells her frankly that he's the grandson of the village idiot, that a marriage with her has economic advantages for him because of the financial drain of his three parchesi-playing, beer - drinking dependents. Because she's still in love with her late, tattooed husband, whose ashes she keeps in her home, Alvaro must use all the tact of which his simple mind is capable. Having been told that his body resembles that of the widow's paragon husband, he logically reasons that if he had a rose tattoo on his chest like the late departed, he will make her swoon. This she does but he almost loses her when she realizes the simple conniving of his action.

That's what I had to do. Shoes? Hmmm! Let's start with his shoes. Alvaro would wear high-top shoes at work. Courting, he probably would splurge on pointed-toe patent leather. He would buy cheap suits which probably would shrink on him. Haircuts, he probably would dispense with, saving the money with a home "bowl" haircut from his sister or mother. Because he had no bathroom in his house, he'd be dirty except on howling Saturday nights.

Little by little, I "thought" myself into Alvaro's shoes. Once this long preparatory thinking had been completed, it was relatively easy to be Alvaro.

I discussed this mental preparation with Miss Magnani, Director Daniel Mann and other actors in "The Rose Tattoo," such as Marisa Pavan, Ben Cooper and Virginia Grey. They agreed that they, too, did most of their work before the cameras started, even before they had learned their lines.

Miss Magnani, especially, was emphatic about this. "Unless I can feel myself as the character I play," she said, "I am false to myself and to the audience."

This, I believe, makes the difference between a wooden performance and a warm, realistic one.

Textbooks on acting have high-sounding technical terms for this metamorphosis of self into character. It's difficult to achieve, but at the same time it's the simplest thing in he world. Children playing games of make-believe pretend they are another. They use imagination and observation. An actor does virtually the same thing but more detailed.

As simple Alvaro in "The Rose Tattoo," I developed a slack jaw for naievte but had to keep the eyes bright and alert for sincerity. My step was jaunty for gaiety and I imagined Alvaro would swagger comically over the slightest triumph.

Often during rehearsal of a scene, I would add a little touch which seemed to fit Alvaro, such as wiping my eyes and nose with my-shirt sleeve, crying audibly or scratching. One scene required me to drink too much in building Dutch courage for courting the widow. I am approaching her house from the rear — so the nosey neighbors won't know — and accidentally turn over a chicken coop. The squawking chickens cause their owner to fire a shotgun over my head.

Danny Mann suggested I jump over a fence to escape. Remembering I had had six drinks—somehow I imagined I felt them—I told him I couldn't jump it without falling, in my condition, or in Alvaro's condition. Alvaro jumped, and fell. That's the thinking part of acting, and it's important.

JACKET-FRONT, SHEATH-BACK IN NEW ANNA MILLER DESIGN

PATTERN A694
Original by Anna Miller

PROMINENT DESIGNER — It's the unexpected in the new fall fashions that makes them irresistibly exciting! And you'll find no American Designer with more talent for this "surprise" element in the fashions she creates than Anna Miller. Here you see her jacket-front design, with straight but shapely sheath back! It's a wonderfully wearable dress, with clear-cut lines that extend its life beyond the daylight hours as well! Miss Miller selected a soft, fine wool for her Original. Home couturiers might also prefer bengaline, rich cotton tweed, glowing veleteen (fabrics with a firm weave will translate perfectly this stunning silhouette)!

Pattern A694 is available in Misses' Sizes 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18. Size 16 requires 2⅝ yards 54-inch fabric.

Send FIFTY CENTS (in coins) for Pattern A694 to Morning World Pattern Department, P. O. Box 59, Old Chelsea Station, New York 11, N. Y. Please print plainly YOUR NAME, ADDRESS with ZONE, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE.

Using seafood for a salad? Marinate it first in a well-seasoned French dressing. At serving time, drain off any of the dressing in the bowl and mix the seafood with diced celery, green pepper and mayonnaise. Surround the seafood with salad greens and garnish with parika and capers. Or use sliced hard-cooked egg and gherkins for the garnish.

New apple dumplings: bake the apples, sweetening as usual, before covering with pastry and baking in a hot oven for about 20 minutes. Use standard pie pastry and brush it with a mixture of egg yolk and water for a pretty glaze.

One of the most important reasons for weed control is to save moisture and plant food from being wasted on weeds.

News Reported In Shoe Colors

Color early, black all the way. That's how the shoe picture lines up for Fall. Early in the season is the time for tweeds and jerseys, for flannel skirts and colorful sweaters. It's the time to pick up the new shoe fashions that add smart footnotes to well-selected casual and street costumes.

There's news in color — plenty of it — and at prices to appeal to every pocketbook. The browns are there, of course, with a wider range than usual to choose from. Staple benedictine and honey tones go on but get a new look with antique finishes. They're smart in alligator too.

The amber brown and wood tones in both aniline and smooth leathers promise to be very popular. These members of the warm brown family have a happy faculty of harmonizing with many woolens. They carry nice names, too, such as Briarwood, Ceylon and Antique Amber. They're smart in lustre finishes in tawny and coppery tints.

A highlight with tweed is the henna brown family. Its rich glow is picked up in many of the autumn woolens. It's one of the liveliest of the early season city - country shoe colors.

To go very high-style, select one of the exquisite muted browns, in fawn or fur shades, wonderful with the monotone or tone-on-tone town ensemble.

Grey goes very dark, with charcoal grey the favored shade in leathers. Green goes darker, too. The spring Avocado is often antiqued, and there are smart olive, Avocado Peel and Seaweed shades. Lustre leathers in Avocado Peel and Renaissance Green are lively and sparkling.

Navy, of course! It's always a high fashion fall and winter color. This season there's a new deep dark Ultra-Marine that's very rich and a new lighter - than - navy that goes with new woolens.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Answer To Question No. 1

1. True, on the average. In a survey made of one thousand couples, three out of four said "yes" they were satisfied, although on the average they had only one child. The "Eugenical News" suggests that if you asked them if they were satisfied with the number of dogs and cats they had, they would also say "yes." Other surveys showed if you had asked them at the time they were married how many children they hoped to have, they would have said "from two to four."

Answer To Question No. 2

2. Yes. First, because Sunday breaks into all the routine habits of the week; and second, most people, instead of resting, work harder on Sunday than any other day (although in a different way). They go to bed tired, also in a different way — and usually much later. This breaks their sleep cycle, and next morning they wake up grouchy. Our booklet, "How To Find Your Happiness Cycle," shows, though, that happiness does not depend entirely upon circumstances and shows you how to determine in adcance your high and low periods. Nonprofit, 15 cents (coin only) and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Answer To Question No. 3

3. Just listen to gossip of what some husband should "tell" his neurotic wife. She may be suffering tortures, with her "nerves" and emotions, struggling bravely to conquer them. Yet, these self-made counselors say with supreme conviction, "You bet I'd tell her a thing or two." They don't realize that it takes all the resources of psychology, medicine, and sympathy of angels to help such unhappy souls. Same when they tell parents what to "tell" their problem children.

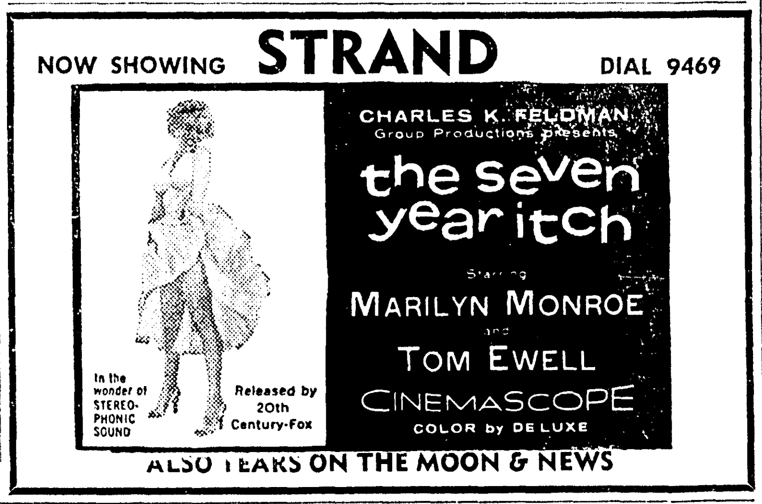
He is set to catch a thief, but Miss Kelly has other ideas. She is set to catch Grant, and according to glowing advance reports, the romantic sparks that fly between these two are enough to up the already torrid Riviera climate another twenty degrees. Some of the comment on one particular scene between this terrific romantic combination leads us to predict it'll make you forget every other love scene in your memory.

Top this with the incredibly beautiful VistaVision, Technicolor photography of one of the world's most breathtakingly lovely areas, plus a gripping, relentlessly exciting yarn, and "To Catch A Thief" promises to be the best of Alfred Hitchcock—and that's the best there is!



QUINTET OF STARS . . . Gene Kelly, Cyd Charisse, Dan Dailey, Dolores Gray and Michael Kidd form the stellar line-up of M-G-M's sparkling new CinemaScope musical, "It's Always Fair Weather." The new picture was co-directed by Kelly and Stanley Donen, who colaborated previously on the successful "On the Town." The attraction starts today at the Jim Theater.

Gray-Y Plan To Be Initiated In Schools Here

C. B. Storms, chairman of the Twin Cities Y. M. C. A. youth committee, announced yesterday that the YMCA Gra-Y program will begin this week.

Gra-Y is the Y.M.C.A. club program for boys in the fourth-sixth grades and in the general range of nine-12 years. Members elect their own officers and plan their program which consists of service projects, devotionals, athletics, crafts, first aid, educational trips, camp outs, and group singing.

Gra-Y Clubs are being reorganized in nine of the 16 school areas in Monroe and West Monroe. It is hoped that sometime during the program year that the Y Indian Guide program can be organized in the remaining seven school areas in the Twin Cities.

BUZ SAWYER
Featuring His Pal Rosco Sweeney
by Roy Crane
I'M ALL IN. BY THE TIME WE FINISHED MILKING AT 5 A.M. IT WAS TIME TO START ALL OVER.
DON'T BOTHER ME WITH YOUR PROBLEMS, NEPHEW.
POOR MANAGEMENT.
MILK
IT IS NOT! YOU BOUGHT TOO MANY COWS. YOU BUY TOO MANY OF EVERYTHING.
BOUGHT A FEW OTHER THINGS, TOO. A CARLOAD OF PIGS.
OINK!
AND 5,000 CHICKENS.
BUT THAT'S TOO MANY. IT'S TEN TIMES TOO MANY. WHAT'LL I DO WITH 5,000 CHICKENS?
CHICKENS
YOU'RE THE MANAGER. THAT'S YOUR PROBLEM.
PROBLEMS! PROBLEMS! YOU'RE DRIVING ME CRAZY WITH PROBLEMS!
OH, YES. AND I BOUGHT A DOZEN HORSES.
BUT WE DON'T NEED HORSES. YOU BOUGHT FOUR DOZEN TRACTORS.
AND JUST IN CASE THERE ARE NO FOXES TO HUNT, I BOUGHT OUT A FOX RANCH. NOT JUST ORDINARY FOXES — SILVER FOXES.
HEY, WHERE YOU WANT 'EM?
PROBLEMS... PROBLEMS... ALL I GOT ARE PROBLEMS.
FOXES
FOXES
LOOK, I AIN'T GOT ALL DAY. WHERE YOU WANT THEM FOXES?

The PHANTOM
By LEE FALK and WILSON McCOY
"THE HORNED STAR DEMONS CREATED A HUGE ARTIFICIAL MONSTER OF THEIR WORLD--"
I CANNOT BEAR TO LOOK AT THE LUUG - EVEN THOUGH WE KNOW IT'S ARTIFICIAL -- IT LOOKS SO REAL.
I ALSO! I THINK, THE 'MAN' APPROACHES!
"NEAR THE MOON, IN THEIR SHIP, OTHER DEMONS WATCHED BY MEANS OF THEIR STRANGE MAGIC."
"NATURALLY, THE PHANTOM DID NOT KNOW HE WAS BEING TESTED BY HORNED DEMONS FROM A STAR."
I HAVE A FEELING SOMETHING STRANGE IS GOING ON AROUND HERE!
GOOD NIGHT - WHAT IS THAT?
"THOUGH ARTIFICIAL, THIS MONSTER SEEMED VERY REAL, AS IT HISSED AND CLAWED THE EARTH AND BREATHED FIRE--"
AM I SEEING THINGS? AM I ASLEEP? OUCH - NO - WIDE AWAKE! I'M SEEING IT ALL RIGHT!
WILSON McCOY 9-18
"STARTLED BY A SUDDEN ROAR FROM THE MONSTER, HERO REARED UP -- AND THEN --"
HE'S FRIGHTENED!
IF HE RUNS - THIS WORLD IS OURS!
- AND THEN WHAT, GRAND-FATHER?
DON'T STOP NOW!
ONE MOMENT. I'M THIRSTY FROM SO MUCH TALK. I WILL REFRESH MYSELF, AND THEN CONTINUE THE TALE.

I'D TELL YOU IF I COULD, COL. CANYON, BUT MRS. OLSON LEFT NO FORWARDING ADDRESS WITH ME...
WHOOPS! — I ALMOST CALLED YOU CLARKE NETHERLAND AGAIN!
WELL, SUMMER, ROLFMEISTER ISN'T SO VERY EUPHONIOUS, BUT AT LEAST IT'S NOT PHONY!
MEANWHILE = IN ANOTHER CITY...
I STILL DON'T KNOW WHY YOU DON'T HATE ME!
OH, JIM, YOU DID WHAT YOU WERE HIRED TO DO — AND IT'S OVER...
CORNER DINER
I HAD FUN BEING WITH YOU THEN — AS I DO NOW... AND I COULD USE A LITTLE GAIETY
YOU SOUND BITTER... HAS COPPER CALHOON TRIED TO HAVE YOU FIRED AGAIN?
NOT EXACTLY, BUT THAT COP WHO COMES INTO THE DINER FIGURES I'M SOME BIG-TIME CROOK HIDING OUT AS A WAITRESS
... WAIT 'TIL COPPER SENDS OUT A 'WANTED' BULLETIN DESCRIBING ME — AND MISTER DO-GOOD WILL START THINKING HE'S JACK WEBB!
I'D REALLY FEEL I'D DONE MY PENANCE IF I COULD TAKE THAT CALHOON WOMAN OFF YOUR BACK!
WHY DON'T YOU MARRY ME — THEN COPPER WOULD HAVE YOU FIRED TOO — AND WE COULD DIE OF STARVATION IN EACH OTHER'S ARMS!
THAT'S A VERY GOOD IDEA!
DYING OF STARVATION? NO DICE! — THE COPPER-HEAD HAS ME GROGGY, BUT I'M NOT OUT! ---
NO — THE 'IN EACH OTHER'S ARMS' PART... — EVEN THE MARRIAGE — IF YOU'D HAVE ME
WH-WHY-I WAS JUST KIDDING — I —

HM- WARRIOR SOUVENIRS !
YOUR NEXT MISSION WILL BE AT THIS SPOT IN BATONGO-LAND, TIM !
YES, TYLER, AND THEY'RE ESPECIALLY EXPERT AT RUNNING AND JUMPING !
THAT'S WHY I'VE BEEN TRAINING YOU LADS LATELY IN THOSE SPORTS....
ARE WE EXPECTED TO COMPETE WITH THEM IN A CONTEST, SIR ?
YES, AND YOU LADS HAVE PROVED TO ME YOUR ABILITY TO MATCH OR BETTER THEIR SKILL...IT MAY RESULT IN THE SAVING OF SOME LIVES — POSSIBLY YOUR OWN —
IT IS CLAIMED THE UNRULY BATONGO TRIBESMEN WILL NEVER RESPECT OUR LAWS, UNTIL SHOWN THAT WE CAN DEFEAT THEIR BEST ATHLETES....
HEY, SPUD ! WHAT GOES ?
